Seat Belt Law - Friend or Foe

by Steve Karen

A new California Law which took effect January 1st requires motorists to wear seat belts. Drivers who don’t comply with the new law will face fines of $20.00 for their first offense, and up to $50.00 for additional violations. California became the 16th state to adopt the seat belt law. Additional provisions of the law state:

- drivers and passengers will be ticked individually for not wearing seat belts;
- passengers driving older model cars that don’t originally equiped with seat belts are exempt;
- motorists with physical disabilities that make belt use impractical are exempt if cleared by a physician;
- citations can be issued only if the driver has been stopped for another violation;
- auto makers will be required to equip all 1989 model cars sold in California with automatic restraints.

California currently uses their seat belt 20% of the time according to Raul Bettancourt, of Human Dynamics, an evaluation and project research company from California State University at Fresno. Backers of the new law are hoping to increase that figure into an average use of 23%.

To find out what people think about the seat belt law here at Cal State, I went around interviewing people at random. A total of 47 people were interviewed. These are the questions they were asked, and their reactions.

What do you think of the new seat belt law? Is it good or bad? - 83% said it was a good law, and 17% claim it is a bad law.

Is it an invasion of your privacy? -76% answered no to this question, 15% yes and 4% unsure.

Do you wear your seat belt now because of the new law? - 58% have always worn their seat belt, 21% wear one now because of the new law and 21% do not wear one at all.

Here are some of the typical comments:

Jimmy Pritchett-“I don’t agree with the law although I feel wearing a seat belt is a good safety precaution, if people don’t want to wear a seat belt to save their own lives, that’s their perogative.”

Nancy Currell—“I’m trying to get in the habit. The law is effective in my case because it makes me more aware, but I was wearing one before.”

John Langer—“No, it is not an invasion of privacy because you are driving on public roads and you should have consideration.”

Tom Rossi—“I think it’s just a cop-out to avoid air bags.”

Most people I talked to feel it is an excellent law, and couldn’t praise it enough and almost everyone plans on wearing a seat belt when riding an automobile.

B of A Vice President to Speak on Banking Relationships

The CSUSB Financial Management Assn. will sponsor their second guest speaker on January 27th, 1986 at noon in student rooms A & B. Judy Maudsley, a Vice President with Bank of America, will be speaking on banking relationships. The title of the talk will be “Banking Relationships—What Your Bank Can Do For You”. Topics to be discussed will include: Current trends in banking and their effects on the consumer, shopping for a bank, what to look for in a bank, and careers in the banking industry. All Finance majors as well as any other interested students are invited to come.

The FMA recently hosted its first talk of the quarter hosting Gary Cordrey, from F & F. Investors in San Bernardino. Mr. Cordrey discussed such topics as starting in investments, choosing a stock broker, trends in the investment industry, and careers in the stock brokerage industry. More than 15 persons showed up for the talk and

Twelfth Annual Theatre Festival for Young Audiences

SCETA’S Twelfth Annual Theatre Festival For Young Audiences will be held at California State University, San Bernardino, the site of last year’s Festival, at which 35 professional, semi-professional and community groups performed for 3,000 people, during the three-day celebration. Cal State’s Theatre Arts Department is planning and hosting the Festival in cooperation with the Superintendest of Schools of San Bernardino and Riverside County. Dr. Ronald E. Barnes, Department Chair and Ms. Joy Murphy co-chair the planning committee, made up of campus and community members. Robert Howell, Theatre Arts faculty, is the Festival Producer.

Because of the success of last year’s Festival, the celebration will be expanded to four days on Thursday, April 10, and Friday, April 11, children from the public schools will be bussed to the campus for a variety of theatre experiences. On Saturday, April 12, and Sunday, April 13, the Festival will be open to the public. Audiences will be treated to a wide range of performances and activities theatre, puppetry, music and dance, clowns and jugglers, hands-on workshops, concessions and games, to name only a few possibilities.

One of the Festival highlights will be a kite-flying, under the direction of Harry Murray, San Bernardino Valley College, extremely “fun” person and flyer extraordinaire. Harry has assured us that under his expert tutelage, even novice kite-flyers will get “off the ground” and invites everyone attending the Festival on Saturday and Sunday to bring a kite and join the fun. He has promised a “grand finale” at 2:00pm Sunday afternoon, don’t miss it!!

Cutting the Red Tape by Julee Shiffler

All undergraduate students that have entered the University as first-time freshmen beginning in the fall of 1980 must complete the upper-division writing require­ment. If you are subject to the degree requirements in the 1980-1981 or subsequent Bulletins, you should plan to complete the upper-division writing requirement by the end of your junior year.

The upper-division writing requirement may be met as follows: 1. Completion with a grade of "C" or better in one of the following courses: Management 495, English 495, Humanities 495, Natural Science 495 or Social Science 495. 2. Completion with a grade of "C" or better of an advanced Expository Writing course from another CSU campus or an equivalent course in the General System. 3. Satisfactory of the upper-division writing examination. The exam is open to all students who pass this exam are exempt from the course but must complete a third course from categories of the General Education Requirements or enroll in Interdisciplinary Studies 592.

The purpose of the WREE (Writing Requirement Exemption Examination) is to demonstrate writing skills competency for graduation. The WREE evaluates your writing ability at the upper-division level according to the writing proficiencies expected of those successfully completing an advanced Expository Writing Course here at the University. In regard to the WREE, there has been a change. The exam is now totally comprised of a two hour essay. No multiple choice questions are included in the exam. Also a test must be purchased and brought to the exam. This new test format will be followed beginning with these test dates March 1 and May 17. The book to be purchased, available at the Bookstore, is titled Fields of Writing. This book will be used through June of 1987. The writing topic for the March exam 1 will draw will draw from one of the essays from the book. Your essay will be graded to the degree that you demonstrate:

1. Ability to understand the selections from the text and to show that understanding through written summary, analysis, and integration of ideas and passages from them into your own essay. 2. Ability to develop a single, coherent essay in which you develop and support an idea of some depth. 3. Ability to use source material properly to use a consistent and accepted format for citation of sources and to use quotation, direct support and not substitute your own ideas. 4. Ability to respond to a specific question in clear prose that does not distract the reader by errors of grammar or mechanics. A $10 fee is required to be paid at the Burian's Office. After the fee is paid, take your receipt to the Testing Office and sign up for the exam date. Registration for each test date will open following the completion of the previous test date.

You should receive your test results approximately two weeks after taking the exam. If you do not pass the WREE, retake it. You are allowed to retake the exam three times, each time paying the fee. Also you may take one of the appropriate 495 courses mentioned earlier.

More information about the exam is available from the Counseling and Testing Office (FS-227). For questions about the upper-division writing requirement itself, please contact the office of the Associate Vice-President of Academic Programs.

I've Heard Migraine

Cutting the Red Tape by Julee Shiffler

Migraine headaches are associated with food or additives. Sometimes, migraines may be relieved by some foods or additives, emotional changes, changes in the weather, etc. might provide some relief. Again, check with your doctor or one of the medical staff at the Health Center to help identify possible factors.

What Are Cluster Headaches?

There are a rare variant of migraine headaches which strike in clusters of recurring pain. These are extremely painful.

How About Sinus Headaches?

Sinus headaches are associated with a swelling of the membranes lining the sinus (spaces) of the nasal passage. They may be relieved by simple painkillers or, in some cases, a decongestant to relieve swelling.

Sharafinski Coordinates Campus Hosting Program

by Jackie Wilson

Recently there was a change in positions for Clare Sharafinski. Formerly the Activities Advisor, Ms. Sharafinski is now the coordinator of campus hosting programs.

In her former position, Ms. Sharafinski coordinated club activities and served as advisor to Associated Students. Clare admits that she misses her former job. She said, "I loved the student contact. I liked getting involved with the students."

The explanation behind Clare's sudden position change is due to University President Anthony Evans big push for recruitment of more incoming freshmen to the University. In order to accomplish this, there was a switch in resources to set this task into motion and Clare changed offices to assist in the recruitment.

As coordinator of campus hosting programs, Clare works very closely with the Relations with Schools Office. She is responsible for obtaining rooms in which to hold Cal State presentations at which the area high-school students are told about campus life, given financial aid information, and a complimentary lunch. Soon she will also be training and hiring student assistants to drive vans which pick up the high-school students and bring them to the University for the presentation and also to act as student representatives of Cal State to help recruit first time freshmen from the high-schools. Clare says they hope to bring in as many as 1500 incoming freshmen to the university.

Movie Review:

BLACK MOON RISING

by John Purcell

The Black Moon is an experimental car capable of traveling at speeds of over 300 miles per hour. It is the center of the film, Black Moon Rising, because the lives of the characters revolve around it.

Quentin, played by Tommy Lee Jones, is a professional thief who has hidden an information tape he has stolen for the government in the Black Moon.

Linda Hamilton is intriguing in the part of Nina, also a professional thief who, with the help of her trained army of car thieves, steals entire parking lots of cars from places where they are to be parked, and Jones work well together. This is the first film I've seen her in, but surely not the last. She is an actress with a good amount of potential and who, given the right screenplay could possibly become a noted performer.

The film also features a small part for Rubba Smith, the ex-football player. Smith is perfectly cast in the role of a government official in charge of making sure Quentin performs his appointed task.

There is also a brief appearance by Keanan Wynn, who plays the old and dying man who taught Quentin everything he knows.

For adventure and excitement Black Moon Rising is a film which should be entertaining to all but the most discriminating viewer.

P.R. Certificate program geared to working student

by Blane Harrington

A public relations certificate program is being offered by the Office of Extended Education this quarter.

Courses in the program cover five different areas of public relations, including an introduction to public relations, principles and techniques of advertising, two separate sections of communication graphics and promotional writing. Each course is five weeks long, and the certificate can be earned in two quarters.

"People should finish the program with a higher degree of marketability."

Keith Johnson, program administrator for Extended Education, and Fred Jedd, head of CSUSB's communication department, designed the program with the working student in mind. The program will give students job-related knowledge of public relations, and help people who aren't currently students sharpen their public relations skills.

"This program will prepare students for public relations work at a small organization, or to assist p.r. people at a larger organization," Johnson said.

Johnson has set up successful public relations certificate programs in Buffalo, N.Y., and at Cal State Los Angeles. He said that degree programs in California are less flexible than in other states, and that students might need a program like this to supplement their education.

Are you really protected?

by Shawn Baker

If you were born prior to 1956, or between 1956 and 1967, you may not be properly immunized against measles, mumps, and rubella.

In 1967, scientists discovered that the vaccine used since 1956 to protect against those diseases did not give life-time protection.

From 1967 on, a "live" virus vaccine replaced the "inactive" one, making immunizations permanent.

Dr. James Savage, at the Cal State Health Center, is concerned that many students may not be properly immunized, and are not sure of the seriousness of these diseases.

Measles, the most serious of common childhood diseases, usually causes a rash, high fever, cough, runny nose, and watery eyes. These symptoms last one to two weeks.

Measles causes an ear infection or pneumonia in nearly one out of ten children who get it. Approximately one of 1,000 people who get measles suffer an inflammation of the brain, which can lead to convulsions, deafness, or mental retardation. About two out of 10,000 who get measles die from it.

Mumps is a common disease, usually causing fever, headache, and inflammation of the salivary glands, causing the cheeks to swell.

A mild inflammation of the coverings of the brain and spinal cord (meningitis) occurs in about one out of 10 people who get mumps.

One out of four adolescent or adult men with mumps develop painful inflammation and swelling of the testicles, and while this condition usually goes away, on occasion it may cause sterility.

Enrollment Services many and varied

by Jerry Nyro

The Enrollment Services Office accommodates many different departments and functions, which many and prospective CSUSB students need to be familiar with.

For more information, contact the Office of Admissions and Records, Registration, Relationships with High Schools, Transfer Services, and Veteran's Affairs.

Enrollment Services is involved similarly with community college students, primarily seeking to recruit graduates from community colleges, who wish to complete their last two years at CSUSB.

The Financial Aid Office coordinates all the federal, state, and local aid programs including grants, loans, work-study, and scholarships. A number of major programs are available to students with different needs, and any students with need are encouraged to apply.

For on-campus students, the Admissions Office coordinates all applications for admissions, transcript evaluations, change of major requests, and graduation checks. Their information counter provides general campus information.

Registration and Records maintain the records for the school. Registration includes initial enrollment in classes, program changes, and withdrawal from the University. Records maintains handles transcripts requests, enrollment verifications, and masters relating to students' academic status here at CSUSB.

"We provide more services for on-campus students, but we are probably better known for our off-campus services."

Rubella, also known as German measles, is a common disease of childhood which also affects adults. Usually it is mild causing slight fever, rash, and swelling of the glands in the neck. The sickness lasts about three days, but sometimes (especially in adult women) there may be swelling and aching of the joints for one or two weeks.

In some cases, Rubella causes inflammation of the brain or temporary bleeding disorders.

The most serious problems with Rubella occur when the disease is contracted by a pregnant woman. There is a serious threat of miscarriage or severe defects in the unborn child.

An epidemic of MMR has already occurred in three major universities across the United States. A Cal State Health Center official urges students to come in right away and make certain they are properly immunized.

CSUSB's Health Center offers free immunization or free testing to discover if your blood contains the proper antibodies for protection.
Innovative Ideas
by Jackie Wilson

Last quarter, the Innovative Ideas committee was formed to create a process by which faculty, staff, and students could submit their ideas to improve campus life. We promised to track a prize for each idea which would be of great outstanding. The following ideas have been chosen in our first batch of ideas that we have received, and these are the names and ideas of those people.

Sam Kuchner-Director, Sponsored Programs. He suggested that "bakery" tickets be provided at the Drop/Add window while you wait to cut down on time consumption standing in long lines.

Drew Prince-He suggested that more residence halls be added in Serrano Village. This will be costly but it is planned that more will be added in the future. This will take 3-4 years to complete.

Mark Christianson-Suggested that the electron microscope be repaired in the biology lab. Unfortunately, this is not feasible due to the high repair costs and that too few classes are offered in tech this microscope is used.

Todd Hilton-He suggested that the Student Union Director Helga Lininger says this has been done before and proved to be costly due to underutilization.

George Martin-He suggested that the SUMP be kept open on the weekends during spring. Student Union Director Helga Lininger is looking into this.

Carl Nelson-He suggested to place a dart board in the Pub. Student Union Director Helga Lininger said there was one before and she is looking into the possibility of another one.

Michael Owens-He suggested that the electron microscope be reviewed to campus.

Resume Writing Workshop
The Career Planning and Placement Center's first monthly Resume Writing Workshop for the Winter Quarter will be held tomorrow, Thursday, January 23, from 2:00-3:30 p.m. The workshop will be held in the Student Services Building, Room 117. It is open to anyone available to all students, regardless of major or class level. Signups are not required.

Bird Carvings Adorn Campus
From a quick glance, it may seem that our feathered friends are flocking to campus more frequently, but a closer look reveals several wooden carved birds are perched upon the woodshop gate and near Admissions and Records. The carvings are courtesy of Leo Doyle (Art), who originally wanted to attract attention to the woodworking and furniture design studio.

Alpha Phi Offers Chance
Ladies of CSUSB! The time is NOW to become involved with the number one sorority on campus—Alpha Phi! We're looking for enthusiastic women to join us. Alpha Phi is offering you a chance of a lifetime. A chance to meet other women on campus; make new friends and have fun. We'd love for you to become better acquainted with Alpha Phi. That's why we're having a special Rush Road Rally this Saturday, January 26, 1986 at 6 p.m. in the Student Union Lounge and be ready for an evening of fun and excitement.

Best Logo Wins $100
Attention Cal-State students and artists. The Cal-State Accounting Association is sponsoring a contest for the best Accounting Association logo. This new emblem will be used on shirts, stationary, etc. sold and used around Cal-State. The winning entry will also be awarded $100 in prize cash.

Requirements: You entry should be displayed on an 8 x 10 sized sheet of paper, posterboard, or whatever. It must have the words "Cal-State Accounting Association" or "Cal-State Accounting Association" somewhere on the design. In order to qualify, your entry must be submitted by February 15, 1986 to the Accounting and Finance office in the Administrative Building. The winner will be announced March 5 in the school newspaper. Good Luck!!

Future Teachers Meet
There will be a meeting of the Future Teacher's Club on Monday, Jan. 27, 1986. The topic of the meeting will be "The Need for Teachers-The Next Five Years." The meeting will be held at noon in P.L. 500.

Study Overseas Via CSU IP
CSU offers students the opportunity to study overseas! Applications will be accepted through the first week of February. So, if you have a cumulative GPA of 2.75 or 3.00 (depending on the program), have upper division or graduate standing by June, and have the necessary academic preparation, a world of knowledge and adventure awaits you!!

Winter Enrollment Swells to 6163
Von Wald has projected that the winter quarter enrollment will settle at 6322, which is more than 600 students over the final figure for winter quarter 1985. The students are still enrolling with adding or dropping classes. The Winter quarter will be determined after the last day to drop classes, which is Jan. 27.

CALL FOR PERFORMERS AND CONCESSIONERS: If you are a group or an individual interested in participating in the Festival, please call Sue Rudisill, VP/TFYA, Department of Theatre Arts, CSU San Bernardino, 9500 University Pkwy, San Bernardino, CA 92407, (714) 887-7452.
