October 12th 1976
Assembly candidate interviewed
Republican challenger in 66th district

By Jim Austin

Editor's note: This interview, which took place Sept. 13, was condensed. The questions and answers are not entirely verbatim. Many telephone numbers and non-verbal sounds were edited out.

Arrangements are being made to give Republican opponent, Terry Goggin, the Democratic incumbent, equal space via a future issue of the Paw Print. The 66th Assembly District includes portions of the following communities: Bloomington, Colton, Cucamonga, Devore, Fontana, Grand Terrace, Mountain, San Bernardino and Yucca Valley.

"Well mostly my platform at this point is the anti-business climate in California and when I'm talking about anti-business climate, I'm talking about a no-growth policy of ours in the present administration which has created unemployment, higher taxes for those who are employed because they have to pay for those who are unemployed. And when I talk about the business climate, I'm talking about the small business climate, not necessarily the big business. However when you offer incentives for business to stay now you are also helping big business. But with an increase in smaller businesses, you are having competition and competition creates lower prices and a better business climate all around. You can't possibly pass laws that are going to control big business without hurting little business. I think you need to be a division between the two. Laws for one; laws for the other.

Question: All right, the first thing I wanted to ask about is simply what subjects are you going to be talking about in your speeches throughout the campaign?

Answer: Well mostly my platform at this point is the anti-business climate in California and when I'm talking about anti-business climate, I'm talking about a no-growth policy of ours in the present administration which has created unemployment, higher taxes for those who are employed because they have to pay for those who are unemployed. And when I talk about the business climate, I'm talking about the small business climate, not necessarily the big business. However when you offer incentives for business to stay now you are also helping big business. But with an increase in smaller businesses, you are having competition and competition creates lower prices and a better business climate all around. You can't possibly pass laws that are going to control big business without hurting little business. I think you need to be a division between the two. Laws for one; laws for the other.

Q: If see. Do you have any specific instances where the Democratic incumbent, Kent Veggin, might have voted the wrong way on issues you're raising?

A. In a 15 vote survey done by some vote-watchers in Sacramento on commerce, 13 of those votes were pro-business or anti-business depending on the way you voted. Terry voted 13 times for business. But with an increase in smaller businesses, you are having competition and competition creates lower prices and a better business climate all around. You can't possibly pass laws that are going to control big business without hurting little business. I think you need to be a division between the two. Laws for one; laws for the other.

Q: Are you talking about his bill banning offshore drilling?

A: Yes.

Q: Now what are you going to do for business. big or small?

"Well mostly my platform at this point is the anti-business climate in California and when I'm talking about anti-business climate, I'm talking about a no-growth policy of ours in the present administration which has created unemployment, higher taxes for those who are employed because they have to pay for those who are unemployed. And when I talk about the business climate, I'm talking about the small business climate, not necessarily the big business. However when you offer incentives for business to stay now you are also helping big business. But with an increase in smaller businesses, you are having competition and competition creates lower prices and a better business climate all around. You can't possibly pass laws that are going to control big business without hurting little business. I think you need to be a division between the two. Laws for one; laws for the other.

"Well mostly my platform at this point is the anti-business climate in California and when I'm talking about anti-business climate, I'm talking about a no-growth policy of ours in the present administration which has created unemployment, higher taxes for those who are employed because they have to pay for those who are unemployed. And when I talk about the business climate, I'm talking about the small business climate, not necessarily the big business. However when you offer incentives for business to stay now you are also helping big business. But with an increase in smaller businesses, you are having competition and competition creates lower prices and a better business climate all around. You can't possibly pass laws that are going to control big business without hurting little business. I think you need to be a division between the two. Laws for one; laws for the other.

A: Well, the first thing I'd like to see done, and which I probably think is crucial to businesses in California and to the laboring person in California is to do away with the inventory tax that we have to face every year in March. Between Jan. 1 and the first Monday in March, or the second Monday in March, whichever one it is, business comes to an absolute standstill in California. Many

ASB gets fund requests

By Mary Martin

Vandalism of the tennis courts seemed to be the prevailing subject of interest at the Associated Student Body senate meeting held Tuesday, Oct. 5. Fred Dehano, ASB vice president, presided over the noon meeting in which Joe Long, ASB president, inquired of the ASB senate meeting held in the Student Union building. See story on page 5.

Diabetics forum held

By Mary Martin

Diabetics, their families and lay professionals will have a chance to study the job market, sexuality, nutrition and other relevant subjects at a two-Saturday conference Oct. 16 and 30.

The meetings will be held at Cal State, San Bernardino, co-sponsor, through the extension office, with the Southern California Affiliate, Inc. of the American Diabetes Association.

Participants will register at 8:15 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 16, in the Lecture Hall of the Physical Sciences Building. The fee is $10, however, there is no charge for diabetic adolescents (12-17) if accompanied by an adult registrant. A diabetic lunch in available, by reservation, for $2.50.

Those interested are asked to contact the Cal State extension office by Oct. 11. Subjects of the talks that day will be pathophysiology, exercise, research and living comfortable with diabetes.

The workshop will cover career counseling the teenage diabetic, sexuality and diabetes, daily living, and meal planning and dietary challenges.

The Oct. 23 session will begin at 1 p.m., in the Library. A series of talks on "The Job Market and How It Affects the Diabetic," "Insuring the Diabetic," and "Some Myths and Realities of Diabetes," and workshops on employing the diabetic, and care and treatment of diabetic emergencies.

Persons wishing one unit of extension credit in health science must attend both Saturdays. Scholarships are available to first 20 MediCal and Medicare beneficiaries. Interested persons should contact Jeanne Rothstein at 883-7114, American Diabetes Association.

Construction has already begun on the future site of the Student Union building. See story on page 5.

Diabetics forum held

By Mary Martin

President Pfau further stated in his weekly message that the ASB gets fund requests

By Mary Martin

Vandalism of the tennis courts seemed to be the prevailing subject of interest at the Associated Student Body senate meeting held Tuesday, Oct. 5. Fred Dehano, ASB vice president, presided over the noon meeting in which Joe Long, ASB president, inquired of the ASB senate meeting held in the Student Union building. See story on page 5.

Diabetics, their families and lay professionals will have a chance to study the job market, sexuality, nutrition and other relevant subjects at a two-Saturday conference Oct. 16 and 30.

The meetings will be held at Cal State, San Bernardino, co-sponsor, through the extension office, with the Southern California Affiliate, Inc. of the American Diabetes Association.

Participants will register at 8:15 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 16, in the Lecture Hall of the Physical Sciences Building. The fee is $10, however, there is no charge for diabetic adolescents (12-17) if accompanied by an adult registrant. A diabetic lunch in available, by reservation, for $2.50.

Those interested are asked to contact the Cal State extension office by Oct. 11. Subjects of the talks that day will be pathophysiology, exercise, research and living comfortable with diabetes.

The workshop will cover career counseling the teenage diabetic, sexuality and diabetes, daily living, and meal planning and dietary challenges.

The Oct. 23 session will begin at 1 p.m., in the Library. A series of talks on "The Job Market and How It Affects the Diabetic," "Insuring the Diabetic," and "Some Myths and Realities of Diabetes," and workshops on employing the diabetic, and care and treatment of diabetic emergencies.

Persons wishing one unit of extension credit in health science must attend both Saturdays. Scholarships are available to first 20 MediCal and Medicare beneficiaries. Interested persons should contact Jeanne Rothstein at 883-7114, American Diabetes Association.

Construction has already begun on the future site of the Student Union building. See story on page 5.

Diabetics forum held

By Mary Martin

Vandalism of the tennis courts seemed to be the prevailing subject of interest at the Associated Student Body senate meeting held Tuesday, Oct. 5. Fred Dehano, ASB vice president, presided over the noon meeting in which Joe Long, ASB president, inquired of the ASB senate meeting held in the Student Union building. See story on page 5.

Diabetics, their families and lay professionals will have a chance to study the job market, sexuality, nutrition and other relevant subjects at a two-Saturday conference Oct. 16 and 30.

The meetings will be held at Cal State, San Bernardino, co-sponsor, through the extension office, with the Southern California Affiliate, Inc. of the American Diabetes Association.

Participants will register at 8:15 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 16, in the Lecture Hall of the Physical Sciences Building. The fee is $10, however, there is no charge for diabetic adolescents (12-17) if accompanied by an adult registrant. A diabetic lunch in available, by reservation, for $2.50.

Those interested are asked to contact the Cal State extension office by Oct. 11. Subjects of the talks that day will be pathophysiology, exercise, research and living comfortable with diabetes.

The workshop will cover career counseling the teenage diabetic, sexuality and diabetes, daily living, and meal planning and dietary challenges.

The Oct. 23 session will begin at 1 p.m., in the Library. A series of talks on "The Job Market and How It Affects the Diabetic," "Insuring the Diabetic," and "Some Myths and Realities of Diabetes," and workshops on employing the diabetic, and care and treatment of diabetic emergencies.

Persons wishing one unit of extension credit in health science must attend both Saturdays. Scholarships are available to first 20 MediCal and Medicare beneficiaries. Interested persons should contact Jeanne Rothstein at 883-7114, American Diabetes Association.

Construction has already begun on the future site of the Student Union building. See story on page 5.
News

Food Co-op saves $$ $$

By Steve Given

Are you interested in buying organically raised produce? Dairy products? Eggs? A group of concerned Cal State students is forming a non-profit food-buying cooperative in order to do just that.

In its simplest form, this food-buying cooperative, or food buying club, is a group of people who pool their food needs and purchase together all their food, or as much as they can, direct from the grower or wholesaler. The various tasks are shared among the members of the Co-op. The different jobs are rotated so that each member understands all aspects of the Co-op, from contacting the grower to weighing out and distributing the food.

What are the advantages of such a cooperative? First, such a system can reduce the cost of many items by as much as one-half. Second, the cooperative members are assured of the freshness and the "organic-ness" of each item as each item is purchased directly from the grower whose operation was previously inspected. This inspection, with the permission of the grower, checks for composting, insecticide use and natural control methods, and whatever chemicals might be sprayed on or fed to the food we eat.

Whether or not food is purchased from a grower or wholesaler or even at discount from a large retailer will govern how inexpensive the food will be. The closest to the actual source of food, the less the food will cost. This lessenin of cost is from the removal of middlemen and the "treating" of the food (formalin, mirjove, wax, etc.)

This cooperative, with enough effort and cooperation, can also purchase many other items, such as tires and motor oil.

The one catch is that, unlike going to a grocery store, a food cooperative requires a joint effort from all of its members. Members perform on a voluntary basis all the tasks that you paid for with the markup at the supermarket.

Harper, Myers

Pie-a-thon winners

All the watches have been checked, timers have passed the polygraph test and the contestants have survived, making the second annual CSCSB Intramural Pie-Eating Contest official. Dennis "Java" Harper, who will eat at any time, any place, inhaled his quarter section of pie in 10.2 seconds to cop top honors for the second year in a row. His nearest rival, Jim Abdul Given, could only manage 16.7 seconds, due to the lack of a hair net. Rookie Connie Myers sweated out a last ditch effort by sister Marla to take the championship in the women's division. Harper and Myers won intramural T-shirts while the other 19 contestants had to settle for free dessert, indulgence in some cases and for Kommander Korn, a Chocolate Cream face lift.

Division winners and their respective times are:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Division Championship(s):</th>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Men's, Overall &amp; Banana</td>
<td>Dennis Harper</td>
<td>10.2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Women's Chocolate</td>
<td>Connie Myers</td>
<td>16.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lemon</td>
<td>Tim Olsen</td>
<td>16.7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Jim Given</td>
<td>16.7</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Kazoo's coming

Been wonderin' where the campus life is at CSCSB. Well, the action place is where the Kazoo Band is. Anyone, except the weak of heart, that have joined the Kazoo Band in any of its activities can attest to that.

Now to current business, Kazooers unite for another roaring night at Heidis Hideaway in downtown Crestline. Last year, as you may remember, the Kazoo Band invaded on innocent campus — Ext. 7564.

The Kommander and Field Marshal will launch their presidential campaign somewhere between the bratwurst and the dark beer. These fine Kazooing candidates figure that there isn't much choice for president this year and hope to be write-in favorites.

The label of the campaign is "waste your vote in '76."

Those desiring information and directions to Heidi's Hideaway can contact Capt. Joe (Mohawk) Doug at campus — Ext. 7564.

Business Club meets

The Business Management Club and the Rha Zetta Chi (Sorority) are sponsoring a guest speaker featuring Paul Esposito of the Placement Center. All those students concerned about their future are urged to attend this session on Monday, Oct. 11 at 1 p.m. in LC-500 (Senate Area). For further information contact Jennifer in Admin.

Campus calendar

Tuesday, Oct. 12
Christian Life Club meeting, 12 noon, C-125.
Faculty Development Center, 12 noon, C-219.
Film Festival: "Twentieth Century," 1 p.m., LC-500.
Listening facility.
Faculty Senate meeting, 3 p.m., LC-500.

Wednesday, Oct. 13
Latter Day Saints Students Association (LDSSA), 9 a.m., C-219.
Film Festival: "Twentieth Century," 10 a.m., LC-500.
Listening facility.
Noon Musciale: Timothy Strong, 12 noon, FA-104.
Orientation Tour-Library, 3 p.m., LC-130.
Intramural 3-person basketball, 3 and 4 p.m., Gym.

Thursday, Oct. 14
V.A. Counseling and testing, 9 a.m. - 2 p.m., C-125, 104.
Women's Consciousness Raising session, 10 a.m., PS-227.
Annual Staff Orientation, 2 and 3 p.m., LC-500.
Intramural Badminton Doubles, 3 p.m., Gym.
Faculty Wives meeting, 7 p.m., C-104.
Woodpushers Anonymous Chess Games, 7 p.m., SS-Atrium.

Friday, Oct. 15
Film: "Duck Soup," 6 and 8:30 p.m., PS-10.
Saturday, Oct. 16
Horseback riding; 10 a.m., La Carrera Stables.

LDSSA meeting, 9 a.m., C-129.
EAT YOUR LUNCH AND CONVERSE IN SPANISH, 11:30 a.m., C-205.

CHALLENGE — RESPONSIBILITY — SATISFACTION:

Whatever the job, a Supply Corps Officer's assignment is one of the most demanding and rewarding positions that could be offered a young man or woman. The hours are long, the work hard, and the responsibilities great, but tremendous personal satisfaction is derived from successful performance in a challenging assignment. In addition, one reaps the benefits of world-wide travel and the development of Navy friendships which will last a life-time. Upon completion of your first tour, you will have obtained a knowledge of your capabilities, a degree of self-confidence, and managerial and leadership experience that will prove invaluable to you.

Whether preparing for a career in the Supply Corps or in private industry you will be off to a good start.

BUSINESS, ACCOUNTING, MARKETING, ECONOMICS MAJORS
$11,000 to start

NAVY OFFICER INFORMATION TEAM
interviewing at the
HILTON INN, SAN BERNARDINO
October 18-20, 1976
 Noon to 6:00 p.m.
 and on campus
at the STUDENT UNION
October 19, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.
Report to the coach immediately!

The Wells Fargo Stagecoach, that is. Because, for a dollar a month, you can have a student checking account at Wells Fargo Bank. There's no minimum balance required and you can write as many checks as you want. We'll even send you a statement every month.

The plan also has a built-in "see you in September" feature. If you don't write checks over the summer, we don't charge you, and we keep the account open until fall even if there isn't any money in it.

Ask about our special Master Charge credit plan for sophomores, juniors, seniors and grad students. It provides extra money when you need it—a good way to build credit standing. Plus you can have overdraft protection on your checking account at no additional cost until you use it. Wells Fargo Bank. Because every college should have a good coach.

Student checking. $1 a month.
Wells Fargo Bank.

San Bernardino Office, 334 West Third Street, San Bernardino
practices or clean in terms of pollution?
A: Clean in terms of pollution.
Q: On.
A: And of course as California is so interested in pollution problems, we should be trying to generate those types of businesses that create less and less pollution.
Q: I see. What do you think the most likely effect of your pro-business campaign is going to have at this particular time when the anti-business sentiment seems particularly high right now?
A: Well, I think you're finding a reversal of that. People are realizing that first of all, government cannot pay and put to work all of the people. Business has to do that. And we need our small businessmen. Do you realize that 80 percent of the people employed in California and throughout the nation are employed by small businesses? And by small businessmen, I mean those that employ one to ten, or one to 20 employees. They put the most people to work. Without incentives to keep them going, we're going to lose our employed. Our unemployed are getting higher, I believe third in the nation.
Q: Do you mean the "third highest"?
A: Yes.
Q: OK. In addition to reducing inventory tax, what else are you thinking of doing for small business?
A: Well, I would like to take a look at some of the rules and regulations and laws that we see on the books today to control business, and I'm not saying that business doesn't need to be controlled — it does. But breaking it into feasibility for compliance between big business and small business and breaking it out, relaxing some of the things that are happening to small business that they can't possibly live with.
Q: Like what?
A: Like our CALOSHA laws.
Q: Like what?
A: CALOSHA laws.
Q: Would you explain that please?
A: California Occupational Safety and Health Act (CALOSHA). Our small business man just cannot afford to comply in a lot of the cases with that set of rules.
Q: OK. Are there any specific rules which govern safety that can be... done away with without affecting safety?
A: Well, first of all, I think what we would do in that case then is to provide an avenue for (the) small businessman, if he is fined for a particular situation that he has and he doesn't feel that he ought to be...
A: Well naturally, I'm against big government and big government spending. First of all, (Brown) hasn't cut spending. He has put it more to social services, social reform rather than to promote business such as we're seeing in highway construction field. He's diverting money rather than doing what necessarily needs to be done. Yes, he's saying that he's not spending, and yet he's not doing anything about the bureaucracy that we have which could save a lot of money and put money to better use in a more constructive nature. He hasn't been consistent in his total overall plan of things. I believe that the key is if we break down to the junior high level and probably even lower levels, I was wondering if this problem were as to what the causes are and what the state can do about it.
Q: I think the cause probably is, number one for the drug problem, secondly going down to the junior high level, a moral decay in the whole country, and how we're going to bring up the junior high in this United States is beyond me. I really couldn't tell you. I will say that we have surpassed the... (law) to lower the penalties for marijuana use. I was a little disappointed in that. I might add that Terry Goggin voted for that bill. One of the only things we need to do is to make sure that everything in the workplace are the things that govern safety that can be done away with.
A: Eighty percent of the people employed in California and throughout the nation are employed by small businesses.
Q: Does this mean by any chance spending money for business purposes?
A: Well, I think we should create some incentives to business and I think that's going to cost us money, maybe in revenue rather than spending it outright.
Q: OK. You're talking about saving money by lowering taxes rather than government spending.

Union construction begins

Beginning next fall Calif. State, San Bernardino students will have a voice in the selection of vendors, such as soft drinks, beer, and listen to music, play video games, and much more in a 15,000-square-foot Student Union. Ground has been broken for the new student union, one of four non-academic buildings expected to be completed on the San Bernardino campus in the next 18 months.

Student Union contractor is Nick Pokjac of P.J. Pokjac, Inc. The firm's bid of $672,000 was $20,000 less than the next lowest bidder, partly because of the bid, the college's cooperation on campus construction the Creative Arts Building, Dean of Students Kerint was said.

Construction, furnishings and other fees will be paid for by Cal. State, San Bernardino student fees. Some $321,548 in student union fees and interest has accumulated in the fund since 1971, and the balance will be paid by future students. Beginning this quarter students will pay a yearly fee of $1.95 instead of $19.50, which will generate an additional income, according to Kerint.

Actual construction is being financed by the Bank of America. If the college does not meet its 1978-1979 revenue bond issue at an interest rate of 6.76 percent. The construction fund, $306,000, will pay for the bond and interest over the 26-year period.

The Student Union, located west of the Commons and east of the Creative Arts Building, was designed by architect F.A.I.A., of Beverly Hills, and Harshman, Morgan and Causey, Inc., Los Angeles.

The center will have a large multipurpose room that can be divided by folding walls into three sections and will be equipped with a small state and projection booth.

There will be an adjoining coffee shop with convenience food equipment, a patio and pub, large game room, music listening room, lounge and offices for student organizations, a darkroom central atrium and three food service areas.

Completion of the Student Union, Creative Arts Building and bookstore (bookstore construction will start next spring) is expected to be completed by 1978. The Union is expected to be completed on the San Bernardino State, San Bernardino student fees. Student fees.

The Weekly Paw Print, 5500 State College Parkway, San Bernardino, Calif. 92407.

Editor

Jim Austin

Managing Editor

Jim Matthews

Photo Editor

Barry Deal

Reporters

Cheryl Brown

Ray Byars

Mary Martin of Ontario

Photographer

Kerry Kugelman

Secretary

Robin Tolliver

Advisory staff

Julie May field

5500 State College Parkway

San Bernardino, Calif. 92407

Editorial and business office

Located in PS-22

All contributions must be typed and double spaced when submitted. Letters to the editor will be printed on a space available basis. All such letters must be signed by the author. Names will be withheld on request.

All opinions expressed are those of the author. Address all correspondence to: The Weekly Paw Print, 5500 State College Parkway, San Bernardino, Calif. 92407.
Opinion

Veterans get the shaft

By George L. Pratt

At the behest of the Ford Administration, Congress a few weeks ago incomprehensively breached the faith (and possibly an implied contractual agreement) of 159,639 disabled American veterans by repealing Section 104 (a) (4) of the Internal Revenue Code, which provided for the specific exclusion from taxable income that portion of their pension which was subject to taxation. The repeal was proposed by the Ford Administration, supposedly to curb excessive tax exclusions claimed by a very, very few high ranking individuals. In effect, the repeal would protect these few high ranking individuals, but would forbid the exclusion to the great majority of the lower ranking disabled veteran. Intense objections were raised against this action by the Administration and Congress, by the Disabled American Veterans, and other major veteran organizations, but to no avail. Most of the veterans organizations view this action as another example of legislative overkill typical of the present Administration, directed at the military and the nation's veterans.

To understand the workings of the sick pay exclusion, as it pertains to the disabled American veteran, it would be necessary to brief upon it: under the Sick Pay Exclusion Provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, every living employee in America is entitled to exclude from his (or her) gross income those disability payments made to him by his employer, on the employer's behalf by a Sick Pay Plan. The Sick Pay Plan could be a plan, policy or custom set up by an employer, which would provide payments to his employees in the event they are unable to efficiently and readily perform as required by their job. Whether the payments were made by the insurance company, welfare fund, or state disability fund, the sick pay payments are normally recognized by the IRS as long as the plan is paid by the employer.

The sick pay exclusion provisions were designed to give some tax relief to those individuals who become disabled on the job, and whose earning power is decreased by their disabilities. For example, veterans who suffered heart attacks, accidental loss of limbs, paralysis, and conditions aggravated while performing on active duty, were previously eligible for this exclusion, regardless of the percentage of disability granted by any of the military branches, and as long as the disability was permanent. A military Physical Evaluation Board determines the disability rating, and during the determination process a detailed brief upon it: under the Sick Pay Exclusion Provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, every living employee in America is entitled to exclude from his (or her) gross income those disability payments made to him by his employer, on the employer's behalf by a Sick Pay Plan. The Sick Pay Plan could be a plan, policy or custom set up by an employer, which would provide payments to his employees in the event they are unable to efficiently and readily perform as required by their job. Whether the payments were made by the insurance company, welfare fund, or state disability fund, the sick pay payments are normally recognized by the IRS as long as the plan is paid by the employer.

The sick pay exclusion provisions were designed to give some tax relief to those individuals who become disabled on the job, and whose earning power is decreased by their disabilities. For example, veterans who suffered heart attacks, accidental loss of limbs, paralysis, and conditions aggravated while performing on active duty, were previously eligible for this exclusion, regardless of the percentage of disability granted by any of the military branches, and as long as the disability was permanent. A military Physical Evaluation Board determines the disability rating, and during the determination process a detailed

In the great majority of cases, the Board rates less than 75 percent (total) disability, and in a great deal of cases, less than 50 percent disability. In the case of high ranking military individuals, however, the Board has been more generous because it takes into consideration the extraordinary length of service inherent in those ranks, and because of the age of the individual (usually from 55 to 60). The Board, thus, has had the tendency to grant 75 percent (total) and permanent disability to these officers. This means that their entire pension is tax free, while the other military pensioners pay is only partially tax free. The Administration's request that eligibility for the military sick pay exclusion require that the veteran be totally and permanently disabled in order to eliminate the loophole available to high ranking individuals is very deceiving because their pay is already totally exempt by law. Only through military initiative may the loophole be controlled. Instead, the new law will negate the majority of disabled veterans who have suffered reduction of income because of service incurred disabilities, by eliminating tax relief through the sick pay exclusion. In other words, the ones who caused this change to be effected and do not need to use the sick pay exclusion continue to be protected, while the majority who rely upon it can't get it. As get disabled veteran put it "this is another case of the Administration taking from the have nots to give to the haves, and Congress bargaining us into oblivion."

The College Plan.

The College Plan gives you a lot of bank. You get unlimited checkwriting all year long. But you only pay for nine months.

There's no minimum balance required. You get our monthly Timesaver Statement. And at many offices near major college campuses you get Student Representatives to help solve your banking problems.

You pay just $1 a month for the nine-month school year. And there's no service charge at all for June, July, August, or for any month a balance of $300 or more is maintained.

During the summer it's absolutely free. Write all the checks you want. Your account stays open through the summer, even with a zero balance, saving you the trouble of having to close it in June and reopen it in the fall.

You get more. You get overdraft protection and Student BankAmericard if you qualify. We offer educational loans and many different savings plans to choose from. And we serve you with more than twice as many offices as any other California bank. So if you move, your account can move with you, to a new office that's more convenient. We also offer several free booklets including helpful information on saving money, establishing credit, and finding a job after graduation.

The College Plan Checking Account is what you want. Why not stop by and find out more about it. And let $1 a month buy all the bank you need.

Depend on us.

More California college students do.

The Weekly Paw Print, Oct. 12, 1976
Opinion

Soggy philosophers do their thing

Had nothing to do, so I raced down to the tavern to check out the state of Roger’s marriage and thereby cop a beer. But Roger’s only been married three weeks and hasn’t been playing the game long enough to know how it’s going. The beer was good.

My drinking buddy, Big Gee, was sitting on a stool at the bar. Ah ha, I said to myself, a rare moment: Biggee’s drunk. He’s not his usual table in the back by the pinballs, and he’s talking to the wall next to him. Perhaps, I speculated, his guard will be down and I can get him to say something juicy for the afternoon.

“Hi ya, Biggee. What’s going on?”

“Oh shirt. You here again?”

“Hi ya, Biggee. What’s going on?”

Roger arrived with both hands at his usual table in the back by the wall next to him. Perhaps, I thought, he’s talking to the bar. Ah ha, I said to myself, a rare moment: Biggee’s drunk. He’s not his usual table in the back by the pinballs, and he’s talking to the wall next to him. Perhaps, I speculated, his guard will be down and I can get him to say something juicy for the afternoon.

“You know,” I said, thinking of a subject to talk about, “for a college student who could do homework and write paper, and for an ASB officer who could do business for the ASB, you spend one helluva lot of time here, drinking beer.”

“Hmph. The homework is quick and easy. And to hell with the ASB. And so for spending time here, what am I supposed to do? Fill the unoccupied hours of my life attending the funky activities on campus?”

“The ASB activities aren’t funny. The King Lizard Revival wasn’t.”

“Old movie classics and a light show, and we couldn’t smoke grass in the gym? That’s funny.”

“They can’t let you smoke grass in the gym. President Flopp would lose his job.”

Biggee raised a paw to shut me up and to emphasize his point.

“Floppie is the cause of our problems.”

I waited the appropriate few seconds before asking, “How?”

“Floppie does not want an activity on campus.”

“How?”

“Floppies, appointed by former governor Pat Brown — remember him? — weathered through the Reagan years by doing what Ronnie wanted: keep the kids at the books and don’t let them raise hell on campus.”

“Un-huh, right. So what’s that got to do with our having funky activities?”

“You know, Biggee,” I said in Jimmy Carter country, also are checkers. For the serious student, there are three chess sets. For the more frivolous, two sets of checkers.

“Hmph. The homework is quick and easy. And to hell with the ASB. And so for spending time here, what am I supposed to do? Fill the unoccupied hours of my life attending the funky activities on campus?”

“The ASB activities aren’t funny. The King Lizard Revival wasn’t.”

“Old movie classics and a light show, and we couldn’t smoke grass in the gym? That’s funny.”

“They can’t let you smoke grass in the gym. President Flopp would lose his job.”

Biggee raised a paw to shut me up and to emphasize his point.

“Floppie is the cause of our problems.”

Do you really think that we don’t have a football team because Ford didn’t come. Therefore, students won’t get together and disturb the peace. Volta.”

Again, Biggee paused for dramatic effect.

“Do you really think that we don’t have a football team because Ford didn’t come. Therefore, students won’t get together and disturb the peace. Volta.”

“Floppie is the cause of our problems.”

I waited the appropriate few seconds before asking, “How?”

“Floppie does not want an activity on campus.”

“How?”

“Floppies, appointed by former governor Pat Brown — remember him? — weathered through the Reagan years by doing what Ronnie wanted: keep the kids at the books and don’t let them raise hell on campus.”

“Un-huh, right. So what’s that got to do with our having funky activities?”

“You know, Biggee,” I said in Jimmy Carter country, also are checkers. For the serious student, there are three chess sets. For the more frivolous, two sets of checkers.

The Game Room is furnished with two regular tables with chairs, two low tables with cushions, a blackboard with chalk and erasers for keeping score and four study cubicles for losers.

The games people play brought about a book by the same name. And since all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, you might want to try your library has inaugurated — for the Fall Quarter — a new Game Room on the fourth floor.

Room 406, a former group study room, has been furnished for fun and games. Well, games anyway.

For the serious student, there are three chess sets. For the more frivolous, two sets of checkers.

The ASB activities aren’t funny. The King Lizard Revival wasn’t.”

“Old movie classics and a light show, and we couldn’t smoke grass in the gym? That’s funny.”

“They can’t let you smoke grass in the gym. President Flopp would lose his job.”

Biggee raised a paw to shut me up and to emphasize his point.

“Floppie is the cause of our problems.”

Do you really think that we don’t have a football team because Ford didn’t come. Therefore, students won’t get together and disturb the peace. Volta.”

Again, Biggee paused for dramatic effect.

“Do you really think that we don’t have a football team because Ford didn’t come. Therefore, students won’t get together and disturb the peace. Volta.”

“Floppie is the cause of our problems.”

I waited the appropriate few seconds before asking, “How?”

“Floppie does not want an activity on campus.”

“How?”

“Floppies, appointed by former governor Pat Brown — remember him? — weathered through the Reagan years by doing what Ronnie wanted: keep the kids at the books and don’t let them raise hell on campus.”

“Un-huh, right. So what’s that got to do with our having funky activities?”

“You know, Biggee,” I said in Jimmy Carter country, also are checkers. For the serious student, there are three chess sets. For the more frivolous, two sets of checkers.

The Game Room is furnished with two regular tables with chairs, two low tables with cushions, a blackboard with chalk and erasers for keeping score and four study cubicles for losers.

MGM hearing scheduled

The Assembly Committee on Education will hold an interim hearing in Los Angeles on Oct. 21, 1976 on the subject of programs for mentally gifted minors. The committee will examine the current status of programs for mentally gifted pupils which are offered by local districts, consider the eligibility criteria for participation in such programs and gather data regarding program effectiveness.

Testimony will be by invitation only. Those wishing to testify should contact the Committee office at (916) 445-7807.

The hearing will be held at the Los Angeles State Building, Room 1138, 107 S. Broadway and will commence at 9:30 A.M.

A Vacation Home

In the Mountains
That You Can Afford

If you have wanted a vacation home in the mountains with clean air, quiet trees, and fishing, but thought that you could not afford it, here is your chance. I am selling my half interest in a cabin at Green Valley Lake in the San Bernardino Mountains. Only 50 minutes away, this almost completely refurbished older but solid cabin features a 12 x 26 living room, two bedrooms, two baths, five upstairs sleeping, lots of storage space and more. Cut your investment and expenses in half by sharing ownership with another couple, and still get away as much as you probably would at twice the cost.

$3500 down and take over existing short-term note of $5000, or refinance the package.

Call John at the college, Ext. 7437 or home, 883-0314.

The Racer’s Tavern

560 W. 40th St.,
San Bernardino,
682-9222

Racer’s Tavern

Coors, Bud, Michelob on tap.
Pool table, pinballs, pong, juke box. Imported/domestic beers. Sodas.

College Night

Thursday, 8 p.m. - 2 a.m.
BEER IS $1.25 A PITCHER
Workshop aids aurally handicapped

The needs of people with hearing deficiencies are not being met,” says Darlene Rideout, a Cal State San Bernardino student and president of the Life Workshop Association. In a recent interview with the Pawprint, Rideout described what she sees as a lack of factual information about the deaf, or preferably, the hearing impaired. She states that much is not understood about people, particularly children, with this handicap, and that most of what we hear is hearsay.

The Life Workshop Association, which is located in Hallow (Bemis Elementary School), works with parents, teachers and interested individuals who are involved with children in the San Bernardino County Aurally Handicapped Program.

“We are similar to the PTA, but more politically oriented,” says Rideout about her group. “The SCAHP has been around for many years. The Life Workshop is a separate entity. In the late 1950’s the group was very active, but for about the past three years the organization has been inactive.”

Darlene, who has a daughter with a hearing deficiency since birth, first participated in the organization as an observer. She was elected treasurer last year and because of her interest and active participation, was made president this year. Darlene is now striving to make the organization more active.

Today the organization raises money for deaf student scholarships, repairs hearing aids and replaces hearing-aid batteries (because of the high price of buying and maintaining hearing aids), and also provides an educational service to the community.

As president, Rideout has many responsibilities. She describes her duties in three separate areas: (1) setting up of funds to help parents obtain hearing aids for their children, (2) training parents, teachers and other individuals about deafness, and (3) setting up of fund raising to help parents buy hearing aids, and also provides an educational service for the community.

“The mother takes the child to doctors and child care centers, so one of her most important duties. She stated that The Crippled Child Society and the two agencies that provide funds for hearing aids, but both do so only in a limited capacity.

“There aren’t many places to go to get help in buying hearing aids, but it is expensive,” she said. Of her second function as educator, Rideout said, “It is our responsibility to teach parents and educators (all those involved with the aurally handicapped) that aural communication is dependent on speech,” and added, “that all deaf are cut-out of many opportunities because of an ignorance of their needs and problems.”

Rideout went on to explain the different types of deafness. One type is caused by bone damage, this occurs in the middle ear, and can be corrected by surgery. Another type of deafness involves damage to the inner ear. Nerve deafness, as it is called, cannot be corrected by surgery at this time. This area is currently being done in this area, however. One possible solution being considered is to implant a transistor on the nerve itself. Unfortunately, this type of cure is only in the research stages.

Ms. Rideout commented on the many myths surrounding the aurally handicapped. One is the common use of the phrase “deaf and dumb.” This expression implies that the hearing impaired person is not intelligent and not capable of learning, which is not necessarily the case.

Another myth surrounding deafness involves deafness and mental retardation. Darlene stated emphatically that deafness and mental retardation do not always go together.

Rideout states, “I view deafness as a syndrome.” Impaired hearing leads to impaired speech which together essentially lead to learning and behavioral problems.

Ms. Rideout gives a classic example of associating deafness with mental retardation. Mr. J. has an adopted daughter who begins to show definite behaviour problems at the age of two. The problems included wild behaviours such as crying, clapping and screaming when the child was out of the home environment. The mother takes the child to doctors and child care centers, so one of her most important duties. She stated that The Crippled Child Society, and the two agencies that provide funds for hearing aids, but both do so only in a limited capacity.

The mother, not believing that the child was partially deaf. When the doctors dealt with the deafness, rather than the behavior problems, it showed that the child was partially deaf. When the doctors dealt with the deafness, the behavior problems subsided. This searching for an answer to the child’s behavior, consists in many cases of parents with hearing impaired children. Functional factors are sometimes not commonly known about the hearing deficient include the following: the communication is dependent on speech, and messages from adults or other children. Double messages occur when the speaker says one thing and his/her facial expression indicates the opposite emotion. “This”, Rideout states, “can be very detrimental to the child.”

Ms. Rideout has other interests and duties in the field of a psychology to counsel hearing impaired children and their parents. The closest psychologist for the deaf is located in Los Angeles. This leaves parents of children in this county without adequate psychological services.

She sees the aurally handicapped as having certain types of problems that must be dealt with by those in the fields of clinical psychology and sociology. She feels that currently within these fields there is a lack of treatment of the needs of the deaf.

The Life Workshop currently consists of eight board members. Rideout is trying to get various committees started to help make the organization more active. One of those committees will be organizing the program for Women’s History Month, which occurs in May. By the end of the year, the Life Workshop will have a project at the Central City Mall.

The display will be set-up for the 16th, 17th, and 18th of the month. There will be also a Spring Fling on the 19th in which children in the program will show their talents. A panel is also in the planning stages and will feature a psychology interested person can become involved in the Life Workshop. The next program will be held Oct. 28 at 7:30 p.m. at Bemis Elementary School which is located at 774 E. Elwanda Ave. in Biallo. The program will feature Dr. Richard Goeman and Dr. Hartland speaking and answering questions on “The Emotionalities of the Hearing Impaired.”

This program is for all interested persons.

Library moves up

With inflation, everything goes up.

Even the Curriculum Library of our local library system. Two month floor quarters has gone up — to the Library’s fifth floor, where it shares a room with science and law books in a spacious area.

“Even with all numbers under J, K, and L, may be found on five.” And to get to this penthouse reading pleasure, take the regular Library elevators on the first, third and fourth floors. A new button has been added to the elevator car.

There is one small problem: there are no rest rooms, nor drinking fountains, in this fifth floor area. A quick drop by to elevator to one of the lower floors, however, should solve any problems.

Child abuse seminar

The law and protective services agencies and the local school district will be present to participate in a child abuse workshop in Barstow Friday, Oct. 15.

Pre-registration is required by today for the Cal State, San Bernardino Adolescent Program.

While directed to teachers, physicians, social workers and all others involved in the care and supervision of children, the class is open to anyone interested in getting more background information. The course runs for five days, 7 to 9 p.m. in the board room of Barstow College.

Instructors are Dr. Anita Lampel, program manager of the San Bernardino County Department of mental health and充电桩 consultant, and Thomas Moore and Bill Ferguson, both social workers with the county child protective and placement services.

Free for those taking the course for one unit of extension credit in psychology is $31; non-credit fee is $25. Further information may be obtained from the Cal State Office of Continuing Education at 877-7257.

Classifieds

Nationally known speed reading course to be taught here in San Bernardino

SAN BERNARDINO — United States Reading Lab will offer a 4 week course to members of the San Bernardino area. The training method developed method of instruction is the most innovative and effective program available to all types of schools.

Not only does this course reduce your time in the classroom by 10 percent per week for 4 short weeks, but it also includes an advanced speed reading course on cassette tape that you can continue to improve for the rest of your life.

In a few months, some students are reading 23-30 times faster, and are able to approach 6000 words per minute.

Our average graduate should read at least 1500 words per minute upon completion of the courses with marked improvement in comprehension and reading comprehension.

For those who would like additional information, a series of four orientation lectures have been scheduled.

These free meeting will be held in the Magenta Ren, Convention Center, 3rd & “E” St., San Bernardino, at the following times:

• Thursday, Oct. 14 at 6:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.;
• Friday, Oct. 15, at 6:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.;
• Saturday, Oct. 16 at 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.
• Sunday, Oct. 17, at 6:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.; and
• Tuesday, Oct. 19, at 6:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

Free to Cal State students

Discover U.S.C.'s Master's Degree Program In JUDICIAL ADMINISTRATION

A representative will be at The Student Union on 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Thursday, October 14th, to answer questions and discuss the features of a career in COURT ADMINISTRATION

Valentis Liquor

CLOSEST LIQUOR TO CAL STATE

Open 11 A.M., later on weekends

LARGE SELECTION OF IMPORTED WINE AND BEER 735 W. 40th Street