REGULAR COLLEGE COURSES AVAILABLE THROUGH EXTENSION

For the first time at CSCSB, extension students have been enrolling this week in regular courses offered on campus, on a space-available basis.

Concurrent class enrollment was inaugurated this Spring in response to Trustee and Chancellor initiatives. The Spring Quarter experiment was proposed by Dean Fred Roach to give our campus one quarter of experience with both "market response" and the in-house effects of a new admissions mode, concerning which the faculty will need to develop formal policy.

Today is the last day to enroll through Extension in on-campus classes. To date about a dozen students have entered classes through concurrent enrollment. Registration fees are $63.75 for five units. Extension students are not required to seek formal admission to the College.

The College Library will be closed all day April 2, Easter Sunday. P.E. Facilities will be closed Saturday, April 1, and Easter Sunday. The Sunday tour will be given at 3 p.m. as usual.

PAYDAY IS TODAY AFTER 3 P.M.
Registrar John Morey states that Spring Quarter enrollment figures will be released some time next week.

Mr. Morey also would like to call attention to the number of changes which have been made in the original Spring Class Schedule, with 25 classes being added and 30 classes canceled. These changes are posted in S-100, the registration area, and in A-195.

Today is the last day to apply for admission to the College or register for Spring Quarter classes. The Admissions registration area will be open for additional registration until 4:30 p.m. today, the last day to add classes.

William Slout, Associate Professor of Drama, has been notified by Bowling Green University Popular Press that copies of his book, "Theatre In A Tent: The Development of a Provincial Entertainment" have been released for sale.

The book, cloth-bound, is a premier study of the tent shows, their repertories, and impact on American society. The publishing company states that the work will supply much-needed information about the kind of theater countless thousands of Americans attended for a fifty-year period.

Dr. Slout's background includes a kinship with the tent, folk, and repertory theater, dating back to 1927. His father was manager of a repertory company for over 30 years. Dr. Slout began acting in the theater in 1939. He also "became one of the best stake drivers in the country," and was later placed in charge of the tent itself, becoming involved in all of the activities of the traveling company.

In 1970 Dr. Slout sponsored the West Coast Conference of the National Assn. for the Preservation of Tent, Folk and Repertory Theatre held on the CSCSB campus, attended by nearly 100 outside participants.
