NEW CHANCELLOR'S OFFICE SITE APPROVED

The Board of Trustees has approved the agreement of a joint powers authority with the City of Long Beach to construct a $4.6 million headquarters for the California State University and Colleges. The agreement will run for 40 years or until all revenue bonds issued under the agreement and interest are paid in full.

The bonds and interest will be paid off by the state in the form of rent paid for the use of the facility. The site of the proposed headquarters is west of the old Navy landing in Long Beach, plus an adjacent area to the north for parking.

The City of Long Beach will convey the site to the Trustees without charge. The Trustees will lease the site to the CSU&C Headquarters Building Authority for $1 for 40 years. An architectural consultant will be chosen as soon as possible and construction bids will be let following design approval.

150 SENIORS FILE AS FALL GRADUATES

The Admissions and Records office reports that 150 seniors have filed graduation checks to receive their BA degree at the end of the Fall Quarter. Students who graduate in Fall, 1972, will be part of the graduating class of 1973 and are eligible to participate in the June Commencement exercises.

VOLUNTEER WORKERS FOR AUF DRIVE NAMED

Representatives for the Arrowhead United Fund have been announced by Richard Bennecke, AUF Coordinator on campus.

The volunteers include Linda Evans and Frances Ekaitis, Library; Ted Krug and Sheryl Guidry, Student Services; George Iwanaga, Humanities; Fred Kellers and Dalton Harrington, Natural Sciences; Greg Price, Physical Education; and Robert Senour, Education. Additional volunteer workers are needed. Those interested should call Ext. 516.

To date, 26% of the College community has responded with donations totaling $1,464, which is roughly 30% of the $5,000 goal. Check lists should be returned before November 15.
The new name for the Lower Commons is "Mother Bear's". Steve Burt, a resident of Badger House, won $10 for submitting the winning name for the Lower Commons.

PS-10, the Physical Science Lecture Hall, will be closed tomorrow from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. for electrical repairs.

A new international student-faculty association is being sponsored by Anand Bhatia, Asst. Prof., Administration. Anyone interested in foreign cultures and events should call Ext. 335 or 346.

Balloting on nominees for the Staff Council will be held Monday through Thursday, Nov. 13-16, throughout the campus.

The replacement fee for student I.D. cards has been reduced from $3 to $1.

PHILOSOPHY FORUM ON "HUMAN FREEDOM" TUES.
"Human Freedom - Skinner or Sartre?" will be discussed at the Philosophy Forum next Tuesday, Nov. 14 in LC-241. Paul Johnson, Philosophy, and Doris Durrell, Psychology, will discuss the issue.

"The Birthday Party" opens tonight in the Little Theatre. Directed by Amanda Sue Rudisill, the production of the Players of the Pear Garden features a cast of six men and women set in a modern-day lower class cottage by the sea in England. Curtain time is 8:15.

The cast includes Curtis Barker, Randi and Dan Redfern, Delores Connolly, Phil West and Don Blair. Stage manager is Susan Wall. The unique set is designed by Sandi Stiglinski, technical director of the Drama Dept.

Tickets for all performances are on sale in FA-102: $2 for general admission and $1 for campus personnel and students. A special scholarship benefit showing on November 19, 7 p.m. will feature a 5:30 p.m. dinner, served in the College Commons. Tickets for the dinner-theatre combination are $4.50 per person. Proceeds will provide working scholarships for students in art, drama and music. Theatre tickets may be purchased for the benefit show exclusive of the dinner.

PERSONALS
Arlo Harris (Chemistry) is convalescing at home following a nine-day stay at St. Joseph's Hospital in Orange. Dr. Harris is well enough to welcome visitors. He will remain at home for the rest of the Fall Quarter.
The ardor of Americans for the two-wheeler in the latter half of the 19th Century is the subject of Robert A. Smith's book, A Social History of the Bicycle, just off the presses of American Heritage Press, Division of McGraw-Hill, publishers.

Termed an "engaging and revealing story of the bicycle, in America"..."written with style and wit," the book is the first to be completed by Dr. Smith, Professor of History at CSCSB. His work on the book began over two years ago while doing research for a historical text.

The 269-page volume, printed in Patina type, is lavishly illustrated with over 100 photographs, drawings and engravings. Dr. Smith believes that it will be distributed by the publisher in a few weeks.

Applications Now Being Accepted for New M.A. Program in Secondary Education.
