Toxic waste center proposed near CSUSB

By Jacob J. Powell
Staff Writer

There has been a proposal submitted to the San Bernardino County planning department requesting a permit to build a toxic waste transport center. This center is to be located approximately 2.3 miles from the front of CSUSB on the corner of Palm Avenue and Cajon Boulevard next to Interstate 215 on the railroad tracks that run parallel to the freeway. U.S. Pollution Control Inc. is a publicly-owned waste management firm that was founded in 1968; they have several waste pick-up centers around the country. The waste that is going to be handled at this transport center will be mostly oils, solvents, and paints. Chemicals such as Polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs), radioactive, infectious waste, and explosives will not be transported to or from this waste center. The pollutants for transport will come from businesses in San Bernardino, Riverside, Orange, and Los Angeles counties. The company plans on trucking the waste from the various counties in sealed containers which are to be loaded directly onto railroad cars bound for Union Pacific disposal sites in Oklahoma. These transportable containers will be extremely diluted with water, the company estimates that each container will hold a small amount of waste and then contain 90 to 95 percent water.

Drama sings of Webber

The popular music of composer Andrew Lloyd Webber will be featured in the upcoming theatre production of "Masquerade" opened Friday, April 13, at CSUSB. "Memory" from the musical "Cats" and "Music of the Night" from the hit show "Phantom of the Opera," currently running in Los Angeles, will be among the songs performed during the production. The play will also feature "Don't Cry For Me Argentina" from "Evita" as well as "I Don't Know How To Love Him" and "Superstar" from the musical "Jesus Christ Superstar."

During the play, characters from Andrew Lloyd Webber musicals perform his compositions when they attend a masquerade party. "Rather than being a collection of solos strung together, the production will try to capture the dramatic moments of these shows," said Dr. Lee Lyons, director of the University Players, which produces the play.

Debate raises questions

By William Lundquist
Staff Writer

Candidates for the office of Vice President of Associated Students, Inc. (ASI), dominated the debate held last Thursday in the Pub. Forrest Hills, Jason Mandle, and Keith Monom (speaking for candidate Scott Anderson) fielded standard questions presented by Shoshana Johnson, ASI Legislative Director. Then members of the audience, which filled the Pub, put the candidates on the hot seat. Anderson's representative had his hands full just defending the absence of his candidate, who was in New York representing CSUSB at the Model United Nations. He felt the activity was academically necessary to Anderson, and that students would not want to elect a Vice President who ignored academics.

When questioned on how being a resident of Serrano Village, one of Anderson's listed achievements, could qualify a person to be Vice-President of a university, Monom explained that living, sleeping, and eating on campus was a good way to get in touch with the needs of students.

Monom also became involved in a debate with Hills when he presented Anderson as having "experience that others lack."

"How can anyone here compare a Vice-Chair to a Chair?" replied Hills, who then had to defend the importance of his Services Committee.
CSUSB professor named Woman of the Year

Dr. Mildred Henry was presented to the State Legislature in Sacramento on March 26, 1990 as "1990 Woman of the Year" from the Sixty-sixth Assembly District. Assemblyman Jerry Eaves announced the selection at his "Conference on Women and Issues in the 90s," held March 16 at the Clarion Hotel in Ontario, California.

"Dr. Henry richly deserves this distinction," Assemblyman Eaves said. "She has made outstanding contributions, and has inspired others to become actively involved in working towards the betterment of their community."

Summers named interim director

Dr. Amer El-Ahraf, Vice- President for Academic Affairs at CSUSB has named Susan Summers interim director of the Palm Desert branch through June of this year. The permanent branch campus Dean, Dr. Catherine Gannon, is taking a sabbatical to ready a book on Renaissance drama.

Summers has been with CSUSB for three years, more recently in the Office of Extended Education on the main campus as program administrator for extension courses. She completed her undergraduate studies at CSUSB and earned her masters degree in international relations at USC.

English as second language group forms

The Conversational ESL (English as a Second Language) Groups were so successful last quarter that additional tutors and meeting times have been added. These groups afford an opportunity, for all students whose first language is not English, to become more fluent in conversational American English in a friendly setting.

Students may drop in on any or all of the sessions without pre-registering. Groups will meet Mondays and Wednesdays in PL 211 from 4-5 p.m. and on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 11-morn in PL 267.

If you have any questions, contact Ellen or Ilona in the Learning Center.

Substance Abuse Mobile (SAM) anti-gang/anti-drug campaign which includes PAL Center comic book and video presentations.

Henry, who serves on numerous boards and committees, has received many local, national and international awards including the Distinguished Alumna Award from the National Association for Equal Opportunity in Higher Education. Personalities of America, Who's Who Among Black Americans, International Directory of Distinguished Leadership, the World Who's Who of Women, and her biography will appear in the International Who's Who of Professional and Business Women.

The Women Legislators Caucus are sponsors of the "Woman of the Year" event, held in conjunction with Women's History Month. Each year legislators are invited to submit the names of women in their district who have outstanding records of community service. Sixty-six assemblymen participated in the event.

Dr. Henry was escorted to the front of the Assemblyman to receive her award from the Speaker of the House, the Honorable Willie L. Brown, Jr.

Greeks to go to war once again

Every year the fraternities and sororities on campus gather to go to battle. The greeks compete against each other in a variety of fun-filled games, and again this year the games are organized in the interest of philanthropy as well as fun.

The fifth annual Greek Week competition will be held April 24-28. As a unified greek system, the primary responsibility of Greek Week is to raise money for CSUSB's Children's Center. This year's goal is to double the amount raised last year, bringing the total amount to $4,000. The money will be used to pay for new paint, new carpet, and new toys.

The money will be raised through T-shirt sales, donations, and ticket sales. All students are encouraged to help by making donations.

The Greek Week events will include traditional events such as: Tug of War, Tri-cycle Race, Triathlon, and Lip Sync, as well as some new and exciting ones, such as the Jelly Bean relay and Water Balloon Launch.

Two speakers have been invited to speak on the is-Momon described the Services Committee as "dynamically different" from the Entertainment Committee that Anderson serves on.

Hillis, who is the entire Services Committee, asked "Why should I get six people to do what one person can do?" He pointed to his personal success in instituting the new recycling and ride share programs.

Mindte was asked, in front of over a hundred thirsty Pub patrons, if the rumors were true that he wanted to ban alcohol on campus next year. He denied the rumor, but said he is in favor of alcohol awareness programs.

When asked what kind of Vice-President each candidate would be if elected, Mindte replied, "I want to work closely with the administration, and make myself visible and open to the public."

Hillis did not place as much importance on working with the administration. "My duty is to serve the people."

Anderson's representative thought the Vice-President should "Make students more aware of the issues."

Pressed about their knowledge of the ASI budget process, Mindte said, "Budgeting is part of my life everyday," while Monon said the "Entertainment budget has more than tripled" in the time Anderson has been serving on the committee.

Hillis said "As Services chair, I'm personally responsible for $50,000."

Prior to the vice presidential debate, the candidates for ASI President took the podium. Johnson asked Carlos Bolanos, Robert Armenta, and Patrick Cooney three questions each, then opened up the forum to the audience.

A man dressed in a rabbit costume brought up the issue of Cooney's alleged intoxication while serving as a student lobbyist for CSSA in Sacramento. Though visibly disconcerted by both the question and the questioner, Cooney dismissed the charge as "hearsay," and said he could verify that he wasn't drunk.

Bolanos and Armenta had to defend a lack of experience, rather than a lack of sobriety.

All three were questioned about CPA. Bolanos was proud of the 3.35 average he maintains while taking 15 units per quarter and working 38 hours a week. Cooney, at 3.23, and Armenta, at 3.4, said that they do work on weekends, but down played the importance of the number of units carried.

Most of the rest of the debate simply allowed the candidates to reiterate their own campaign literature.

Polls will still be open today. A new computer system allows students to enter their votes on a computer, which will display a different ballot for the students of each school (Humanities, Natural Sciences, etc.).

Win the computer you need to succeed in the real world and a chance to use it there.

It's easy. Just try our Real World Demo on a Macintosh® computer to enter Apple's Real World Sweepstakes.

If you're one of 14 Grand Prize winners, you'll get to spend a week this summer at the organization of your choice listed below, where you'll see Macintosh computers hard at work. And when you get home, you can use your own new Macintosh SE/30 to write your resume and follow-up letters.

There will also be 20 First Prize winners who will receive Macintosh SE computers and 1,000 Second Prize winners who will get Apple® T-shirts.

You really can't lose if you come in and get your hands on a Macintosh today. Because once you do, you'll see how easy it is to use and how much one could do for you now.

You'll appreciate the value of a Macintosh computer after you leave campus and head out into the real world, too. But don't take our word for it. Come in and try a Macintosh and see for yourself. And if you win the Grand Prize, you'll be seeing the real world sooner than you think.

Enter Apple's Real World Sweepstakes and you could win a week at one of these leading organizations and a Macintosh computer.

Earth Week is right on time

By Kevin R. Homey
Editor-in-Chief

In a world full of confrontations, squabbles, and petty disagreements, I thought I had found something that people would agree with. As usual, I was wrong.

Welcome to Earth Week II. "The Environment Strikes Back." Today, we are halfway through a week designed to open our eyes to the global desecration and disintegration happening all around us, above us, and below us.

This is the week that all of us insatiable consumers are to be rudely awakened to the reality of the environmental impact our lifestyle is having. This is the week that all of us 20th century hedonists are to be brought out of the "everything for now" mentality and forced to take a look at our bleak and catastrophic future.

This is the week that this capitalistic nation is to be diverted from destruction, and when we, as united Americans, will stay the hand from signing our planet's epitaph.

This is the week that the American people will be victimized by environmental hysteria into supporting huge increases in taxes, regulations and controls that will not improve the environment, but will build governmental power and impair American industry's ability to compete in the world's markets. Sound kind of out of place? That's what I thought. And this coming from a group calling themselves the John Birch Society from Appleton, Wisconsin. Sounds kind of environmental doesn't it?

The J.B.S. attacks the environmentalists saying that the problems of ozone depletion, overpopulation, and auto emissions are based on "unproven theories...unsubstantial claims and a none-too-subtle campaign for more government and internationalism."

The J.B.S. goes even further by dedicating an entire edition of the New American entitled "Earth Day: The Greatest Sham on Earth."

On the topic of global heating and the ozone layer depletion, all anyone has to do is go out to the pool on any sunny day and see the effects. I have never seen people so tan, or in my case red. in my life. If you look at any old photos of people, say 50 years old or older, you can see that everyone was a sickly pale shade of...
Elections rise to all-time lowest

Dear Editor,

Elections come and elections go, and with them so do the "mudslinging... so I dare use the phrase... that I'm talking about. CSUSB elections have stooped to a new low. However, CSUSB elections are not the only ones. In our way these days.

It's bad enough that desperate people must resort to discrediting their opponents in a last-minute attempt to win. I guess they can't compete on the issues. It astounds me that there is a clear indication of anvironmental problems (except for days when the wind is blowing, eh Coach Ducey?).

All honor aside, it is high time we take our environment, and its protection, seriously. Our world is going to Hell, or at least some semblance of what we know of Hell, and we are a large part of the reason it's making the trip.

With Medfly spraying in Upland, a proposed toxic waste dump just across the freeway, and the presence of yet another Southern California drought, Earth Week 1990 couldn't be better timed.

So wake up, get active, and while you're at it, take a good look around, you might want to get to know that super fan person sitting on the floor next to you in class, that is if you can see them through the smog.

Manny Barba

When does a date become a crime?

It happens when a man forces a woman to have sex against her will. And even when it involves college students, it's still considered a criminal offense. A felony. Punishable by prison.

So if you want to keep a good time from turning into a bad one, try to keep this in mind. When does a date become a crime?

When she says "No." And he refuses to listen.

Against her will is against the law.

WASTE

This waste transport center site is supposed to move up to 26,450 gallons of liquid toxic waste a day
through the railroad system.

At this time the request is being investigated by the East Valley planning department for San Bernardino County. It was decided on February 21 by the East Valley planners that an Environmental Impact Report (EIR) was needed to decide whether or not a permit to build would be issued. An EIR is a study done by county environmental engineers to study the impact an installation such as this one would have on air, soil, and water quality in its general area.

If there are problems with some environmental factor
the county will make the company fix these problems, they are the ones who will,
before they will be issued their permit. When factors in the environment are found to be at risk and there is no easy way to alleviate that risk then the permit would be denied.

U.S. Pollution Control Inc. has already had a hearing
with the city water department to gain access to a water supply for their complex. In this hearing it was ruled that the company has permission to get water from the city only if the site passes the environmental impact report.

Another thing of note about this site is that it and the area around it in the planning stages of being incorporated into the City of San Bernardino. This factor means that the city also has a big say as to whether or not this installation will be built. The area around this transport center has city waste tanks near it and there has been a proposal to build

Opening day results for the FISL (Friday Intramural Softball League)

The boys of Delta Sig #2 failed to even show up for their opening game and had to render a forfeit win to the Creatures. Nothing to Prove lived up to its name by also failing to show, giving the Shandlin Slaughters a forfeit win (a win nonetheless). In a dorm versus frat match, the Tokay Weasles squeaked by the TKE #2, 17-7. Sigma Chi #2 didn’t stand a chance against the disciplined and highly trained Doughboys of our proud ROTC’s. Playing in their first-ever intramural softball game, Sigma Neo-Kids on the block impressively defeated the veteran team of Sigma Chi #1. Failing to find just one more run, the Lost Boys lost a thriller to Larry’s Heroes, 12-11. Richard Mar delivered a single in the bottom of the 7th to drive in the winning run. Incidentally, Richard’s efforts have earned him a FREE lunch as he was named intramural participant of the week; see Joe or Bob E in PE 111. It was inevitable that the guys of Delta Sig #1 would win their opener; they played against the hapless and consistently inconsistent 12 oz. Slammers. Demolition is their name, demolition was their game, 12-2 over the Siouxieless Banshees. Place your bets, the transformed soccer players of the Pedestrians predicted that they would win the Cup, or league championship as we call it.

“Air” Esposito takes Free Throw title again.

In the Spring of ’89, Paul Esposito (Career Development) fired a perfect 25 for 25 to win the contest. Last Spring, however, Paul was narrowly defeated by Greg “3-point” Bujnovsky, even though he shot 24 of 25. This year, Paul avenged his loss by firing 24 of 25 once again; this time it was enough to win by two.

Top Six Throwers:
- Paul “Air” Esposito 24
- Yancy Dodson 22
- Jim Nestlebar 22
- Kipp Penovich 22
- Paul Clayton 22
- Laura “Sky” Held 16
- T. Vaillancourt 14
- Marymary Mrofka 11
- Marcia Rigney 10
- Carrie Chavez 10
- Victoria Brown 10

Power Burst Super Teams—What Is It?

It’s the culmination of raw talent, athletic ability, a desire to compete in a fun and friendly environment, and a six-event sport extravaganza. Teams are made up of four guys and four gals participating in team events that include: Volleyball, Tug O’ War, Obstacle Course, 6-Pack Pitch-In, and a Frisbee Relay. This event is scheduled for Saturday, April 28. Free T-Shirts will be given to the first eight teams registered, as well as free Power Burst beverage, and the opportunity to win the coveted “Wholly Recreation” intramural T-shirt. For more information, call 880-5235, or stop by our office in PE 111.

Laura Held achieves Intramural Acedom

CSUSB athletic trainer Laura Held fired a 16 of 25 performance to capture the Intramural Free Throw contest. This victory was her fifth different championship which entitled her to become CSUSB’s 34th Intramural Ace, which was awarded to her on April 11. Along with national television exposure, a 1990 Corvette, and a trip to Europe, Laura received a special edition Intramural Ace T-shirt, and will have her name immortalized with a nameplate on the famed Intramural Board in the PE building. Atta girl.

Tennis Tournament, this Sunday

If Jennifer Capriati can play at age 13, then YOU (yes, you) can play in the Intramural Tennis Tournament, this Sunday at 6 p.m. It will be singles tennis, with separate divisions for men and women. To play, sign up now on the Intramural Board.

Kriegh returns to lead CSUSB tennis team

By Jeff Zelenski
Staff Writer

Last year Dan Kriegh was on the tennis courts competing for CSUSB, but this year he is back on the courts doing a different type of job. Kriegh replaced last year’s coach, Juan Mondragon, to become CSUSB’s women’s head coach.

Even though Kriegh is still attending CSUSB to obtain his Bachelor’s in Physical Education he was given the job.

“I’m still going to school here. They were going to hire me as a assistant, but then the guy they hired for the job resigned. On very short notice they gave me the head job,” Kriegh said. Only being 23, Kriegh seems to think he has an advantage because he was in his players’ position last year.

“I see things more the way they do than an older coach would. I let things slide more than most older coaches would,” Kriegh said.

“I’m enjoying it (coaching) so far, I don’t think any of the guys mind it much. It definitely took some getting used to on both sides though,” Kriegh said. “It has worked out so far”

So far this year it has worked out for Kriegh, to say the least. He has led the Coyotes to a 15-9 overall team record as of April 13.

“We have got three recruits that Coach Ducey recruited from some junior colleges and we have a returning senior. They have a lot to do with our success,” Kriegh said.

Although the team’s record is good, Kriegh hasn’t had the chance to install his own philosophy about the game. “I haven’t yet had the experience to put in my own philosophy. I’ve just tried to get them in shape and keep a positive attitude,” Kriegh said.

With the regular season coming to an end, the hopes for nationals have come up for the Coyotes. “As a team our chances don’t look good, but for doubles our chances are very good,” Kriegh said.

“Our number one team of Alarick Jura and Yaney Dodson are 15-2 overall and our number two team of Mark Oliver and John Allen have a 15-4 record. They both have real good shots at making nationals.”

Kriegh learned what success was when he was in his first year (junior) at CSUSB under Coach Ducey.

“My first year I enjoyed playing under Coach Ducey. We were ranked sixth in the western region with a 16-5 overall record,” Kriegh said.

“It was the best team in the school’s history.”

Kriegh played tennis at Lake Elsinore H.S. where he was a three-year letterman. He transferred to CSUSB from Mt. San Jacinto where he played for two years.

“I’m not sure what will happen next year (with the job), but whatever does take place I hope that I will be able to help out the program in some way,” Kriegh said.

Softball places second in San Diego tourney

The Lady Coyotes’ offense, that has been instrumental in the team’s recent success, disappeared when it was needed most this past weekend as CSUSB dropped two games to UC San Diego and finished second in the tournament.

The Coyotes fell to the Tritons in the championship game on Saturday, 3-1. Pitcher Marnie LaFleur scored CSUSB’s only run of the contest on a sacrifice fly by Anne Cordero. LaFleur picked up the loss, giving up two earned runs in the game.

Cordero led the Coyotes through the tournament, batting .700 throughout the five games. Cordero’s overall batting average is holding steady at .517.

The national rankings, which were released just prior to the tourney, had CSUSB in fourth place, first overall in the Western Region.

The Lady Coyotes have one more doubleheader against the Tritons on April 28.

Ron Carter: an example to be followed

By Jeff Kabel
Staff Writer

Ron Carter may be considered by many as a baseball vagabond. He has played in other states and even scoured line drives on another continent.

This season, Carter has taken his wings to CSUSB - as a coach.

Carter, 27, a senior, joined the Coyotes as an assistant baseball coach last fall.

Carter entered the position with three years of playing experience under his belt, including one year stints with the San Bernar dinos Spirit in 1987 and the Oakland Athletics’ Class A team in Madison, Wisconsin in 1988.

This experience in the professional ranks helped to establish rapport with his players, according to Carter.

“I wouldn’t say they look up to me,” Carter said, “but I think they listen to me because I’ve been there and know what it’s like.”

Bret Parrick, a senior catcher, feels Carter commands much respect from the players.

“He’s one of the guys,” Parrick said. “He helps us with the mental aspects of the game and he makes the game fun.”

Senior pitcher Darren Kay echoes these feelings.

“Ron brings a different kind of perspective to the game,” Kay said. “He’s taught us a lot about being in good condition - he knows how to win.”

While he enjoyed his stint in professional baseball, Carter reveals that there are many drawbacks to the “glamorous” lifestyle.

“Living in motels on the road for two weeks at a time is tough,” Carter admits. “Sometimes you’re just waiting in your hotel room, watching soap operas and eating cold pizza from the night before until it’s time to play. You have to love the game.”

Before playing with the Athletics Class A team, Carter went to Brisbane, Australia, where he played professional baseball for nearly seven months from 1985-86.

But it took a month’s time for Carter to adjust to the weather and the culture.

“It’s weird because it’s summer time there during Christmas here,” Carter said. “But I did learn to drive on the other side of the road.”

While Carter did encounter a transition period, he found the “down under” atmosphere refreshing.

“The people are really friendly,” Carter said. “You wouldn’t have to lock your doors when you went out.”

As for the quality of baseball in Australia, Carter acknowledged the leagues have “good competition" but still “have a long way to go.”

Though Carter has dedicated much of his time to baseball, he also is studying radio broadcasting and has worked several internships, including stints with the San Bernardino Sun, local radio stations and The Chronicle.

Carter now serves as a rhythm and blues disc jockey for campus station RSB on Sunday mornings from 9 a.m. to noon.

Following graduation, Carter said he plans to pursue a teaching credential and become a high school or college coach. In addition, he also wants to open up a radio station in the Inland Empire geared to the black community.
