2,500 attend Second Annual Casa Ramona Health Fair

For the second consecutive year the Naval Reserve Hospital San Diego Detachment 719 in San Bernardino directed its efforts for the Annual Community Health Fair on Sunday, June 10, 1990, held at Casa Ramona Community Center in San Bernardino, California. Casa Ramona is a centralized multi-service center in the Hispanic community. As a result, the majority of the registrants were of Hispanic descent.

The Naval Reserve, in conjunction with 12 governmental and private agencies, working through a planning committee, coordinated the publicity, health services and follow-up procedures for the Health Fair. The agencies involved included Kiwanis Club of Greater San Bernardino, Kaiser Permanente, Blood Bank of San Bernardino and Riverside Counties, Inland Empire Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, Inland Empire Hispanic News, El Chico newspaper, Military Order of the Purple Heart, Jerry L. Petit Memorial Veterans Hospital, County of San Bernardino, University of California Cooperative Extension and Spanish Radio KACL.

Navy doctors, nurses and corpsmen provided the medical expertise and were available at each of the medical stations. Other organizations, including the Kiwanis Club of Greater San Bernardino and County of San Bernardino, provided the bilingual support in addition to preventive health services information available in the community.

The Health Fair provided a large variety of health services for adults and children free of charge, included examinations and tests on dental, visual acuity, glaucoma, hearing, diabetes and hypertension. Measles vaccinations were provided for children under five years of age. Information was presented to every individual, regardless of age, on drugs and alcohol abuse. In the area of prevention, information was available on good nutrition, exercise programs and self-examination for cancer of the breast and testicles.

According to registration figures, 835 adults were registered and conservatively, 2,500 men, women and children extensively used each of the available medical stations. The majority of the persons that attended the Health Fair were of Hispanic descent.

A wide variety of health problems were detected within each of the stations. A large number were diagnosed as having high sugar levels in urine, hypertension and hearing problems. Hearing problems were detected at high frequencies, and numerous children had infections and perforated ear drums.

San Bernardino County Department of Public Health vaccinated 82 children. Although the Fair was scheduled for six hours, three stations (hearing, vision and vial signs) remained opened for eight hours, due to the high demand of these specific services.

In order to create a festive atmosphere and welcome mode, entertainment was provided for the children, including music, balloons and face painting. Clowns provided a variety show to entertain adults and children. Radio station KACL broadcasted live from the Fair.

Reserve Navy Commander Ray Quinto issued the following statement, "As coordinator of the health fairs, I am convinced that there is a desperate need to provide medical services to the people who have recently arrived in this country, or for persons who cannot afford the cost of medical services. The fact that the response to the Health Fair was overwhelming, is clear that our trillion dollar health care delivery system has not reached, or has ignored, these people who are in need of vital medical services. Because health care is so expensive, it is necessary that mechanisms, such as the community health fairs, be repeated as often as possible to reach those who cannot, otherwise, receive these vital medical services. Volunteerism on the part of health agencies, private health care delivery systems, professional and non-professional people, have the responsibility to support this kind of program. To the volunteers that made possible the successful Health Fair, my sincere thanks and appreciation."

Health Fair services at Casa Ramona included immunization shots, physical examinations and dental checks. Services were provided by the U.S. Naval Reserve San Diego Hospital Detachment 719 and San Bernardino County Health Agencies.

The United States was an inspiration for these historic changes.

The ideals of democracy and freedom that are the foundation of our country provided an example to be emulated.

President Woodrow Wilson once noted, "Liberty does not exist in the mere declarations of the rights of man.

It consists in the translation of those declarations into definite action."

We have witnessed just such a transformation. The principles upon which our nation is built are being enthusiastically embraced worldwide.

It is no coincidence the monument erected in Tiananmen Square resembled the Statue of Liberty.

The Statue of Liberty symbolizes hope for the oppressed and freedoms for the enslaved. It's been said the light from her lamp provides a beacon to those
"yearning to be free."

I have been fortunate in my life to participate in the struggle for freedom through service in the military and service in government.

1st Hispanic Achievement Recognition at Arlington High School in Riverside

“[If you do not know where you’ve been, you do not know where you are. If you do not know where you are, you do not know where you’re going.]”

The above is an often stated quote passed down through the generations of the wise and elderly. To continue the journey of this message, Gilberto Chavez, keynote speaker for the 1st Hispanic Achievement Recognition program at Arlington High School, Riverside, presented this quote to the 150 students and parents on Saturday, June 16, 1990. Mr. Chavez proceeded to give a historical overview of Chicano organizations, their impact on today’s Chicano community and the role of the youth for the future.

For many of the high school students, who were being recognized for achieving a 3.0 GPA or better, having excellent attendance and/or high community service involvement, the message given by Mr. Chavez was a clear challenge to continue their excellent work and build upon the rich heritage left by the Chicanos of Chicano organizations of the past.

The program, sponsored by the Casa Blanca Home of Neighborly Service and Arlington High School, followed a similar recognition program held at Ramona High School earlier in the week. Al Kovar, director of the Home of Neighborly Service said he hopes to continue and expand the program next year so that young Chicanos can get the valuable motivation and encouragement they need to go into higher education.

David Leyva, a senior, was one of the students recognized. He has been accepted to attend USC and has a $16,000 scholarship. Another student, Richard Mora, a junior, was recognized for his community service and excellent attendance record.

Other students present and recognized were: Michelle Alvarez, Eddie Alvarado, April Arriola, Maria Bustamante, Martin Cesena, Armando Chavez, Essell Cruz, Michelle Cruz, Maria De La Cruz, Anthony Diaz, Joanna Dodson, Tanya Escobar, Joel Garcia, Melissa Garcia, Adriana Gomez, Lucila Gonzales, John Hernandez, Alfonso Lara, Steve Leyva, Jesus Luna, Ray Medina, Jeremy Mora, Alejandro Morales, Ernie Ojeda, Susanna Olguin, Isabel Perez, Rene Rasa, Juan Rodriguez, Carlos Rasalo, Ernie Savage, Veronica Serafin, Virginia Serafin, Edward Valejo, Ana Bellel Zeinico, Mr. Jordon. Program coordinator and Home of Neighborly Service staff member, Pablo Trevino, sees the recognition these students are getting as important for the youth, parents, school and community. The bringing together of people for this cause has been neglected in the past. Everyone involved with any part of a youth’s development should recognize that there are many influences at work. Programs like this brings all the parts together. - Ray Navarro

S.B.V.C. School of Nursing Celebrates 80th Year with "Homecoming Reunion" and 1990 Graduation Ceremonies

San Bernardino Valley College Department of Nursing has been celebrating three major events during the month of May and June, 1990. During the month of May, the Department commemorated its 80th year of operating as a School of Nursing. In order to celebrate this important event, Arlene Johnson, Director, Registered Nurses Program and G. Irma Zamora, Director, Psychiatric Technology, with the aid of a 14 member Task Force, planned a "Homecoming Reunion" Dinner on May 4, at the Valley College Cafeteria. There were 160 former graduates who attended the Dinner, former students reminisced about their experiences during college days. The evening program included a history of the Department by Ramona Rasdick, class of 1963 and guest speaker was Joan Keller, class of 1963 and California Nurses Association President.

The history of the nursing school began in 1908, (which is an approximate), and was operated by the County. The original name was San Bernardino County Hospital School. According to an article in the Alumni Bulletin, four classes of trained nurses graduated from the school from 1905 to 1911. The records indicate that there were 13 members in the first graduating class in 1911.

Gabrielle (Tissot) Mulvane became Director of Nurses in 1917. The position carried a dual responsibility for the school of nursing and the hospital nursing service. Ms. Mulvane was director of the school until her retirement in 1952. The school of nursing was accredited by the California State Board of Health in 1918. Documentation from that period of time indicated that the school of nursing was "for the purpose of the providing instruction to young women in the art of caring for the sick."

Since its inception, there had been an effort by the Board of Supervisors to develop the nursing school into one of the best in the region. During that period, student nurses were required to be on duty 48 hours per week, excluding classes.

In 1926, the School of Nursing became affiliated with then San Bernardino Valley Union Junior College. During this period of time, a requirement was established that each student be a high school graduate and that basic science courses be taught.

In the succeeding years, there occurred many positive changes to enhance the status of the then School of Nursing: the School became a Department of the College; students received an associate of arts degree from the College and diploma from the hospital; the course of instruction was gradually lengthened to four years, later reduced to three years with the inclusion of prenursing courses and subsequently reduced to a two year program with additional general educational requirements; and the affiliation with Children's Hospital and Methodist Hospital in Los Angeles, Memorial Hospital in Pasadena, Stanford University and the University of Washington. The U.S. Veterans Facilities in Brentwood was used to supplement psychiatric experiences. (In 1949, the school enrolled two males to its nursing program, this being the only school to admit males for several years).

Since its inception, the nursing program has experienced a number of personnel changes as a result of organizational expansion. In 1954, Gladys Goltz was appointed Department Chair, followed by Betty Jacobson in 1957.

When Ms. Jacobson retired, Dorothy Scantlin was appointed Chairperson of the Health Science Division and Arlene Johnson was hired as Director of Registered Nursing Program. As a result of Ms. Scantlin's retirement, Ms. Johnson is currently administratively responsible for the Division.

The Nursing Program has had a gradual growth since its inception approximately 80 years ago. As a result of this growth and the high educational standards that have been developed, the Program has gained a national reputation for quality education and excellence in student achievement.

A Statement By:
Ms. Arlene Johnson, Director
Registered Nursing Program

The Program is one of the leaders in providing quality nursing education. We have an excellent faculty who are dedicated to preparing graduates who make a difference in the health care of the community. Our graduates continue to do well on the licensing examinations.

We usually have a 100% pass rate which means that San Bernardino Valley College Nursing Program has a No. 1 ranking in the nation and state. The 1990's will find San Bernardino Valley College on the forefront of implementing strategies to meet the future health care needs of the San Bernardino area.

San Bernardino Valley College - Nurses - Graduates of 1990

Ray Corona, outstanding Eisenhower High grad

Ray Corona, 1990 Eisenhower High School graduate was named one of the outstanding seniors in the graduating class.

Mr. Corona has a G.P.A. of 4.5. The San Bernardino Valley College School of Nursing graduated 33 nursing students in a candlelight ceremony on June 13, and this annual event coincided with the School of Nursing's 80th anniversary and the Class of 1945 Reunion.

Patricia Diaz was one of the nursing graduates who had achieved one of her career goals when the nurses emblem was pinned to her dress. This road to a successful fulfillment was achieved by dedication, commitment, and support of family and employer. It had been a long struggle.

Sarah Galvan Gomez
Distinguished Nursing Service

The San Bernardino Valley College School of Nursing - Class of 1945 celebrated its 45th year reunion. This class graduated after the end of World War II in the European Theater. It has met on an annual basis, and this year's event was held at the Arrowhead Country Club on May 5 and a brunch at El Torito on May 6.

Sarah Galvan Gomez (Erlach) was a graduate of the class of 1945, and the Inland Empire Hispanic News requested an interview with her.

Sarah Galvan Gomez (Erlach) was born and raised in San Bernardino, now living in Roseville - California. She is very cognizant of her roots, in that returning to her home means staying at 628 North Pico on the Westside of San Bernardino.

Ms. Gomez is a cultured, assertive, and straight talking individual, which is reflective of her education and (civilian / military) training, but especially her mother's upbringing. She attended Ramona Elementary School, Alessandro Junior High School and San Bernardino High School. At that time Ramona and Alessandro were segregated schools and educational incentives were minimal for Mexican-Americans. She did not have any role models at the schools. However, Mrs. Wilma Smith, a prominent citizen, told the Girls' League that we could be anything we wanted as long as we worked hard at it," said Ms Gomez. At school she was very active becoming president of the Girls' League, joined numerous clubs, was very involved in sports and the school newspaper. "I studied very hard at school, remembering what my high school teacher, Mrs. Mayer, would say. She said the future belongs to those who prepare for it." She was one of nine children in the family, and there was a continuous competition with her brothers. "My mother, though, was the motivational factor for me, my biggest supporter, and always found ways to help me."

Graduating from high school, there were few jobs that were available, especially for Mexican-Americans. She

The struggle began when Mrs. Diaz was 11 years old and her mother decided to bring the family to the United States from Unanipa, Michoacan, Mexico in 1972. She attended Curtis, More, and Cope Middle Schools and graduated from Redlands High School, "I encountered a lot of difficulties because this country was very different, but the greatest difficulty was the language barrier. The biggest asset was the bilingual classes and help from my aunt and cousin, who was my role model and motivated me to overcome barriers," she said.

Sarah Galvan Gomez (Erlach) read an announcement that the San Bernardino Valley College School of Nursing had openings for nursing candidates. She made a decision that nursing would be her career. Her mother agreed on her career choice, and they struggled to get the five dollar registration fee and finances for board and room. "My father had helped many people in the past, and mother started collecting all the debts that were owed," she said. She received a $100 scholarship from San Bernardino Valley College which had to be matched, and she enrolled at the School of Nursing.

During the last year of the nursing course, she enlisted in the Army Nurses Cadet Corps and was commissioned a second lieutenant after graduation. "I was one of the first Hispanics to graduate from the School of Nursing," she said proudly. She was immediately sent to Korea after basic training and served on active duty during the occupation until 1947. After her army discharge, Ms Gomez enlisted in the Army Nurses Corps Reserve, serving at the Oakland Army Base, Letterman General Hospital, Presido Headquarters in San Francisco, and as Chief Nurse at Hamilton Field. She retired from the Army Nurses Corps Reserve with the rank of colonel after 34 years of service. Ms Gomez received the Medal of Merit and commendation for service to her country. See Gomez page 6

She started working as a nurses aid at Beverly Manor in Redlands where management encouraged her to continue her education. She enrolled in the LVN program at Redlands Adult School, receiving financial aid from the State and Beverly Enterprises for books, uniform and salary. Graduating as an LVN in 1983, she continued her education on nurses prerequisites on full time for five years, working part-time on weekends, later completing her two year nursing education.

During these total experiences, she married Fernando Diaz, who is employed at Southland Corporation, had a daughter Adriana, who is 12 and twin sons Eduardo and Andres, who are 9. "I know that I would be able to be successful in achieving my goal, it took a lot of work and sacrifice. But with the help of Beverly Enterprises, my family and husband , who supported my ambitions and is very relieved, my mother who is very proud, my dream has come true," she stated.

Sarah Galvan Gomez (Erlach) has come true," she stated.
