News Shortage Causes Furor

The PawPrint is currently in the midst of a severe shortage of news, the worst shortage of its kind in recent memory. Preliminary reports show that the availability of general news stories to be down 70% from a year ago, the result of a presently undetermined action or agent. Experts predict that the current downsizing will have far-reaching and potentially dangerous effects.

“We foresee this shortage as leading to a general increase in low-interest, artificial articles, much like this one,” said Sue Doe, Chairperson of an advisory committee appointed to study the problem. The general public is just going to have to cut back on the amount of news they are currently reading, or else seek it from foreign markets at an inflated price,” she continued.

It is rumored that much of the copy in this paper has been journalistically altered to give it the appearance of a genuine news article, whereas it is in reality, senseless filler. This charge was refuted by PawPrint Editor-in-Chief Karen Newcombe. “We are working on the problem, but due to the large number of animal surfacings, are still missing as an editor,” she said.

The problem has continued spiraling last quarter, when $500 was taken from the student union’s cash box. Since that time, a variety of random, seemingly unrelated items have been taken, primarily on Thursday and Friday nights, and during the union’s busiest hours. The latest theft occurred on Friday, when secretary John Doe was locked out of the union’s vault.

A severe lack of money is currently hampering PawPrint efforts to produce a newspaper of tolerable proportions, resulting in little or no news, as there are no funds with which to pay reporters. This in turn has resulted in a number of desperate attempts by PawPrint staff members to generate revenue through unconventional means, including solicitation and occasional begging. Efforts have been, to this point in time, entirely unsuccessful.

Crime Wave Hits Student Union

A recent crime wave, now into its third month, has afflicted the student union. According to Shad Bennecke, Student Union Coordinator, a number of personal and student-related items have been taken, all proceeds of A.S. activities and union operating revenue, totaling $500, are missing as of now.

“The problem has continued escalating last quarter, when $300 was taken from Bennecke’s cash box. Since that time, a variety of random, seemingly unrelated items have been stolen, primarily on Thursday and Friday nights, and during the union’s busiest hours. The latest theft occurred on Friday, when secretary John Doe was locked out of the union’s vault.”

According to the rock group Amethyst, who played here in November, a brand new amplifier was noticed missing immediately after their performance. Its whereabouts are still unknown.

A suspect, although many of those familiar with the situation feel that a campus resident is responsible for the thefts. Paul Woodruff, A.S. Activities Director, suspects that “someone in need of decorative materials” has had a hand in the thefts, and urged more vigilant instances of surveillance. It is believed that members of the PawPrint staff were making up news when no real news was to be found. “I wouldn’t put it past them” stated one source close to the PawPrint, who asked not to be identified.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

I must commend you on the fine job you are doing. I recognize the difficulties one encounters when trying to produce a newspaper, but you seem to have overcome most of them admirably, I might add.

I think I speak for everyone here when I say that we are proud to have a fine paper such as this to read. Keep up the good work.

Dad

Dear Ms. Newcombe,

I'd like to publicly thank the PawPrint, the staff of the Student Union and the following volunteers for helping to make the A.S. sponsored Book Co-op a tremendous success. They are: Joan Chacon, Julie Hoffman, Russ Castle, Jim Fuentes and Jim Monroe.

The Student response was very encouraging—I am looking forward to future Book Coops. Thank you.

Pauline A. Barbour
Book Coop mgr.

Dear Pauline,

Thank you. Glad to help.

The Editor

Dear Editor,

Last week when I saw numerous signs advertising "Jobs available at the Pawprint", I decided to inquire about them. Having two years experience as a yearbook staff editor, I felt I was fully qualified for the job. The Pawprint editor looked over my application and she too agreed that I was qualified. The only problem was that she had just been informed that there were no funds available for employers. If the school expects a good quality paper they should expect to pay for an experienced qualified staff. Until they do, don't expect the best from the Pawprint.

Julie Agnew

Dear Julia,

Thank you for your letter. True, there are no funds for staff wages, yet we are currently working on ways to correct this situation. Soon, I hope. Meanwhile, we will do our best here and we will work flu or no flu until the paper is finished to the best of our capabilities. Keep in touch and when we have the funds I will give you a call.

Dear Editor,

What the hell do you mean there's no money for wages?!

-Brad

Oh, did I say that?

A Nurse Story With A Happy Ending.

Not too long ago in California lived a new RN graduate named GLORIA who was a tad confused about her future. Now of course, she loved people (why else would she have studied so hard?), but who was going to take care of her?

Unhappily, GLORIA heard that new graduates must work long, crazy hours, make short, stubby salaries and never have enough help. Grey skies for GLORIA. What could make them blue?

Ray of light! Kaiser Permanente of San Francisco could! GLORIA signed up for our 6-week ICU/CCU training program beginning February 11th* and found out that she didn't need critical care experience to qualify. We simply required that she had passed or applied to take State Boards.

Subsequently, GLORIA also found out that she would be supervised throughout training by a Preceptor Staff Nurse. And, after completion, she would have her choice of working 32 or 40 hour/week (nights) in our ICU/CCU. And, not-to-mention an extraordinary starting salary and benefits program.

End of story? Not at all! Yours can have a happy ending, too! If you're an RN graduate like GLORIA, contact The Nurse Recruiter at 2266 Geary Blvd., San Francisco, CA 94115 or call him COLLECT at (415) 929-4134. His name is George Egolf.

*Kaiser Permanente deadline is February 1st.

Steps to Avoid Delays in VA Education Payments

To help students avoid delays in their Veterans Administration education payments, VA Regional Office Director H.H. Villalovos has some pointers for them:

Some 600,000 VA checks worth more than $200 million are mailed each month to veteran-students and to eligible dependents, and the agency wants to do everything possible to avoid delays.

For the students, part: Mr. Villalovos suggests:

- "When you believe the initial payment for the school term has been delayed, first check with the school to find out the date the enrollment certificate was sent to VA. At least four weeks should be allowed from that date before an education check can be expected.

- If an advance payment check is expected, make sure the required written request was signed. The specific request for the advance money should have been submitted to VA at least a month before the beginning of the semester.

- Students who have gotten education benefits in the past should consider whether an overpayment is outstanding. If an overpayment exists, current benefits are withheld until the overpayment is recovered by the VA.

For further information on possible education payment delays, contact Ray Suyre, 887-7396, Cal State.

Band Directors Clinic

California State College, San Bernardino will host a day-long band directors' clinic January 18 with nationally known conductor Dr. Frederick Fennell as guest clinician.

Dr. Fennell has taught at the Eastman School of Music and the University of Miami School of Music. He has conducted the Eastman Wind Ensemble in 25 albums of classical music. He was also conductor for a series of releases by the Eastman-Rochester Pops Orchestra, the London Pops Orchestra and the Fennell Symphonic Winds. About 50-60 band and orchestra directors from area junior and senior high schools, as well as colleges, are expected to attend the clinic. They will hear lectures, practice techniques and see demonstrations of methods to use in their own classes.

Fennell received his music training at the Interlochen National Music Camp in Interlochen, Michigan: the Eastman School of Music, where he received his bachelor’s and master’s degrees; and at the Mozarteum in Salzburg, Austria. In addition, he was a private pupil of Serge Koussevitzky at the Berkshire Music Center in Tanglewood, N.J. He was appointed Koussevitzky’s assistant in orchestral conducting in 1948. Fennell holds an Honorary Doctor of Music degree from Oklahoma City University.

The American Youth Hostel's travel program also offers less exotic but no less interesting and exciting trips such as the one in conjunction with The Infinite Odyssey, a 28-day youth group backpacking and hiking program in Maine. Another first are tours by van designed expressly for the over 50 age group.
