AS holds Annual Elections

Associated Students Elections Committee Chair Sandy Case announced that AS Elections will be held April 28-29. The schedule for the elections is as follows:

- April 5-14: Nominating Petitions Available
- April 14-15: Petitions due at the Student Union desk
- April 16-21: Campaigning Begins
- April 22-28: Primary Election
- May 5-6: Run-off Election (if necessary)

The student may not sign more than one petition per office.

Profs take leave - if they get the bucks

By 1985, California will lose 40 percent of its landfill through litter control, recycling and other resource conservation activities. Hundreds of innovative community clean-up and recycling events are being organized throughout the state as part of the Great California Resource Rally. The State Department of General Services, for example, is sponsoring the Second Annual Great Paper Chase, to clean the files of white office paper.

Cities in San Diego County are holding 'Recyclathons,' beach clean-ups and aluminum can recycling contests to raise money for a community service organization. California Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts will be working with the state Department of Parks and Recreation to clean up state parks throughout the state.

Fresno will hold 'Adopt a Park' clean-up activities, essay contests and trash art contests. 'Adopt a Beach' clean-ups will be held in Newport Beach, Huntington Beach and Laguna Beach.

Businesses and industry are also participating in the rally by providing free litter bags, trash bags, bumper stickers and billboard advertisements and placing rally signs and posters on their vehicles.

The rally is being sponsored and partially funded by the State Solid Waste Management Board, California's lead agency for recycling, litter control and resource recovery. The rally will coincide with Keep America Beautiful's national anti-litter campaign and with Earth Day 1982.

Directors take action

by J.R. Hoge

Associated Students Vice President David Menezes gavelled to order the last meeting for the Winter Quarter of the CSCSB Board of Directors at 3:07 p.m. on March 15.

First item on the agenda was the report of AS President Pauline Barbour. President Barbour reported on the letter campaign recently conducted by the Serrano Village Council on behalf of the students of Cal State. Their campaign was for the purpose of protesting fee increases and budget cuts. Congressman Jerry Lewis was the focus of the campaign.

Moving towards the procurement of a piano by the Associated Students goes on, though the exact date of acquisition is still unclear.

Upon completion of the President's Report the floor was given to Vice President Menezes to AS Treasurer Greg Bynum. Bynum raised questions dealing with the existence of Money Market Certificates owned by the Associated Students. Specifically, their use of being matched against projected AS debts. Bynum raised the question that because their maturation date was two months after the debts came due they obviously couldn't be used to offset the debts. To answer this question, Linda Sapperneti, AS campus accountant, was called upon. Sapperneti explained that the revenues gained from registration fees are the monies that are used to pay the bills incurred by the Associated Students. Our Money Market Certificates are not used, that is to say their principal is not touched. Only the interest received by AS in the form of checks is used to help offset debts that may exceed the projected amount.

Policy in regard to procurement of Money Market Certificates is set by the AS Board of Directors.

Action on BD 27-82 followed discussion of the budget. This action concerned establishment of regular, posted hours for AS Executive Officers. The motion to set minimum required hours was passed by the BD, with support from the present seated Executive.

As one of her final acts as head of the AS Activities Office, Vice President Davis requested $500 from the BD to pay for Karen Adair's mime show, 'Mime Doesn't Pay.' Russell, 33-82, died for lack of a second to the motion. Adair was to have performed and given a mime workshop. Lack of familiarity with Adair's reputation and the recent National Shakespeare Company performance were cited as reasons for lack of support. Desire to shift financial focus to other areas of campus involvement besides the performing arts, was the apparent theme of the discussion.

A new disc for the typewriting machine was approved in short order, BD 35-82.

A motion dealing with a proposed pledge to the alumni fund was taken at the request of President Barbour, so that consultation with Appropriations can take place.

It was requested that the combined AS/Alumni Association event, 'Grad Night,' be shifted from April to May. Due to problems encountered during coordination with on and off campus services, logistics have become unsteady. The extra time is thought to benefit both planners and participants for a more enjoyable event.

Research is being conducted by both the BD and the Executive Officers in regard to current expenditures for student assistance. AS events have had costs increase solely because of the presence of student assistance. Friday night of the past two quarters was cited as an example. BD 38-82 was acted upon, providing $500 to cover student assistant expenditures for the remainder of the Winter Quarter. This was done with the stipulation that no further hiring of part-time student assistants be done until the matter is evaluated.

CFPC sets films, speaker

by Mike Heister

Fils, lectures, and a civil liberties forum highlight the coming month's events slated by Cal State's Coalition for Peaceful Coexistence as well as progressive groups at the University of California at Riverside.

At the CFPC meeting Monday, April 5 at 8 p.m. in the Student Union Senate chambers the film, El Salvador Under Violence, will be shown. There is no charge and everyone is invited.

Another film, currently slated for showing at noon on Tuesday, April 13 is Sandino, Today and Forever, a film which looks at the social change which has occurred in Nicaragua since the overthrow of Somoza by the Sandanistas. This one is also free, and it's being screened at the SUMP.

The following day the CFPC is sponsoring an appearance by Alliance For Survival founder Dave Lumian, also at noon. Lumian will speak on the subject of nuclear proliferation. Also on tap for the afternoon are two films, War Without Winners and The Last Epidemic. The latter is about what would happen to a city hit by a nuclear bomb. The film was produced by the Physicians for Social Responsibility.

Meanwhile, UCR's Campus Action Committee is sponsoring a forum called, 'Civil Liberties in the 1980's -countering the threat of the New Right,' Wednesday, April 7 at 7:30 p.m. in Life Sciences 1500. The event features four speakers, including Frank Wilkinson of the National Committee Against Repressive Legislation, Linda Valente of the American Civil Liberties Union, Tom Ono of the Justice Committee for Greensboro, and Attorney General candidate Dan Segal of the Bay Area Commission against Racism and Repression.

Anyone interested in further information on this event may call Matt Owen at 682-5416.

Anyone interested in further information concerning the CFPC may call Brad Johnson at 889-4513 or Mike Heister at 882-6248.
Co-op returns

Need textbooks at a reasonable price? Want to help your fellow students beat the high cost of studying? The AS Book Co-op needs your textbooks now.

According to Associated Student President Pauline Barbour, books turned in on consignment to the AS office or at registration (outside the gym) will be offered for sale during Spring Quarter. 'Each class. Sellers set their own prices.

The Math Placement Test will be administered at 9 a.m. Wednesday, March 31 and Thursday, April 1 in BI-101.

The Math Placement Test will be administered at 9 a.m. Wednesday, March 31 and Thursday, April 1 in BI-101. Scoring and advising by the Math Department will take place immediately upon completion of the test. Tests are about 30 minutes long.

Any student who has not taken the placement test should do so prior to registration in any math class. The test will be given on a walk-in basis, so no registration is required. For further information call the Math Department at 887-7531.

This year, accommodations for testing children ages four and up have been added.

The Fair, conducted between 7 a.m. and 4 p.m., will feature booths for local and national health oriented groups such as the San Bernardino County Drug Abuse and the San Bernardino Alcoholics Anonymous.

Also, there will be a pediatrician and an ophthalmologist on hand. Health tests offered include spirometer (lung capacity) testing, hearing, heart hazard appraisals, eating and blood chemistry ($7 fee). Immunizations are also available (bring immunization records), and they'll even be measuring height.

Come one, come all, and treat yourself to the best of health!

English test set

The California State University English equivalency examination will be administered here at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, April 24.

Students who pass both parts of the exam will be given credit for two terms of English at Cal State campuses and will be excused from the English Placement Test, a requirement for entering lower-division students admitted to the California State University for the first time.

Other students may not score high enough to qualify for units, but they may do sufficiently well to be excused from the English Placement Test.

University of California campuses also award credit to those who pass, although campuses vary in the courses for which they give credit.

Applications should be submitted by April 2. The forms are available from high schools and the Admissions Office here. The test fee is $37.

Avant-garde display

Art of the 1920s and 1930s by avant-garde artists such as Paul Klee, Wassily Kandinsky and Max Pechstein will be on display beginning Saturday, April 10 in the Art Gallery.

'Kate Steinitz: Her Art and Her Collection' will open with a free reception from 7-10 p.m. on April 10. The show closes May 14.

A German artist, Steinitz became intimately involved in the artistic life of Hanover, Germany, an era for avant-garde artists during the 1920s and 1930s. She collected works by most of the important avant-garde artists of that time.

This is the first show with a serious discussion of this woman's art and its place in 20th century art history, said Dr. Julius Kaplan, chair of the Art Department and coordinator of this exhibit.

Accompanying the display will be a complete catalog on the art and collection of Steinitz.

The study traces her career, touching on her student days in Berlin, major activities in Hanover, work as an artist in New York, and final years as a librarian and artist historian in Los Angeles.

Most of the 70 works by Steinitz in this display are paintings, drawings, watercolors and prints from the 1920s and 1930s, although a good portion is from her New York period.

Among Steinitz's friends and collaborators was Kurt Schwitters, the founder of Hanover Dada. Started during World War I, this school of art explored the use of trash and was previously considered junk, in visual art and the use of new kinds of sounds in poetry.

Art, like all avant-garde art, was dedicated to the expressiveness of form and color by its own self; things no longer had to look natural to be realistic, said Dr. Kaplan.

This avant-garde expressiveness is reflected in the Steinitz collection, which has works from other artists, mostly prints and drawings, also will be exhibited in the show. The artists represented are Max Beckmann, Marc Chagall, Oskar Fischinger, Otto1 Gruen, Raoul Hausmann, Hann Abusch, Oscar Kokoschka, Kate Kollwitz, Moholy-Nagy, El Lissitzky and others.

The exhibit is partially funded by grants from the National Endowment for the Arts.

Gallery wraps up

Sorenson show

Don Sorenson, a familiar name to gallery goers in the Los Angeles area, will introduce his newest paintings in a show which opened March 17 in the Art Gallery.

The exhibit, on display through April 2, marks the first time he has shown his work since he made a major shift in style from pure abstract painting to works in which he is beginning to introduce recognizable images.

Titled 'Temple Paintings,' the works on display employ forms and symbols related to ancient Greek temples.

In addition to shows throughout southern California, Sorenson has exhibited nationally. In 1980, he received a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts.

Among his notable achievements was being included in the 'Los Angeles Painting: The Decade' exhibit at the Art Center College of Design in Pasadena and the 'Selections from the Frederick Weisman Company Collection of Southern California Art' exhibit at the Corcoran Gallery of Art in Washington DC.

Gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday-Friday; 7-9 p.m., Monday-Thursday; 1-4 p.m., Saturday; and by appointment, 887-7459.
CSU offers Internships

Interested in spending the fall semester working for the legislature in Sacramento? Professor Elizabeth Moulds, California State University at Sacramento, announced recently that the Sacramento Semester Internship program is now accepting applications for Fall 1982, from students enrolled at all 19 state university campuses.

Moulds, the program coordinator, explained that the state-wide program is a combined package of an internship within the State government and an intensive seminar in California government and politics. The goal of this total immersion program is to give students a learning experience in public policy formation that would otherwise not be available to them.

The program, which runs for one semester on the Sacramento campus, offers 12 semester units of political science credit automatically transferred to the student's home campus through Intra-System Visitor Agreements. Students needing additional units may select courses from any of the CSU, Sacramento offerings. The program is open to upper division students with grade point averages of 3.0 or higher, good writing skills, and a strong interest in politics.

Since the program began seven years ago, interns have been placed in offices representing nearly every aspect of state government. Many program alumni, who number more than 300, are now working in Sacramento as lobbyists, consultants, or legislative staffers.

Interested students should contact the Political Science Department, Information may also be obtained from Professor Moulds through the CSU, Sacramento Department of Government, 6000 Jay Street, Sacramento, CA 95819. The application deadline is Friday, April 23.

Open House Activities set

Three major activities will be part of the college's Open House set for Sunday, April 25. Launching the annual spring event will be the Alumni Awards Luncheon at 11 a.m. in the College Commons. The campus community is invited to join with former students in recognizing the accomplishments of several outstanding graduates.

Events and activities for the Open House are being scheduled from noon to 4 p.m. this year. Many of the popular programs from the past two Open Houses will be repeated and some new attractions are being planned.

One of the Southern California Health Fair Expos is scheduled here for the day as well.

Park seeks Aides

Silverwood Lake and Perris Lake, units of the Department of Parks and Recreation, in continuation with their program initiated by the ‘Special Day for Special People,' will now be accepting applications for the position of Park Aide. This is a summertime position beginning June 15 and running through Labor Day, with two days of training in May.

Duties include answering phones, operating the dispatch, cashiering, registering camping and providing public information and collecting fees.

State housing is not available and transportation is the employee’s responsibility. The deadline to file is April 15. For more information call (714)389-2281. A free catalog with samples of their work with the application.

Twenty extension courses offered

This spring Cal State is again offering extension classes throughout Riverside and San Bernardino counties of special interest to teachers. The first course begins April 5.

Five courses are offered in Riverside and 10 in the Coachella Valley. In addition, 10 courses are scheduled in San Bernardino County, including one in Yucca Valley.

Many classes are weekend workshops, meeting once or twice a weekend. Others, especially degree-applicable courses, meet for up to 11 sessions during the quarter.

‘Advanced Methods and Management in Teaching Designated Subjects,' a Riverside class, is applicable toward a community college instructor’s certificate.

Other classes meeting in Riverside are on creative reading, museums as a teacher resource, children’s books and environmental education.

In the Coachella Valley, two courses will be offered that can apply toward degrees and credentials which must be earned on the San Bernardino campus.

Seven courses will apply toward external degrees and credentials that can be obtained through courses meeting in the low desert. These courses lead to a master of arts degree in education with options in elementary, special, reading and counselor education, along with credentials in the pupil personnel services, reading specialist and special education specialist areas.

The Yucca Valley class is ‘Creative Classroom Awareness in Art,' which is designed to help teachers of all grade levels create simple classroom art projects.

‘Special Education in Crisis,' a one-day conference focusing on the special needs, issues and services related to learning handicapped students, is scheduled in addition to the nine classes offered in San Bernardino. The conference will be held May 1 here. Stan Little, principal of Martin Van Buren Elementary School in Indio, other educators and experts in the field of special education will speak.

A free catalog with information on these and many more extension offering classes is available by calling the Office of Continuing Education at 887-7564 or the extension hot line at 346-4403.
