CSUSB PROVIDES MAJOR ECONOMIC BOOST FOR INLAND REGION

SAN BERNARDINO, CA - California State University, San Bernardino contributes more than $550 million in expenditures to California's economy each year, while also supporting more than 10,000 California jobs and generating more than $28 million in state taxes, according to a report commissioned by the California State University.

The recently completed study, "Working for California: The Impact of the California State University," examined how the entire CSU system and its 23 campuses impact the economic, social, intellectual and cultural life throughout the state and its many regions. The study was conducted by ICT Consulting of San Francisco.

For every $1 the state invests in Cal State San Bernardino, university-related expenditures generate $4.53 in additional spending. As such, CSUSB generates $532,863,097 in annual spending in California.

"The report confirms what we have worked hard to achieve at Cal State San Bernardino," the university, our students and alumni clearly have a significant and meaningful impact on the local and state economy," said university President Albert Kamig. "Our challenge is to help assure that there are local jobs that match the high skill levels of our graduates. In fact, we are working to promote the chances that our graduates will live and work locally and help to build Inland California's overall level of productivity." The report also found that CSUSB alumni earnings generate more than $635 million to the state economy on an annual basis.

CSUSB is one of the fastest-growing universities in the California State University system, with total student enrollment increasing nearly 25 percent over the past six years to 17,000 students in 2003-2004. Cal State San Raul Yzaguirre, President of the National Council of the Raza for 30 years, will retire at the end of 2004. A resident of the Rio Grande Valley, Texas, Yzaguirre has been a civil rights activist for over 30 years and leaves a legacy of one of the strongest and active Hispanic civil rights organization in the country. Photo courtesy of the NCLR.

At age 15, he started his civil rights career in the Rio Grande Valley of South Texas, where he was born, by organizing the American G.I. Forum Juniors, an auxiliary of the American G.I. Forum, one of the outstanding Hispanic veterans organizations started in 1948 by Dr. Hector Garcia; and after a 30 year distinguished career as president of the National Council of the Raza (NCLA), Raul Yzaguirre is retiring on January 1, 2005, from the largest Latino civil rights organization in the United States due to Parkinson's disease.

After graduating from high school in 1958, Yzaguirre served in the Air Force Medical Corps. After his discharge from the service, he returned home to find that Mexican American veterans and many other Mexican Americans were still subjected to discrimination, a deeply entrenched situation existing for many decades in the region and throughout the Southwest.

He headed toward Washington, D.C. to fight in the struggle for civil rights.

Yzaguirre founded the National Organizations for Mexican American Services in 1964, which was the forerunner in the founding of the NCLR. Graduating in 1968 from George Washington University with BS Degree, he served as a program analyst at the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity. In 1969 he founded the Interstate Research Associates, (IBA), the first Mexican American research association, and a highly financially successful non-profit consulting firm.

Yzaguirre was later asked to manage NCLR in 1974.

During his tenure as president of NCLR, Yzaguirre became one of the most recognized national leader in the civil rights movement, and a strong advocate on behalf of Hispanic Americans.

Due to his leadership skills, NCLR is one of the most influential and respected in the country, and the largest Hispanic national civil rights organization with 35,000 members and an estimated $28 million budget. NCLR is considered the leading Hispanic think tank in Washington, D.C., and has been involved in major national issues regarding immigration, welfare reform, housing, economic development, media and at the corporations level.

Yzaguirre has served on major national boards: Independent Sector (past chairperson), Sears, Roebuck and Co., United Way of America, AARP Services, National Hispanic Leadership Agenda, Leadership Council on Civil Rights, Salvation Army, and chair of President Clinton's Advisory Commission on Educational Excellence for Hispanic Americans, Council on Foreign Relations, and one of the first Hispanics Fellows at the John Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University.

He has received numerous awards: Rockefeller Public Service Award from Trustees of Princeton University, the Aztec Eagle, one of the highest honor given by the Government of Mexico to a noncitizen, Hubert Humphrey Civil Rights Awards from LATINA POWER!
By Ana Nogales, Ph.D. With Laura Golden Bellotti

"Like my mother used to say, 'Educate a man, and you will educate his sons; educate a woman, and you will educate generations.' This book shows Latinas that we have the power to do precisely that." — Lupe Ontiveros, actress.

In this empowering guide, Dr. Ana Nogales encourages Latinas to move beyond their expected roles and become the women they wish to be by embracing the seven traits they inherit naturally from their Latino culture.

Espíritu Creativo (Creative Spirit), The Aguantadora's (Survivor's) Passionate Determination, The Diplomat's) Discretion, The Comadre's (Girlfriend's) Networking Ability, The Atrevida's (Risktaker's) Courage, The Malabarista's (Multitasker's) Balance, La Reina's (A Diva's) Confidence.

Each chapter features an interactive element, including a quiz to determine how strong each attribute is in the reader's own personality, plus exercises to reinforce each trait. Filled with the personal stories of successful Latinas, including novelist Isabelle Allende, TV journalist Cristina Saralegui, Congresswomen Loretta and Linda Sanchez, Latina Magazine founder Christy Haubegger, and entertainer Jiac Velásquez, Latina Power inspires readers to vigorously pursue their own dreams.

Ana Nogales, Ph.D., the author of Dr. Ana Nogales' Book of Love, Sex, and Relationships, writes a weekly column, "Aquí Entre Nos," for La Opinion, and has been featured in Glamour, Cosmopolitan, the Los Angeles Times, and on NBC News and cnn en Espanol. A clinical psychologist and founder of Nogales Psychological Counseling, Inc., she lives in Orange County, California.

Laura Golden Bellotti is a writer, and was the editor of such well-known books as Women Who Love Too Much. She lives in Los Angeles.

SOUTH COLTON COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS BASH WELL ATTENDED

More than 2000 people turned out for the Christmas party put on by Chuck Siroonian and his company, Pacific Rail Industries, at Veterans Park on Sunday, December 12. The festivities lasted from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. and included free food and drinks, Mariachis, Santa Claus, jump houses, clowns doing face painting and handing out balloon sculptures, carnival and pony rides and displays of Pacific Rail's Monster Truck and equipment hauler. Some 550 children were provided Polaroid snapshots of themselves with Santa and each child in attendance was given a Christmas gift.

Catering was handled by Leno's Rico Taco. Security was provided by the Colton Police Department.

Community leaders in attendance included Ray Abril, Councilwoman Helen Ramos and former Colton Mayor Frank Gonzales.

Siroonian, who was named Colton's Citizen of the Year by the Chamber of Commerce two months ago, put on the festival as a celebration of the Christmas season and to thank the community for its support of the expansion of his car recycling facility at his Corporate Yard in south Colton.

THE COLONISTS OF CALIFORNIA
New Reference Book Offers Details about Thousands of Spanish Colonists

ANGELS CAMP, CA - As early as 1769, Spaniards began settling in California. The area was claimed by Spain, then Mexico, and finally the United States in 1848. In a new genealogical reference book that offers amazing details about individual colonists, California Colony: Genealogy, Landgrants and Notes of Spanish Colonial California (Now available through the AuthorHouse), Doris Shaw Castro presents a complete guide to the people who lived there.

With the surnames of more than 1,000 California Colonists, California Colony is an indispensable guide for anyone looking to research lives of people who lived in this area. Castro begins the book by offering helpful accounts of California's history, with the bulk of the work providing details about each person in the colonies, including their birth dates, arrival dates, important occupational information and census data. Similar information about each person's offspring is also available. Castro adds

RESFÍOSYGRIPE

Para evitar resfíos o gripe este año, usted no necesitará aislarse de su familia tras puertas trubadas. Medidas simples pueden ayudar a prevenir resfíos o gripe y minimizar la seriedad de cualquier síntoma. Mientras que cada año se reportan miles de casos de resfíos comunes y 95 millones de casos de influenza, es importante que las familias tomen las medidas para prepararse para lo que dure esta temporada.

"La mejor manera de mantenerse sano en esta época del año es tomando medidas proactivas para mantener la salud de su familia", manifestó Ron Sroka, farmacéutico y vicepresidente de iniciativas farmacéuticas para Medicineshoppe International, Inc. "Tómese el tiempo de buscar y almacenar las medicinas adecuadas y vitaminas y minerales que lo ayudarán a preparar los sistemas inmunes para luchar contra los resfíos y la gripe".

Las vitaminas y minerales que ayudan a fortalecer los sistemas inmunes y reducir los síntomas de resfíos o fiebre incluyen:

• Vitamina C — antioxidante que aumenta el conteo de glóbulos blancos.
• Zinc — mineral esencial para el metabolismo de la energía y adecuado crecimiento que puede acortar la duración de los resfíos.
• Selénio — mineral que ayuda a aumentar la efectividad de otros oxidantes.

Si usted se enferma de resfío o gripe, comprar en forma inteligente es esencial para seleccionar la medicación correcta y ahorrar dinero. SINFONIA MEXICANA CELEBRATES FIESTA NAVIDAD

By Frank J. Plash

Before a full house on December 18, the San Bernardino Sinfonia Mexicana did full justice to its title for its Christmas Program named FIESTA NAVIDAD. Mexico has a tradition to celebrate this holiday with the greatest of flare. And what a glowing evening it was: Colorful with all the characteristics of a fiesta.

Sinfonia Mexicana has been thrilling audiences since 1985 and has brought many enriching programs to San Bernardino. But the audience is not only local. Its reputation covers a great part of the Inland Empire where the Hispanic population accounts for a substantial following. Everyone, who attended this event, has to be grateful to the organization and leadership of Sinfonia Mexicana, not the least to Tony Bocanegra, who chooses the guest ensembles very carefully.

The evening featured the MARIACHI LOS CAMPEROS DE NATICANO. The ensemble employs the finest musicians from Mexico and the United States and performed throughout the United States and Canada. The Fiesta Navidad is available on a recording by Delfin Records since 1997. Their appearance in San Bernardino was certainly a contribution to our musical life.

Music for the Christmas Holiday is so well known, but its interpretation by a mariachi ensemble is not heard very often. Born as a Mexican specialty, they have adopted many categories of other Western music to their instrumentation of violins, guitars, trumpets, and a harp. No wonder that the Christmas songs converted to a mariachi sound was most pleasing.

Besides, they brought the Ballet Folklorico Ollin with them, a dance group founded in 1972. Their colorful costumes certainly brightened the stage.

To give the evening a more solemn sound, San Bernardino’s Canto Bello Chorale under Conductor, Robert Riddle offered some known and some lesser-known Christmas songs. For a 21 singers choir, they did extremely well and offered a welcome change of mood from the colorful to the refrained festive.

FIESTA NAVIDAD was a great concert and made the audience conscious that it takes music to celebrate. Frank J. Plash is a music historian. He is the recipient of the International Bruckner Medal and the Silver Badge of Honor of the Republic of Austria for his work in the United States.

Bernardino's annual total student enrollment is expected to top 20,000 by the end of the decade, further adding to the university's economic impact.

Along with what the university brings in terms of spending, its greatest impact is on the intellectual cultural and personal growth of its students and the community as a whole. Cal State San Bernardino is a valuable contributor to the community, partnering with numerous organizations throughout the region to provide service, expertise, and other resources.

In addition, CSUSB faculty and staff provide important research and service throughout the Inland Empire. Among the university's many centers and institutes are the Water Resources Institute, Developmental Disabilities Center, Institute of Applied Research, Diversity Institute, Developmental Disabilities Center, Institute of Applied Research, Diversity Institute, Inland Empire Center for Entrepreneurship, International Institute, Arrowhead Laboratory for Securities Analysis, Center for the Study of Hate and Extremism, Institute for Child Development, and Family Relations Office for the Commercialization of Advanced Technology, Office of National Excellence in Distance Learning and Community University Partnership.

CSUSB established and manages the Inland Empire's first regional television network, the Inland California Television Network. ICTN offers nightly weekend live television news to 15 cities in San Bernardino County through their city cable access channels and on a delayed basis over KVCR-TV, San Bernardino's public television station. The network also carries educational, informational, cultural and sports programming.

The university develops many of the area's entrepreneurs, and in 2004, CSUSB's Inland Empire Center for Entrepreneurship (IECE) earned the university recognition among the Top American universities for entrepreneurs by Entrepreneur Magazine. CSUSB's College of Education consistently ranks among the top CSU campuses that produce credentialed teachers. Maintaining partnerships is a priority for the college, which has enjoyed healthy relationships with 59 school districts in San Bernardino and Riverside counties.

Founded in 1965, Cal State San Bernardino is one of the 23 campuses in the California State University system, the largest higher education system in the country. CSUSB is the sole public comprehensive university serving Riverside and San Bernardino counties, one of the fastest growing regions in California. The university offers almost 70 traditional bachelor's and master's degrees and a wide variety of education credential and certificate programs.

to the resourcefulness of her book by using the Spanish naming system, which indicates both paternal and maternal surnames.

Castro spent years researching the history of these fascinating colonists, traveling to California, Mexico and Spain. Her efforts are also evident in the 12 appendices, which offer an abundance of information about California nobility, Christian missions, sailing expeditions that sailed around the area and Spanish silver and gold discoveries. Castro also lists land grants and their ownership, locations and sizes. California Colony is also well indexed to make quick research possible.

Spanish colonists founded the major cities of California, including San Francisco, San Jose, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, San Diego and Monterey (the colonial capital). California's influence in world and American history is undeniable, and Castro offers an excellent resource for learning more about the people of this important land.

Castro earned a bachelor's degree from the University of Iowa in 1943 and did graduate studies at Radcliffe College in Cambridge, Mass. A newspaper reporter and freelance writer, she has lived in many cities around the world including Mexico City, Lisbon, Madrid, Spain and Vienna, Austria.
