More than 70 other Palm Desert area residents, also employees of the hospital, are taking course work for the certificate. The hospital is paying for their tuition and books, according to Joan Kozel, Extension Program Administrator. COLLEGE HONORS SCHOOL CERTIFICATES OF MERIT

VISITORS ON FOREIGN LANGUAGE AND SOCIAL SCIENCE FIELD DAYS

Certificates of merit were awarded by the College at Foreign Languages Field Day, attended by 400 junior and senior high school students last Tuesday.

Performing in Spanish and French, the visitors presented skits and puppet shows, exhibits, dances, songs and food tasting. Arthur Moorefield, Chairman of the Music Department, conducted an international sing-along.

Certificates of merit were presented to 82 students by Richard Switzer, Dean of the School of Humanities.

Outstanding social science students in near-by high schools were honored at a banquet held on campus last evening.

In the afternoon the students met in small sessions, with the College's faculty members, to discuss subjects related to the theme, "The Human Predicament: A Social Sciences Perspective."

All seven Social Sciences departments were represented, each with an individual topic. These included such subjects as the value of history in solving present day problems and the food dilemma as it relates to world population.

At the evening banquet a trophy was awarded to the outstanding sophomore, junior and senior at each of the high schools participating.

STUDENT ART SHOW, A MUST SEE ATTRACTION

A brilliant display of 45 uniquely original pieces of student art work is currently drawing large numbers to The Gallery.

Such items as a fighter plane eject seat converted into a lounge chair, complete with beer can holder, a ceramic building that gives the time and more conventional pieces in a variety of materials and forms comprise the exhibit.

Oil paintings of mountains share the room with flowing sculpture pieces, zeronographs, prints, blown glass and a six-foot clock. According to Roger Lintault, Art Dept. Chairman, "the show represents a wide range of approaches in making art and of visual forms. It shows a nice variety of the kind of work done in the department."

The exhibit will run through June 10.

HELENE KOON BOOK

by Indiana University Press.

The anthology, in hardcover, was written in collaboration with Dr. Mary Mahl of the University of Southern California English Department.

Dr. Koon states that lack of material by women writers before the 1800's available to her when teaching her Women in Literature Class motivated her to seek out writings from that period and resulted in the research which produced the book.

The collection was chosen from some authors whose work has hitherto received little or no recognition, had either never been published or published only during their lifetime..."little known writers whom we thought were particularly good and should be called to the attention of scholars," said Dr. Koon. In selecting the writings, Dr. Koon said she and Dr. Mahl chose rather sizable excerpts that would give a flavor of the writer's work. A large amount of the material was taken from manuscripts, first editions, letters, short stories and poems.

Research for their book took Drs. Koon and Mahl to the British Museum, New York Public Library, Huntington Library, among others, to search out original works of literature which were well written and most representative of the period.

An extraordinary advance sale of over 400 orders, placed before the book went to press, is reported by the publisher. The hardcover sells for $15. Next year the book will be published by Feminist Press in Old Westbury, Conn. in paperback.
