CROWN HILL RANCHES, INC. PAYS $52,000 TO SETTLE LAWSUIT BY FARM WORKERS FOR VIOLATIONS OF LABOR LAWS

Fifty two farmworkers, above, were awarded $52,000 in their lawsuit against Crown Hill Ranches for violation of employment backpay. California Rural Legal Assistance, Inc with Attorney Cristina Guerrero as plaintiff attorney, was successful in litigating the case for the farmworkers in the Coachella Valley. Photo courtesy of CRLA.

Without admitting any liability, Crown Hill Ranches, Inc. has paid $52,000 to settle a lawsuit in the interest of approximately 52 former employees who have worked in their fields. The lawsuit was filed in September of 2003 by the 52 farm workers, who alleged that their employer failed to pay them their wages during their last day of seasonal employment for many years. Instead, the Company paid the employees their full wages on the next regular pay day.

In addition to the payment of $52,000, Crown Hill Ranches, Inc. has agreed as a term of the settlement to comply with all labor laws. Specifically they have agreed to pay all employees their full wages due on their last day of work when they are laid off at the end of their seasonal employment.

“Our office gets many complaints from farm workers that they are not receiving all of their wages during the last day of work at the end of a crop season. I am very happy that these workers will be rightfully compensated,” said Cristina Guerrero, counsel for plaintiff Maria Cecilia Torres and 51 other farm workers. Ms. Guerrero is an attorney for California Rural Legal Assistance, Inc. Migrant Farm Worker Project in Coachella Valley.

“We hope that this case will get other Coachella Valley growers to improve working conditions so that employees receive all of their wages on the last day of work. Our clients work hard to earn their wages. Farm workers need to be paid right away because they have to pay for their necessities, such as food and shelter.” Said Cynthia Rice, counsel for plaintiffs and attorney with California Rural Legal Assistance Inc. in San Francisco.

LOS ANGELES ELECTS NEW MAYOR-ANTONIO VILLARAIGOSA

Antonio Villaraigosa, the newly elected mayor of Los Angeles, received a landslide voter return of 59% to incumbent Mayor James Hahn’s 41% on Tuesday’s election. Villaraigosa is the first Latino to be elected mayor of Los Angeles since (the 2nd largest city in the U.S.)

Catholica Aguilas left office in 1872. The election of Villaraigosa symbolizes the growth of the Latino population and political clout being generated in, congressional, state, city, and school district elections throughout California and the Southwest. Survey by the Times indicated that voters stated that education (26%), jobs/ economy (26%) and crime/gangs (24%) were primary factor for Villaraigosa receiving the tremendous vote. Voters generally indicated new leadership and change of direction for the city was the fundamental shift in voter selection. The challenges for the new mayor, to be sworn into office in July, is education, transportation and expanding the economy, specifically more jobs.

MIGUEL CONTRERAS-NATIONALLY KNOWN LEADER DIES

Miguel Contreras, 52, passed away on May 6, 2005. Contreras, secretary-treasurer of the Los Angeles County Federation of Labor, AFL-CIO, was one of the most powerful labor leaders in Los Angeles and California. Over 4,000 persons attended a funeral Mass at the Cathedral of Our Lady of the Angels.

Bishop Gerald Barnes, Diocese of Riverside and San Bernardino Counties, blesses the newly dedicated Our Lady Queen of Peace Catholic Cemetery on May 5, situated on the rolling hills of eastern Colton. The total 30 acres of donated land will include five acres for immediate development, including a chapel and mausoleum.

“Today is a day of celebration for many who worked the fields under the most repressive working conditions that existed in the history of agriculture in California, and his family later joined the late Cesar Chavez in the struggles to improve those working conditions, and later in life, he became one of the most powerful labor leaders and a power broker in Los Angeles and California, died on Friday, May 6, as a result of a heart attack. He was 52 years old.

Over 4,000 persons, representing national, state and local labor leaders, federal, state and local politicians, Los Angeles mayoral candidates, James Hahn and Antonio Villaraigosa, and an overflowing crowd attended a funeral Mass on Friday, May 13th at the Cathedral of Our Lady of the Angels.

The many attending the Mass were emotionally impacted by the personal eulogy offered by Maria Elena Durazo, Contreras’ widow.

Duranzo said that since her husband’s death, she had heard anecdotes about her husband as a kingmaker, one of great influence, a consummate behind-the-scenes dealmaker. “These views miss the real

Miguel Contreras. He was as passionate about the struggles of electricians, and actors and longshoremen as he was about janitors and nurses and hotel housekeepers. She said. "He fought for each worker with the same heart and the same soul."

Senator Nell Soto, who attended the funeral, said in an interview. This was the most passionate eulogy I have ever heard in my life, and a great tribute to an outstanding individual like Manuel.

Contreras worked with Chavez throughout California, organizing lettuce workers and in the many grape boycotts. He later was recruited as a national organizer for the International Hotel, Motels and Restaurant Employees Union.

He became embroiled in a power struggle with a dissident group of which organizer Maria Elena Durazo was the leader. She later was elected president of the union and both Contreras and Durazo reconciled their differences and later married.

The labor movement was considered limited in its participation in local politics in the Los Angeles area in 1992. Contreras hired the AFL-CIO political director and was instrumental in successfully reuniting the various unions and their local leaders, and integrated himself in the city's power structure. The local unions were successful in securing livable wages and beating a state initiative to limit union dues, among other successes. He later was elected secretary-treasurer in 1996, and increased the union membership mostly with the Latino immigrant population.

He became nationally known, and was sought after by politicians at the local level and in Sacramento. His endorsement, with the backing of the affiliated unions, was tantamount to a candidate's successful election, and thus becoming a powerful political power broker.

Contreras is survived by his wife, Maria Elena Durazo and two sons, Michael and Mario.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

How can the governor say he is concerned about the needs of California's school children when he won't even talk to the people who are responsible for meeting those needs? At his "by invitation only" Town Hall meeting in Fontana on April 27, the Governor's own staff prevented individuals who were on the guest list, from attending the meeting when they identified themselves as teachers. Responsible decisions cannot be made in a vacuum. Our leaders need to listen to all points of view not just those they want to hear.

MT. VIEW CEMETARY TO HOLD MEMORIAL DAY CEREMONIES

John P Baca, SP4 Class, Congressional Medal of Honor recipient, will be the keynote speaker at the Annual Memorial Day Ceremonies at Mountain View Cemetery, San Bernardino, at 10:00 AM.

Mountain View Cemetery, 570 E. Highland Avenue, San Bernardino, has scheduled the Annual Memorial Day Ceremonies to be held on Monday, May 30, at 10:00 AM, with a full program of speakers and entertainment.

This year's speaker is Medal of Honor recipient John P. Baca, SP4 Class, United States Army. Baca entered the service at Fort Ord, California. He was honored when in Phuoc Long Province, Vietnam on February 10, 1970, he unhesitatingly covered a thrown grenade with his steel helmet and fell on it as the grenade exploded, absorbing the lethal fragments and concussion with his body, saving eight men from certain serious injury or death.

The program also includes Anthony Acevedo, who was a World War II prisoner of war. He was captured at the Battle of the Bulge and was held at the slave labor camp at Berga. Also participating are the Martin Luther King Middle School band, Edwards AFB Blue Eagles Honor Guard, the White Wing Ceremony, Rev. Edmund Gomez, from Immaculate Conception and San Salvador Churches, Leonard Armstrong, VFW Post 1744, and vocalist Ronald and son Michael Green, bugler.

Invited to attend are Congressman Joe Baca and San Bernardino Mayor Justin Valle.

Amidst a heavy rainstorm, Bishop Gerald Barnes dedicated Our Lady Queen of Peace Catholic Cemetery for the Diocese of Riverside and San Bernardino, under the protection of a heavy tent, with many church officials, Colton elected officials, Knights of Columbus-Fourth Degree Council as honor guards, and invited guests witnessing the religious ceremony on May 5, 2005.

Addressing the audience, Bishop Barnes said, “Our Lady Queen of Peace Catholic Cemetery represents the continued growth of the Diocese, and yet another way we are providing for the pastoral need of the Catholic community in Riverside and San Bernardino Counties.”

The dedication of the cemetery follows the dedication of the new five million-dollar seminary, Blessed Junipero Serra House in Grand Terrace.

Catholic Cemetery Dedicated

The new cemetery will feature a chapel/mausoleum on five acres of the 30 acres of donated property, and to be completed by January, according to Father Paul Granillo, Director of Catholic Communications for the Diocese.

The Diocese was established in November, 1978, and serves over one million Catholics covering 27,293 square miles, the 11th largest Diocese in the United States. Bishop Gerald Barnes was appointed the second Bishop of the Diocese in 1995. He previously served as Auxiliary Bishop of the Diocese since 1992. The cemetery had been in the planning stages since Pope Paul VI formed the Diocese.

The Diocesan Pastoral Center is located at 1201 East Highland Avenue, San Bernardino.

The Cultural Heritage Performers (CHP) of Moreno Valley is a group of individuals of various cultures, dedicated to the cause of cultural education, awareness, and appreciation.

CHP was founded by Henretta Mansell, during her early teen years in the late 1950's, and performances have been given in several states in the United States, Paris, France, and in the Philippines.

CHP has established an outline defining culture and ways in which people, especially young students, may become involved through arts, dance, drama, cultural classes and a variety of other positive activities.

Cultural Heritage Performers, founded by Henretta Mansell, recently sponsored a group of middle and high school students to an international breakfast at Home Town Buffet, Rancho. Students of different backgrounds interacted and discussed issues, events, and concerns on a daily basis. SINFONIA MEXICANA-DIA DE LAS MADRES CONCERT HUGE SUCCESS

SINFONIA MEXICANA-DIA DE LAS MADRES CONCERT A SPECIAL EVENT
By Dr. Luis S. Gonzalez

The Historic California Theater for the Performing Arts in San Bernardino played host to a delightful mariachi concert Saturday evening, May 7, 2005, featuring Mariachi Vargas de Tecalitlan. Sharing the program was the well-known Mariachi Champana Nevin Chamber Orchestra, under the direction of Jeff Nevin, who also treated the Sinfonia faithful to several stylized trumpet introductions, fanfares and cadenzas.

For those who have followed Sinfonia Mexicana over the years, this 20th anniversary marked the fifth time a special "Las Madres" concert was presented, and, as expected, the audience was not disappointed. From the opening "Mexico Lindo," played by the chamber orchestra, to the closing "Volver, Volver" medley by Mariachi Vargas, the audience enjoyed the varied program of classical music (with mariachi flavoring, of course) and an assortment of rancheras, boleros and romanzas. I knew I was hooked when the audience began to clap, sing and whistle along with the featured performers, as well as contribute the traditional "gritos" that so many mariachi lovers love to shout.

Nevin's chamber orchestra - consisting of a dozen strings, three woodwinds and a trio of rhythm guitars - provided a perfect blend of classical sound with that mariachi touch. After the opening number, Nevin's trumpet soared with a vibrant "sizzling" sound leading into the well-known "O Solo Mio" medley beautifully sung by special guest Florencia Tinoco. While Nevin's solo reminded me of the famous solo recordings of Rafael Mendez, Tinoco captured my attention with her heart-felt emotion and coloratura flair.

The "Tango de Amore" and "Payaso" provided a nice contrast as well as showcase the performing abilities of the members of the orchestra. The tango rhythm, flute stylings, muted trumpet and violin staccato work were all effectively performed. The orchestra certainly...

had a great feel for this type of concert and masterfully complemented the challenging arrangements offered by Maestro Nevin. One highlight for the music aficionado was Kevin's arrangement of "Estrellita," which complemented Ponce's solo theme with an introduction that would make Charles Ives jealous. His eerie string tremolos layered by the mystical trumpet background was very reminiscent of Ives' mature work. "The Unanswered Question" Maestro Nevin and the chamber orchestra are to be congratulated on a fine program expertly performed.

The second half provided just the right balance to a perfect evening with the famous Mariachi Vargas presenting just what the audience wanted to hear—pure mariachi. This accomplished group, known throughout the world, thrilled the audience with a seemingly unending collection of mariachi favorites, many that were incorporated into well-designed medleys of contrasting styles and tempos. What was most impressive were the varied talents of the individual musicians of Mariachi Vargas. Each individual was presented, downstage throughout the concert, either in solo song, part of a small group, or as featured instrumentalist. Not only are all the musicians accomplished singers, but several are actually virtuosos on their instruments, most notably the harpist.

Once the Mariachi was able to draw the audience in with the singing of "El Rancho Grande," the night was declared a success. That tune as well as other favorites such as "Cuatro Milpas," "Noche de Veracruz" and "Sabes una Cosa" made the audience part of the performance and part of the musical memories from this concert that will last for years to come. The Sinfonia Mexicana Society and corporate sponsors are to be congratulated on a very successful concert highlighted by an excellent program, outstanding artists and a continued commitment to the life and culture of the San Bernardino community.

Dr. Luis S. Gonzalez is a local trumpet player, conductor, music educator and researcher in the Inland Empire. He is director of bands at Colton High School and a former assistant professor of music at Cal State San Bernardino.

Ampliación de la Calle State,
Intersección de la Avenida Highland

Las cuadrillas de construcción estarán removien­ do postes, una caja de teléfono y una carretera cerca de la intersección de la Avenida Highland y la calle State en preparación para la ampliación de estas calles este verano.

Las remociones iniciarán a fines de mayo y la construcción en el área durará por lo menos hasta final de año. Las mejoras en esta intersección inclui­ rán:

■ Se agregará en ambos sentidos un carril para dar vuelta a la izquierda y un carril para dar vuelta a la derecha, tanto con dirección al norte como al sur.
■ Un carril para dar vuelta a la izquierda y uno para dar vuelta a la derecha se agregará a la avenida Highland en dirección al este.
■ Dos carriles para dar vuelta a la izquierda se agregarán a la avenida Highland con dirección oeste.

Continuará el acceso a los negocios durante la construcción.

¿Qué es ese ruido? Tápese los oídos. Cuadrillas de la Ruta 210 están instalando vigas de acero en el suelo en las calles State y California cerca de la avenida Highland, para anclar puentes para la nueva autopista. Esto es conocido como "hincar pilotes" y es una opera­ ción muy ruidosa y durará varias semanas. Este trabajo sólo se hará entre semana, de 7 a.m. a 5 p.m.
