Sergeant Ysmael "Smiley" Villegas, born and raised In Riverside, was the recipient of the Congressional Medal of Honor for his heroic assault and neutralizing five machine gun emplacements in the Villa Verde Trail, Luzon, Philippine Islands on March 20, 1945. ARMIC MEDICAL DIRECTOR INSTALLED AS PRESIDENT OF CALIFORNIA MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

Colton, CA - Dr. Dev GnanaDev, Arrowhead Regional Medical Center medical director and advocate of quality health care for those who are less fortunate, was installed as president of the California Medical Association (CMA) Sunday in Sacramento.

Dr. GnanaDev, chief of surgery and medical director at ARMC since 2000, becomes only the third physician from San Bernardino or Riverside counties to serve as president in the CMA's 152-year history.

The CMA, formed in 1856, is an advocacy organization that represents more than 34,000 California physicians. Dedicated to the health of Californians, CMA is active in the legal, legislative, reimbursement and regulatory areas on behalf of physicians and their patients.

"I'm honored to serve as President of the CMA," said Dr. GnanaDev, who has been active in the association for 27 years and served on its Board of Trustees since 2000. "My focus has always been on improving access to quality health care for the citizens of this community, especially those who are uninsured or underinsured." Dr. GnanaDev has won numerous awards for his work on behalf of lower-income patients. He received the Medical Board of California's Physician Recognition Award in 2005, for contributions in the caring of indigent patients. In 2007, he won the prestigious American Medical Association's Pride in the Profession Award, given annually to physicians who have dedicated their careers to serving people with little or no health insurance.

"This is a great honor for Arrowhead Regional Medical Center and all public hospitals," said ARMC Medical Director Patrick Petre. "We stand with Dr. GnanaDev as he steps into his presidency at CMA during a critical time for health care in our state and our nation."

Board certified in general surgery, vascular surgery and surgical critical care, Dr. GnanaDev earned his Medical Degree in Kurnool, India, at Kurnool Medical College. Dr. GnanaDev, his wife, Rosaria, and their children, Monica, Yamuna and Raja, live in Upland.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY OFFICE OF EDUCATION AWARDED SCIENCE GRANT

Kenneth M. Young, Riverside County Superintendent of Schools, announced that the Riverside County Office of Education (RCOE) has been awarded a $332,000 federal grant to benefit science students and teachers, in its Career Technical Education (CTE) program.

For students, the grant will be used to support a CTE Science Careers course at Norco High School. In this course, students will learn about what it takes to obtain a career in science. They will also have the opportunity to intern at high-tech companies and receive real-world experience in science careers.

For teachers, the grant will provide special training in science instruction. It will also pay for teachers to attend a summer institute in science instruction offered through Cal Poly Pomona. The grant will pay for teachers to spend time at high-tech companies and see how their classroom instruction connects with real-world job applications.

The grant was made possible by the Fund for the Improvement of Education (FIE), which supports "programs of national significance" and was obtained by RCOE with the assistance of Congressman Ken Calvert.

TIM PRINCE ENDORSED BY CALIFORNIA TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

REDLANDS — Tim Prince, the Democratic nominee for the 41st Congressional District, has received the endorsement of the California Teachers Association, according to Patrick Kahler, campaign manager.

David Sanchez, President of the statewide teachers union, stated in a letter dated Oct. 14, that Prince received the endorsement for his "stated educational positions." The Burlingame-based CTA is one of the most powerful unions in the state.

Prince would rewrite the "No Child Left Behind" law to retrace its unfunded mandates on state and allow more decisions on how a child should learn to be made by teachers in the classroom.

Prince attended public schools, graduated from San Bernardino High School and the University of California. His mother and grandmother were public school teachers, and his daughter attends kindergarten in the same classroom that Tim attended.

Prince proposes innovative programs to attract and retain high quality teachers and to encourage greater participation by parents at all grade levels.

Prince has repeatedly requested incumbent 41st Congressman Jerry Lewis to debate on the issues facing the nation and congressional district. Lewis has declined the invitation, according to Prince’s campaign headquarters.

For more information contact Tim Prince for Congress, FEC/C00441097, Campaign Manager Patrick Kahler at (909) 222-7780 or Communications Director Sam Clauder at (909) 496-4310.

WASHINGTON, DC – President Bush signed into law legislation introduced by Congressman Joe Baca (D-Rialto), to designate the Friday after Thanksgiving as Native American Heritage Day. The Native American Heritage Day Bill, H.J. Res. 62, is supported by the National Indian Gaming Association (NIGA) and 184 federally recognized tribes, and designates Friday, November 28, 2008, as a day to pay tribute to Native Americans for their many contributions to the United States.

"I am pleased the President took quick action on signing this legislation, which recognizes the importance of Native Americans to our history and culture," said Rep. Baca. "It is critical that we honor the contributions of Native Americans and ensure all Americans are properly educated on their heritage and many achievements."

The Native American Heritage Day Bill encourages Americans of all backgrounds to observe Friday, November 28, as Native American Heritage Day, through appropriate ceremonies and activities. It also encourages public elementary and secondary schools to enhance student understanding of Native Americans by providing classroom instruction focusing on their history, achievements, and contributions. As a state Assemblyman, Rep. Baca diligently fought and introduced the legislation that established the fourth Friday of September as Native American Day in California – which became state law in 1998. On September 26, 2008, the House of Representatives unanimously voted to pass the legislation. The legislation was signed into public law by the President on October 8, 2008. Rep. Baca added, "Native Americans and their ancestors have played a vital role in the formation of our nation. They have fought with valor and died in every American war dating back to the Revolutionary War, and deserve this special acknowledgement."

"I am proud to have introduced and passed the legislation that creates a national day of recognition. I thank my good friend James Ramos, now Chairman of the San Manuel Band of Mission Indians, for standing with me from the beginning on this long journey to ensure the contributions of Native Americans are recognized and appreciated by all," stated Baca.

SAVE ON THE SWITCH TO DIGITAL TV

(NAPS)—For 50 years, entertainment has been delivered to your television as an analog signal. Now everything is going digital. Beginning February 17, 2009 the U.S. will shift to digital-only television broadcasts. As of that date, analog TVs that use antennae will need a digital-to-analog (DTA) converter box to continue receiving broadcasts. By choosing an ENERGY STAR-qualified DTA converter box, you can save energy, save money and help fight global warming.

Most home energy comes from power plants burning fossil fuels, which in turn creates greenhouse gas emissions that add to global warming. If all DTA converter boxes sold in the United States were ENERGY STAR qualified Americans would reduce greenhouse gases equal to the emissions from 1 million cars.

Look for the ENERGY STAR label when you're in the market for other electronic products, including TVs, DVD players, computers, printers and copiers. This product meets strict energy-efficiency guidelines set by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and comes with the same features and functions that standard products offer.

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS ALLIANCE FOR EDUCATION SECURES $286,898 FEDERAL EARMARK

SAN BERNARDINO - The San Bernardino County Superintendent of Schools' Alliance for Education program recently was awarded a $286,898 federal earmark for two years to be used for its Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) initiative.

The earmark will be used to expand the countywide STEM initiative at the Yucaipa High School Ninth Grade Campus and Yucaipa High School. The two sites will create a comprehensive academy and career technical program of study, following STEM/pre-engineering models.

"We certainly are pleased with the federal earmark to help expand our STEM program," said Leslie Rodden, director of the County Schools' Higher Education and Workforce Development unit. "The Alliance's goal with STEM is to increase opportunities for our county students to pursue higher education and careers in math and science."

Congressman Joe Baca (D-Rialto) announced that the federal earmark had been secured through the U.S. Department of Education on Sept. 24.

The Alliance for Education has existing STEM programs at the following high schools in San Bernardino County: Barstow, Chaffey, Don Lugo, Eisenhower, Silverado, Upland and Victor Valley.

The Alliance for Education began more than five years ago by the County Schools office to build an educational and workforce preparation system for students. More than 1,500 leaders in business, labor, government, education, community and faith-based groups have partnered with the Alliance to advance the attainment of academic and workforce skills of students and young adults and prepare them as a qualified labor pool for San Bernardino County employers.

The Alliance for Education employs cutting-edge approaches to strengthen standards-based and academically rigorous curriculum by integrating hands-on learning opportunities offered by its partners. The Alliance consists of three system components that are designed to prepare an educated and skilled workforce: education, family involvement, and economic/workforce development.

For more information concerning the Alliance for Education, contact Rodden at (909) 386-2636 or via email at leslie_rodden@sbcss.kl2.ca.us.

HONORING OUR MILITARY HEROES

The City of Riverside, veteran groups, businesses and community volunteers dedicated the Villegas Memorial Veterans Statue on Saturday, May 27, 1995 in honor of Sergeant Ysmaei "Smiley" Villegas. of Congressional Medal of Honor recipient Staff Sergeant Ysmaei "Smiley" Villegas. Charles Villegas, son of Sgt. Villegas, unveiled the statue. Photo by IEN

The 20-year-old infantryman was a squad leader in Company E, 127th Infantry, 32nd (Red Arrow) Infantry. Sergeant Villegas died while attacking a full force of enemy on a hill a chance to get a bead on him. He went down in a tornado of fire. While the youthful squad leader fell, the battle was eventually lost by the Japanese hill defenders. First Lieutenant Will D. Zahniser, whose home is in Edinboro, Pennsylvania, reported: "The men were so incensed at his death, they charged through the strong point, driving out the enemy. When their charge was over, 75 Japanese soldiers laid dead in their foxholes."

Only three weeks before, Sergeant Villegas had been the recipient of the Silver Star for gallantly destroying a Japanese machine gun nest.

SOLDIERS BRING HOME OLYMPIC GOLD

(NAPS)—America's military serves the country in more ways than many people realize. For example, two U.S. Army athletes who honed their sights on a target fulfilling both a mission and a dream—Army marksmen, Spc. Glenn Eller from Katy, Texas and Pfc. Vincent Hancock from Eatonton, Ga.—now wear gold medals from the Beijing Olympics around their necks. Olympic Dreams

I have dreamed of going to the Olympics ever since I was 12, but I never really thought I would do it. The Army has given me the confidence I needed to make it go from a dream to reality," Hancock said.

He and Eller are part of an elite team made up of some of the best shooters in the world. As members of the U.S. Army Marksmanship Unit (USAMU), their mission was to bring home gold medals. Hancock, who is 19 years old, won his first gold medal while competing in skeet shooting. Eller, who is 26 years old, set an Olympic record en route to winning his first gold medal in double trap.

"To win an Olympic gold medal for the United States and see the flag raised for your country as an Army soldier is the ultimate honor," Eller said.

Medals for Marksmen

Six USAMU soldiers won seven slots on the U.S. Olympic Shooting Team. Since the unit was formed, Army marksmen have brought home 22 Olympic medals.

"Since I joined, I have had nothing but the best training facilities and the absolute best teammates to push and support me. It makes such a huge difference. I don't think this would have ever happened without them," Eller said.

Army Proud

"I am very proud to be able to represent the Army and my country, which is why I am dedicating my gold medal to my fellow soldiers. This is my mission and I have succeeded," said Hancock.

HEALTHY IDEAS

(NAPS)—All pets are at risk for parasites—not just those who live primarily outdoors. And when there are small children in the house, there is additional risk of children picking up parasitic disease from their pets. An easy, effective way to protect your pet is to use a monthly oral parasite preventive, available through veterinary clinics. To learn more, visit www.growingupwithpets.com.

- I found a way to build a football stadium for Rialto High School (the State will not provide any funding for this purpose) without impacting the General Fund.
- I found a way to save money for Health Benefits for our employees by identifying and hiring a new Fund Administrator. The first year under the new system, the District saved over three million dollars. Funds saved were then used for employee compensation. The General Fund has realized substantial savings every subsequent year under this new direction.
- I have served as a teacher's aide in every school in the District for the past nine years.
- I have, at my own expense, taken groups of Rialto students on field trips to such places as The Magic Castle, the opera "Esperanza", plays, factories, auto designers, to see the first Mars Landing live, and more.
- I have brought many innovative programs to our School District to excite and challenge our students about learning, such as Science For All On Wheels (under the direction of Marta Brown).
- I brought the concept for our "Puttin' on the Ritz" fine arts show to the District which has raised over $30,000.00 each year which is then given to teachers who want to do special Fine Arts programs for their students.
- I sponsor yearly events, such as Student Government Day and The Collective Bargaining Project (an alternative conflict resolution program) for Rialto students.

ICE CONDUCTS 1,172 RAIDS IN ELEVEN MONTHS
By Jorge Morales Almada-La Opinion

LOS ANGELES — In less than a year, Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) has conducted 1,172 worksite raids across the country. In 11 months, from Oct. 1, 2007 to Aug. 31, 2008, ICE arrested 4,956 people in these operations, of which 1,022 were either wanted for criminal charges or had a deportation order against them. Of those arrested 116 people were owners, managers, supervisors or human resources employees who were accused of hiring undocumented immigrants.

Those who did not have documents to work in the country were charged with identity theft, Social Security fraud or were given an administrative charge under immigration law.

This data is limited to ICE raids on companies or factories, and does not include the organization’s actions in specific neighborhoods or homes.

One of these raids was carried out May 12 in the meat processing plant Agriprocessors Inc., in Postville, Iowa, where 389 undocumented workers were reportedly detained.

According to information disclosed by ICE to The Des Moines Register in Iowa, this raid cost more than $5.2 million in research, operational and processing expenses. This figure does not include expenses by the Department of Labor or the federal attorney general.

Considering that $3.2 billion was spent in the Postville raid to detain 389 workers - or more than $13,300 spent per detainee - then for the nearly 5,000 arrests made in more than 1,000 ICE raids, ICE would have spent an estimated $66 million.

"ICE specializes in wasting money and ruining lives," said Angelica Salas, director of the Coalition for Humane Immigrant Rights of Los Angeles(CHIRLA).

"In these times of economic hardship, we need to do a better job of reviewing how they are spending tax dollars. Wasting funds and breaking apart working families are not consistent with American values. The worst part about these raids is that apart from the people who were trapped in the wrong place at the wrong time, many times they have been denied their right to due process," she added.

On Tuesday Congressman Steve King, R-Iowa, told the Iowa press that ICE should enforce the law regardless of the cost to taxpayers.

"If we start saying, 'Well, it costs too much money to enforce the law," then we will see more and more of these radical, pro-illegal immigration activists drive more wedges between us and make it harder to enforce the law," Congressman King told the Des Moines Register.

During fiscal year 2007, ICE was able to collect about $30 million in fines to employers who hired undocumented immigrants.

During the same time period, from Oct. 1, 2006 to Sept. 30, 2007, some 4,940 immigrants were arrested, of which 863 had criminal records. About 90 of these were business owners or supervisors.

As part of their job of impeding companies from hiring undocumented immigrants who are not authorized to work in the country, ICE has updated the records of 6.5 million employees through the E-Verify program.
