Friday Bulletin
ORGANIZATIONAL CHANGES PLANNED IN ACADEMIC AFFAIRS

Several organizational changes, including realignment of responsibilities and different titles, will be implemented this fall in the Academic Affairs area.

The dean of academic planning will become the associate vice president, academic programs. The person, who will succeed Dr. Ralph Petrucci, will be responsible for developing the academic master plan, overseeing the development of new and revised curricular programs, revising the College Bulletin and Graduate Bulletin, coordinating accreditation self-studies and periodic program reviews. The new associate vice president will supervise the associate deans for academic programs, undergraduate studies and graduate studies and the directors of audiovisual services and institutional research.

The new associate dean for academic programs position will be filled by H. Stephen Prouty, who is transferring from his current position as associate dean of admissions and records. Prouty has been the admissions director for the college since the year before it opened.

Dr. Catherine Gannon, currently associate dean of academic planning, will become associate dean, undergraduate programs. The associate dean, graduate programs will assume responsibilities now held by Dr. Lee Kalbus, who will return to full-time teaching in the Chemistry Department.

Also designated as an associate vice president will be Dr. James D. Thomas, now dean of academic administration. In his new position as associate vice president, academic resources, he will be responsible for allocation of resources, resolution of space problems and supervision of the Computer Center.

Dr. J. Cordell Robinson, now associate vice president for academic affairs, will become associate vice president, academic personnel. He will be responsible for faculty recruiting, affirmative action, faculty evaluation procedures, leaves and related faculty matters, hearing complaints of discrimination or sexual harassment, maintaining faculty records and revising faculty handbooks.

The current part-time position as assistant dean of academic administration, held by Florence Weiser, will become a full-time, 12-month position designated as director of sponsored programs.

Vice President Scherba explained that the change in designation for these college-level administrative positions is being undertaken in order to use titles found in similar positions at other CSU institutions, and to reflect more accurately the responsibilities of these individuals in the titles of their positions.

Dr. Richard Ackley, associate dean of academic administration, has decided to return to full-time teaching in political science.

Dr. Petrucci will be on leave next academic year, working on the fourth edition of his chemistry textbook, and then will return to teaching in the Department of Chemistry.

National searches are now being conducted for the deans of admissions, records and outreach, the associate vice president, academic resources and the director of sponsored programs, as well as the dean of students and the executive dean for college relations.

NO MORE 'DEAD DAY' AFTER REGISTRATION

This spring, for the first time in the history of the college, late registration and program changes will begin on what traditionally has been a "dead day," between regular registration and the start of late registration. Regular registration this quarter is Wednesday and Thursday, March 30 and 31. The dates, times and places for late registration are:

EVENING CHILD CARE TO BEGIN THIS FALL

The Child Care Center is accepting registration for evening child care, which will begin in September. Students, staff and faculty may register their children ages two through 14 for this new service. Care will be offered from 6 to 10 p.m., Mondays through Thursdays. The fee will be approximately $1.50 per hour for a minimum of two hours. Registrations, which are being taken now, can be made by calling Pam Dortch (Children's Center), Ext. 7724.

NOTICE

The college has learned that Guadalupe Melendez of San Bernardino, a senior political science major, died in mid-January.
CONGRESSMAN BROWN TO TALK
On Federal Funding Sources

Congressman George E. Brown will visit the campus Tuesday, March 29, to speak on federal funding sources. Faculty, staff and administrators are invited to attend the meeting from 2 to 3:30 p.m. in PL 500 South.

Brown and his staff have expressed their willingness to assist the college in its efforts to obtain funding from federal agencies. He has been asked to discuss programs of interest to the various disciplines. An informal discussion period will follow his brief talk.

Persons with suggestions on related matters which Brown might address should call Florence Welser, grants coordinator, Ext. 7517.

BILL WA REHALL'S ART
FEATURED IN EXHIBIT

Ceramic and glass works by Bill Warehall (Art) will be featured in an exhibit opening Monday, March 28 in the Art Gallery.

Because of the spring quarter break, the reception honoring the artist will be delayed until Wednesday, April 6 from 7:30 to 10 p.m. in the Gallery. A blend of the traditional with the contemporary, Warehall's one-man show closes April 15.

Warehall uses a primitive, low-firing technique for many of his contemporary pieces made of woven coil. Also among the 40 pieces on display will be traditional container forms of glass with luster and silicon etching.

Warehall has exhibited his works at museums and galleries across the United States. He received his B.F.A. from Wayne State University in Michigan and his M.F.A. from the University of Wisconsin.

NOTEWORTHY

Joe Moran (Art) was one of five southern California artists whose works were featured in a "3-D Imagery" exhibit at UC, Riverside.

Dr. Ansa Ojanlatva (Health Science and Human Ecology) has been nominated for inclusion in the 19th edition of Who's Who in the West, 1984-85.

ARTICLES

Dr. Michael Clarke (Public Administration) has an article titled "Health Care Strikes: Issues and Trends" published in the January issue of Connecticut Medicine.

Drs. Lee H. Kalbus, Kenneth A. Mantei and Ralph H. Petrucci (all Chemistry) have an article published in the February edition of the Journal of College Science Teaching. Titled "A Laboratory Demonstration of the Conservation of Energy," the article explains an experiment developed by the three professors that allows students to observe and experience the principle in operation. The experiment currently is used in chemistry classes on campus.

IN SYMPATHY

The college community extends sympathy to Charlotte Martinez (Custodial Services), whose husband, Elys Martinez, died March 14 in Fontana.
Dr. Robert Blackey (History) spoke to two advanced placement classes—one in American history, one in European history—at Eisenhower High School in Rialto March 11 on ways students can improve their test-taking skills.

Dr. Wallace Cleaves (Psychology) and senior Sheryl L. Wilson, a psychology major, have a paper titled "Sequencing the Attentional Mechanisms in Borderline and Mildly Retarded Children" accepted for the Western Psychological Assn. conference in April in San Francisco.

Dr. Frances Coles (Criminal Justice) spoke on "Women and the Law" March 14 at Aquinas High School in San Bernardino.

Dr. Marvin Frost (Geography) spoke on "The Okefenokee Swamp" to members of the San Bernardino High Twelve Club March 11.

Jeanne Hogenson (Activities) spoke on "Women in U.S. History" March 11 as part of Women's Week events at the Veteran's Administration Hospital in Loma Linda.

Dr. N. K. Khokhlov (Psychology) was interviewed by KABC on campus March 3. The interview is expected to air during May as part of a program on the KGB.

Dr. Ellen Kronowitz (Education) presented a session on "Centering on Israel" at the annual meeting of the California Council for the Social Studies March 13 in San Jose.

Dr. Janice Loutzenhiser (Business Administration) spoke on "To Will or Not to Will" May 24 at Aquinas High School in San Bernardino.

Dr. Terrell Manyak (Business Administration) represented the Liaison Committee for Business Administration, Southern Section, at the statewide meeting of the Articulation Council of California March 9 in Ontario.

Dr. Ward McAfee (Social and Behavioral Sciences) discussed Hinduism, Buddhism and Islam March 11 at Victor Valley Senior High School.

Dr. Bradford Wilson (Political Science) participated in a three-day colloquium for scholars from the U.S. and Canada March 3-5 at Marina Del Rey. Sponsored by the Reason Foundation, the colloquium was on "The Welfare State and Individual Responsibility."

Dr. David Shichor (Sociology) presented a paper on "Patterns of Elderly Lawbreaking in Urban, Suburban and Rural Areas: What do the Arrest Statistics Tell Us?" at the second annual Elderly Offender Conference Feb. 24 in Miami. It will be published later by Anderson Publishing Co. in a book, The Elderly Offender.

Gregory A. Thomson (College Police) presented classes on cardiopulmonary resuscitation techniques Feb. 18, 25 and March 9 in the Student Union. The participants received a card certifying their new proficiency.

Dr. Edward M. White (English) was a featured speaker during a conference on "Writing Assessment in the '80s," sponsored by the National Testing Network in Writing March 3-4 in New York. He also participated in the grading of the CBEST proficiency examinations for California teachers March 11-13 in Berkeley.

Donna Ziebarth (Nursing) spoke about "Child Abuse and Neglect" March 17 at Victor Valley Senior High School.
A total of 101 pints of blood has been credited to the re­serve fund as a result of the March 9 blood drive on campus. Although 121 people tried to donate, 20 were ineligible. Of the 101 donors, 78 were students, 15 staff, six faculty and two visitors.

Mojave was the residence hall that brought in the most donors. Its name will be engraved on the Blood Bank plaque. Also, Mojave won the ice cream social, courtesy of Village Council. Student Richard Spangler won the Intramural T-Shirt. Student Inez Alvarado was Dracula this year, and student Rose Versage helped the drive by obtaining free restaurant coupons for dorm donors.

Persons wishing to donate blood may visit the local Blood Bank in San Bernardino and request that the donation be credited to the Cal State Blood Reserve Fund.

Eight seminars on educational computing topics are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, April 22 and 23, the first two days of the Microtechnology for Everybody (ME) Festival.

Subjects are writing skills and computers; introduction to microcomputers in education; integrating computers into the classroom curriculum; implementing classroom computer networks; computers in special education; "Bits and Bytes," a computer literacy play; evaluating educational software; and the use of video disks in education. The cost is $5 per seminar.

Counselors and business teachers from community colleges in the service area will be on campus for the Community College Interaction Day, sponsored by the School of Administration on Friday of the ME Festival. A primary purpose of the occasion is to provide the visitors information on administration programs here and to give School of Administration representatives ideas on how they can build communication with the community colleges. The guests will attend a special luncheon and a ME Festival seminar on "Stress and Computer Users," as well as visit the microtechnology exhibit in the Gymnasium.

The Cal State Associates reports that its March 12 yard sale was a whopping success, with $400 earned. Plans are to use the money to fund a campus project. Working at the event were Karla Christie, Anne Crum, Stephen Domingues, Christy Gannon, Catherine Gannon, Jeanne Hogenson, Jennifer McMullen, Linda Pederson, Ina Turner and Marlene Wepf.
