Early voting

Kristy Evans Staff Writer

The Early Vote Pilot Program (EVPP) will be held on campus in the lobby of the Santos Manuel Student Union May 22-25. The early voting program offers a new trend in voting convenience and technology aside from absentee voting.

According to a CSUSB public affairs press release regarding the early voting, early voting is different from absentee voting for many reasons.

Early voting utilizes the same voting technologies used in regular elections, whereas absentee voting, although done early, is done strictly through the mail.

So, for those voters who like to actively partake in the voting process, the EVPP provides a similar arena for voting that will be on polling places on June 6.

The Early Vote Pilot Program at CSUSB offers new voting machines that feature secure access with paper printed ballots. These machines have recently become available in San Bernardino, Riverside and San Diego counties within local precincts and other places within both counties.

According to an article written by Gregor McClain on the Press Continued on Pg 2.

Prize of diploma

Jace Stark Staff Writer

California high school students have been promoting the high school exit exams. The exit examination is a standard test all high school students would have to pass in order to earn a high school diploma.

A group of students won an injection in their audit against the state on the May 12.

The group claimed that the audit is unfair to those still trying to master English and low-income students attending under funded schools according to www.student.org.

Superior Court Judge Robert J. Freedman issued the injunction that effectively orders districts to offer diplomas to students in the class of 2012 who did not pass the California High School Exit Examination (CAHSEE).

According to Freedman, he signed an order in the plaintiff's favor noting that the exit exam is unfair because all California public school students have access to the same quality of education.

"What all this is about is equal education," stated Ardron Gomrell, the lawyer for the students, to www.constitutionmoror.org.

"Until you have that you can't deprive students like those of the audit access to the education, the diploma," the CARBEE holds test Continued on Pg 2.

Complete program

Daniel McKay Staff Writer

The Inland Empire Job Corps Center is available to the community of San Bernardino and provides both academic and vocational training for students.

Center training programs provide on-the-job, individualized instruction for new and experienced vocational and technical workers.

Funding for the new building has been allocated through a variety of sources, including the Desert Healthcare District in the Coachella Valley which has given $2 million in grants.

"This is a great boost to our building program," said Job Corps Desert Campus, "This Desert Healthcare District is also offering another $1 million to the university as a challenge grant."

This amount will be given to the Palm Desert Campus only if the university raises $1 million in matching funds from the three acute-care hospitals operating in the Coachella Valley, Desert Regional Medical Center (Palm Springs), Eisenhower Medical Center Continued on Pg 2.

Walkathon for the option house inc.

Stephanie Lessenmuller/ Guest Photographer

Amanda Lessenmuller, a 17 year-old local high school that was one of many to complete the High School Exit Exam.

"Spousal abuse is a tragedy that occurs to nearly one in every three adult women at least once in their lifetime, and is experienced by an average of four million American women annually," states a library ready done on spousal abuse.

A survey reported that out of a nationally representative sample of 3,143 couples in 1975, 26 percent had experienced violence at some point in their marriage, and 16 percent had experienced violence within the past year.

Many of these victims have been so intimidated, dehumanized and isolated from help that they believe they have no options and no one to go to for immediate assistance.

These individuals may continue to stay in their hazardous relationships, believing that it is their only choice.

It is for this reason that CSUSB and Option House Inc. have hosted its third annual Walk-A-Thon to end domestic violence against families.

CSUSB's Sociology Club, Women's Resource Center and Continued Pg 2.
Primary elections

Competitive, the new voting practices allow more minority and third-party candidates on a paper ballot displayed at each polling location before electronically casting their votes. The new voting machines that have been described by The San Bernardino County Registrar of Voters as "user-friendly and convenient" have been used in other counties.

At the elections, a Supervisor of Elections poll worker will be on hand to assist in the electronic voting processes.

The participants of the Walk-A-Thon set Saturday May 20, 2006, in the County Courthouse parking lot on Arrowhead and 5th streets in San Bernardino to participate in the six-mile walk, which was sponsored by the San Bernardino County Superintendents of Schools.

The walk ended at the CSUSB Student Center where participants gathered for an awareness rally, refreshments and drawings.

The new health-science building on the campus, a $20 million dollar project that was fully funded through state grants and donations for its primary building fund, is to improve student achievement for its students who graduate from the California State University by meeting the rigorous expectations of employers.

Marr, another CSUSB Sociology professor and advisor of the Sociology High School Internship, played a key role in promoting the new building. "The CSUSB Sociology Department is to improve student achievement for our students who graduate from high school to demonstrate grade level competency in reading, writing and math, according to the American Council on Education's website."

"In 2000 would have been the first place since 1999 that "Job Corps diploma" did not pass the exam, according to the state of California's database system for tracking their program progress to make sure voting for easier for voters and reduce waiting time at polling places, according to the state of California's database system for tracking their program progress. "Job Corps has been one of the principal advocate of this advisor of the Sociology club, also being the project is the city of Palmdale. On October 27, 2005, the Palm Desert Redevelopment Agency held a public hearing and approved Resolution 50-1 to advance $4.5 million to the community of California State University, San Bernardino. The proposal was reviewed several months ago before being approved by the city's City Council.

This significant amount would finance a new secondary school for "Job Corps" students, according to the California Department of Education. This is to improve student achievement for its students who graduate from the California State University by meeting the rigorous expectations of employers.

The walk ended at the CSUSB Student Center where participants gathered for an awareness rally, refreshments and drawings.

The second building, the new health-science building on the campus, a $20 million dollar project that was fully funded through state grants and donations for its primary building fund, is to improve student achievement for its students who graduate from the California State University by meeting the rigorous expectations of employers.

The new building has been a crucial part of CSUSB's plans for the Palm Desert campus for close to five years.

Other projects that have been constructed on the campus.

The health-science building at Palm Desert is a part of the county's comprehensive master plan for the Palm Desert campus.

"Job Corps has been one of the principal advocate of this advisor of the Sociology club, also being the project is the city of Palmdale. On October 27, 2005, the Palm Desert Redevelopment Agency held a public hearing and approved Resolution 50-1 to advance $4.5 million to the community of California State University, San Bernardino. The proposal was reviewed several months ago before being approved by the city's City Council.

This significant amount would finance a new secondary school for "Job Corps" students, according to the California Department of Education. This is to improve student achievement for its students who graduate from the California State University by meeting the rigorous expectations of employers.

The walk ended at the CSUSB Student Center where participants gathered for an awareness rally, refreshments and drawings.

The second building, the new health-science building on the campus, a $20 million dollar project that was fully funded through state grants and donations for its primary building fund, is to improve student achievement for its students who graduate from the California State University by meeting the rigorous expectations of employers.

The new building has been a crucial part of CSUSB's plans for the Palm Desert campus for close to five years.
Called to counsel? Then you are invited!

Professional Counseling Career Workshop at CBU Riverside

Why attend this event?
Great question. By attending this event, you will

- Learn more about career opportunities available to licensed marriage and family therapists (LMFT) from experienced professionals
- Meet the director of CBU's graduate counseling psychology program
- Hear from current and former graduate students about their experiences at CBU and how their degree has prepared them to achieve their goals
- Get the inside track on CBU's graduate admissions requirements and financial aid services
- Network with workshop attendees from regional schools, churches and government agencies.

Gourmet hors d'oeuvres will be provided.

Space is limited - to reserve your seat or make an appointment with a CBU Graduate Admissions Counselor, call 951.343.4249 or send a note to graduateadmissions@calbaptist.edu

Thursday, May 25
6:30 pm to 8:00 pm
James Bldg. Room 181

CBU Riverside
is conveniently located at 8432 Magnolia Avenue in Riverside between Adams and Monroe.

For detailed directions, visit www.calbaptist.edu/maps

calbaptist.edu/MFT
CSUSB showcases culinary skills

Jaymeen Merritt
Staff Writer

At the temperature rises in Southern California, the faculty and staff at Cal State Bernardino gets into the kitchen.

With the release of "Cal State Cooks," the administration, faculty and staff put the opportunity to showcase their culinary prowess.

The cookbook features selected recipes from 1965 through 2005.

It is one of several documents this year that celebrate the 40th anniversary of the founding of the center.

In the introduction by Marilyn Karig, CSUSB President Albert K. Karig's wife and renowned local philanthropist, she explains the evolution of the cookbook and how it came to be.

"In 1970 the Faculty Wives at Cal State Bernardino issued a 94 booklet called College Cuisine, the profits of which helped support the club's scholarship fund.

"An 87 page sequel, College Courses II, followed in 1974. But the Faculty Wives gradually faded away, and nothing else like the cookbook was ever published again, until Johnnie Ann Ralph, Dean of the John M. Pius Library, proposed that the campus sponsor a third cookbook in conjunction with the University's, fourteenth anniversary celebration."

The cookbook is dedicated "To Those Who Came Before: The Faculty Wives and Staff of the University of Southern California, San Bernardino, and was edited by Johnnie Ann Ralph and Michael Burgess, retired professor and librarian.

The six cleverly titled chapters cover the entire breadth of a meal from start to finish.

They are: Potluck Recipes (Drinks, Appetizers, Dips, Etc.), Major Courses (Main Dishes), Minor Courses (Vegetables and Side Dishes), Extravagant Activities (Salads and Soup), Elective Courses (Breads and Rolls), and Extension Courses (Deserts).

The types of cuisine featured in the book also range dramatically, from American to Italian, Greek to Mexican, and everything in between.

With 209 pages, 135 recipes, 85 campus contributors, and 27 historical notes spread throughout, this cookbook literally has something for everyone.

The book costs $25 plus tax ($21.55 total), and for each book sold, $5 goes towards purchasing new reference books, $6 for cost of production, and a $1 Foundation asset.

Marilyn Karig perhaps summed it up best, when at the end of her introduction she stated, "May you at the banquet table of learning that Cal State San Bernardino offers.

Pull up a chair and satisfy your needs but don't feel the least bit fortunate to do so. That's what this book is about. It's what our University is about."
Equal Opportunity Religion

Jordan Ashken
Staff Writer

With a following of over 20 million people, Sikhism is ranked the fifth largest religion in the world. Sikhism preaches a message of devotion and remembrance of God at all times, truthful living, equality of mankind, and denounces superstitions and blind rituals.

The religion began over 500 years ago in northern India. The founder of the Sikh religion was Guru Nanak, who was born in 1469. He began the religion in an attempt to unite the Hindus and the Muslims under one belief. He wanted to go beyond what was considered correct religious functions. Waheguru, the Almighty, is believed to be supreme in all forms. Every human form.

"There is no Hindu, there is no Muslim," he said. "All men are equal. According to the Sikhs, there is only one God. He is the same God for all people and all religions. Sikhs believe that people of other religions may also believe in the same God.\n
Sikhism promotes the belief that all humans are equal regardless of race, religion or sex. People from all walks of life are welcome to join the religion. Unlike other religions, Sikhism does not consider its religion to be the only route of obtaining salvation. Sikhs believe that people of other religions may also believe in the same God.\n
The Sikh religion upholds the concept of reincarnation. Every living creature, Lorna Linda University Behavioral Medicine Center is healing people and restoring hope. www.llubmc.com

Steve Pasienski, president and CEO of Partnership for a Drug-Free America and his wife, Wendy,

Many strengths. One mission.

You know her... She is going to rush for a sorority this fall. She has not decided on a major. Her mp3 player is filled with '00s music.

You haven't eaten in three days. She has an eating disorder, and this disease affects millions of individuals just like her. Fortunately, treatment is available. Through whole person care, Loma Linda University Behavioral Medicine Center is helping people and restoring hope.

909-558-9275 www.llubmc.com

Sikhism is the religion began over 500 years ago in northern India. The founder of the Sikh religion was Guru Nanak, who was born in 1469. He began the religion in an attempt to unite the Hindus and the Muslims under one belief. He wanted to go beyond what was considered correct religious functions. Waheguru, the Almighty, is believed to be supreme in all forms. Every human form.

"There is no Hindu, there is no Muslim," he said. "All men are equal. According to the Sikhs, there is only one God. He is the same God for all people and all religions. Sikhs believe that people of other religions may also believe in the same God.\n
Sikhism promotes the belief that all humans are equal regardless of race, religion or sex. People from all walks of life are welcome to join the religion. Unlike other religions, Sikhism does not consider its religion to be the only route of obtaining salvation. Sikhs believe that people of other religions may also believe in the same God.\n
The Sikh religion upholds the concept of reincarnation. Every living creature, Lorna Linda University Behavioral Medicine Center is healing people and restoring hope. www.llubmc.com

Steve Pasienski, president and CEO of Partnership for a Drug-Free America and his wife, Wendy,

Many strengths. One mission.

You know her... She is going to rush for a sorority this fall. She has not decided on a major. Her mp3 player is filled with '00s music.

You haven't eaten in three days. She has an eating disorder, and this disease affects millions of individuals just like her. Fortunately, treatment is available. Through whole person care, Loma Linda University Behavioral Medicine Center is helping people and restoring hope.

909-558-9275 www.llubmc.com

Sikhism is the religion began over 500 years ago in northern India. The founder of the Sikh religion was Guru Nanak, who was born in 1469. He began the religion in an attempt to unite the Hindus and the Muslims under one belief. He wanted to go beyond what was considered correct religious functions. Waheguru, the Almighty, is believed to be supreme in all forms. Every human form.

"There is no Hindu, there is no Muslim," he said. "All men are equal. According to the Sikhs, there is only one God. He is the same God for all people and all religions. Sikhs believe that people of other religions may also believe in the same God.\n
Sikhism promotes the belief that all humans are equal regardless of race, religion or sex. People from all walks of life are welcome to join the religion. Unlike other religions, Sikhism does not consider its religion to be the only route of obtaining salvation. Sikhs believe that people of other religions may also believe in the same God.\n
The Sikh religion upholds the concept of reincarnation. Every living creature, Lorna Linda University Behavioral Medicine Center is healing people and restoring hope. www.llubmc.com

Steve Pasienski, president and CEO of Partnership for a Drug-Free America and his wife, Wendy,

Many strengths. One mission.

You know her... She is going to rush for a sorority this fall. She has not decided on a major. Her mp3 player is filled with '00s music.

You haven't eaten in three days. She has an eating disorder, and this disease affects millions of individuals just like her. Fortunately, treatment is available. Through whole person care, Loma Linda University Behavioral Medicine Center is helping people and restoring hope.

909-558-9275 www.llubmc.com

Sikhism is the religion began over 500 years ago in northern India. The founder of the Sikh religion was Guru Nanak, who was born in 1469. He began the religion in an attempt to unite the Hindus and the Muslims under one belief. He wanted to go beyond what was considered correct religious functions. Waheguru, the Almighty, is believed to be supreme in all forms. Every human form.

"There is no Hindu, there is no Muslim," he said. "All men are equal. According to the Sikhs, there is only one God. He is the same God for all people and all religions. Sikhs believe that people of other religions may also believe in the same God.\n
Sikhism promotes the belief that all humans are equal regardless of race, religion or sex. People from all walks of life are welcome to join the religion. Unlike other religions, Sikhism does not consider its religion to be the only route of obtaining salvation. Sikhs believe that people of other religions may also believe in the same God.\n
The Sikh religion upholds the concept of reincarnation. Every living creature, Lorna Linda University Behavioral Medicine Center is healing people and restoring hope. www.llubmc.com

Steve Pasienski, president and CEO of Partnership for a Drug-Free America and his wife, Wendy,
Russell star in the aquatic adventure "Poseidon", which is in theaters now. Unfortunately, the 99-minute run-time doesn't show enough storyline for the audience to develop any kind of connection with the characters. We are briefly introduced to the characters when a rogue wave hits the Poseidon and flips it upside down.

In a visually impressive scene, we are introduced to Director Wolfgang Petersen's vision of a captain-driven ship. Fire, water, sparks, screaming people, and tons of debris fill the ship as the boat goes through its horrific transformation. After realizing the hopelessness of waiting for help to arrive, Dylan Johns (Josh Lucas) offers his help, but first he must find his daughter. A few more characters join the two men in their attempt to reach the surface. Unfortunately, they quickly find that the new structure of the ship delivers many death-defying stunts and obstacles for them to go through. They find themselves in a race against the quickly rising water to reach the surface alive.

"Who will survive? Who will die? Who will sacrifice their own life to save another? Who will be a hero? Go see the movie to find out for yourself.

The movie never has a dull moment. With decent acting, impressive visual effects and tension-underwater scenes, the relatively new script should be enough to keep you away from theaters. If you are looking for a little suspense to get your heart pounding, go see this movie before it leaves theaters.

I only wish this movie would have set up the characters more before they sent the 100 foot rogue wave slamming into the ship. In the blockbuster movie Titanic, we are introduced to the characters for the first half of the film, and watched the ship sink during the second half. Maybe the writers wanted to stay away from a long background of the characters, thinking the extra movie length would take away from the suspense. But with Titanic earning nearly two billion dollars world wide, I think they should have taken more of a chance. Having a $160 million budget, I think they should have spent more time developing the plot instead of nitpicking on their set pieces to sell the movie. In my opinion, the more a script develops the characters, the more the audience is impressed by their demise of heroes. "Poseidon" is a good movie for a suspenseful or deep dramatic movie, don't go see it if you are looking for a movie that will keep you at the edge of your seat and never has a dull moment; go see this movie. If you are looking for the best movie of the year, wait a couple of weeks and go see X-Men. The last time, it comes out May 26.

---

TEACH!
In as LITTLE as 9 Months*
The College of Education at CSUSB
Let's You Touch the Future

We offer program options in:
• Elementary and Secondary Education
• Bilingual Education (with a Master's Degree)
• Special Education (with a Master's Degree)

FOR INFORMATION CONTACT:
San Bernardino Campus
• Elementary, Secondary, and Bilingual Education
  Faculty Office Bldg., Room 126
  (909) 537-5650 or (909) 537-5603
• Special Education
  Faculty Office Bldg., Room 146, (909) 537-5621

Palm Desert Campus
• Credential and Graduate Programs in Education
  Indian Wells Center, Room 102
  (760) 341-2883 ext. 78108 or (760) 341-2883 ext. 78109

California State University San Bernardino
Visit our website at www.csusb.edu/coe/ for more details

Accredited by NCATE and CCTC

*Bachelor's degree and subject matter competency required
CSET coaching is available (http://rimapi.csusb.edu)

---

Entertainment and tasty food is at Tokyo Wako

Michelle Organo
Staff Writer

It was Mother's Day morning and my mom was craving Japanese food so I suggested Benihana's in Ontario for lunch. When we arrived, there was a two-hour wait and since it was Mother's Day the prices were high. We decided to try Tokyo Wako instead. We were hungry and could not wait to order so I suggested looking around Ontario Mills for restaurants. As we drove around we noticed there was a new place that just opened called Tokyo Wako.

The exterior of the restaurant is very beautiful because the architecture looked like a traditional Japanese building. There was a water pond near the entrance with lovely landscaping all around. Before getting too excited, we wanted to see how long the wait would be.

In our opinion, there was no wait at all and we were seated right away. The restaurant was very clean and welcoming. The hostess greeted us in Korean and we were seated without any trouble. The seating arrangement is similar to Benihana's where you are seated around a grill and the chef prepares you while cooking your meal.

It was very nice, but since it was Mother's Day we could only choose items from the dinner menu, which was reasonably priced. From $16.95 to about $30 per entrée you could get an entree meal, plus soup or salad with three shrimp.

After having our entrance and salad starters, we were suddenly greeted by a man with a cart that was doing a little show. After hearing our order and salad starters, we were suddenly greeted by a man with a cart that was doing a little show. He poured liquid in front of us. It was Mother's Day so we could only choose items from the dinner menu, which was reasonably priced. From $16.95 to about $30

Two of the delicacies served at Tokyo Wako in their menu are:

- One of the delicacies served at Tokyo Wako is their sushi. It consists of the traditional sushi served at Benihana's where you are seated around a grill and the chef prepares you while cooking your meal.

- The other delicacy served at Tokyo Wako is their teppan steak with sushi bar. The steak and sushi are served on a teppan grill, which is similar to the teppan grill at Benihana's.

- The food is served in beautiful, colorful portions, and the presentation is very appealing. I recommend the teriyaki chicken and the shrimp.

- The only thing that was disappointing was the service,
  and I expected better because she was wearing a uniform. She never even came over to see if we needed
  drink refills, and she did not bring out our order until
  I walked over to her and asked for it.

- The food is served in beautiful, colorful portions, and
  the presentation is very appealing. I recommend the teriyaki chicken and the shrimp.

- The only thing that was disappointing was the service,
  and I expected better because she was wearing a
  uniform. She never even came over to see if we needed
  drink refills, and she did not bring out our order until
  I walked over to her and asked for it.

- The food is served in beautiful, colorful portions, and
  the presentation is very appealing. I recommend the teriyaki chicken and the shrimp.

- The only thing that was disappointing was the service,
  and I expected better because she was wearing a
  uniform. She never even came over to see if we needed
  drink refills, and she did not bring out our order until
  I walked over to her and asked for it.

- The food is served in beautiful, colorful portions, and
  the presentation is very appealing. I recommend the teriyaki chicken and the shrimp.

- The only thing that was disappointing was the service,
  and I expected better because she was wearing a
  uniform. She never even came over to see if we needed
  drink refills, and she did not bring out our order until
  I walked over to her and asked for it.

- The food is served in beautiful, colorful portions, and
  the presentation is very appealing. I recommend the teriyaki chicken and the shrimp.

- The only thing that was disappointing was the service,
  and I expected better because she was wearing a
  uniform. She never even came over to see if we needed
  drink refills, and she did not bring out our order until
  I walked over to her and asked for it.

- The food is served in beautiful, colorful portions, and
  the presentation is very appealing. I recommend the teriyaki chicken and the shrimp.

- The only thing that was disappointing was the service,
  and I expected better because she was wearing a
  uniform. She never even came over to see if we needed
  drink refills, and she did not bring out our order until
  I walked over to her and asked for it.

- The food is served in beautiful, colorful portions, and
  the presentation is very appealing. I recommend the teriyaki chicken and the shrimp.

- The only thing that was disappointing was the service,
  and I expected better because she was wearing a
  uniform. She never even came over to see if we needed
  drink refills, and she did not bring out our order until
  I walked over to her and asked for it.

- The food is served in beautiful, colorful portions, and
  the presentation is very appealing. I recommend the teriyaki chicken and the shrimp.

- The only thing that was disappointing was the service,
  and I expected better because she was wearing a
  uniform. She never even came over to see if we needed
  drink refills, and she did not bring out our order until
  I walked over to her and asked for it.

- The food is served in beautiful, colorful portions, and
  the presentation is very appealing. I recommend the teriyaki chicken and the shrimp.

- The only thing that was disappointing was the service,
  and I expected better because she was wearing a
  uniform. She never even came over to see if we needed
  drink refills, and she did not bring out our order until
  I walked over to her and asked for it.

- The food is served in beautiful, colorful portions, and
  the presentation is very appealing. I recommend the teriyaki chicken and the shrimp.

- The only thing that was disappointing was the service,
  and I expected better because she was wearing a
  uniform. She never even came over to see if we needed
  drink refills, and she did not bring out our order until
  I walked over to her and asked for it.

- The food is served in beautiful, colorful portions, and
  the presentation is very appealing. I recommend the teriyaki chicken and the shrimp.

- The only thing that was disappointing was the service,
  and I expected better because she was wearing a
  uniform. She never even came over to see if we needed
  drink refills, and she did not bring out our order until
  I walked over to her and asked for it.

- The food is served in beautiful, colorful portions, and
  the presentation is very appealing. I recommend the teriyaki chicken and the shrimp.

- The only thing that was disappointing was the service,
  and I expected better because she was wearing a
  uniform. She never even came over to see if we needed
  drink refills, and she did not bring out our order until
  I walked over to her and asked for it.
Pearl Jam finally returned on the same with a self-titled album. The album was released May 2, and still seems to lack a track’s spot on any prestige music chart.

The album has an awesome, simple cover accompanied with very interesting, digitally rendered art inside; however, the quintet’s fifth album seems to be lacking in what someone would call “good” modern rock music.

According to Pearl Jam’s label, J-Records, “Most people, even the music conscious, almost forgot Pearl Jam kept making albums after Yield,” or even “Vigilide?”. Well, I wonder why they forgot. Maybe there wasn’t anything worth listening to on the subsequent albums.

There might be a reason that PJ has not had a “real hit” since 1999 and I think I know the reason.

They sound the same and it’s not working. Now, here is a little history lesson, Pearl Jam, Nirvana and Red Hot Chili Peppers were all contemporaries.

After the tragedy of Nirvana, Red Hot Chili Peppers seem to have evolved in their music style and therefore have had hits on a regular basis.

However, Pearl Jam has decided to keep the grunge sound and has unfortunately lost the “hit” battle. Grunge is dead and post-grunge is dying!

Some may think, “Well, Pearl Jam isn’t selling out like Red Hot Chili Peppers,” but what would you rather listen to? Music you like, that is big and different, or the same old Eddie Vedder shredding vocals about an ancient Greece?

Unions, of course, that’s what you like. In which case you would like the new album.

However, PJ’s credit though, the album is somewhat politically charged with the anti-war petition “Wildcard Suicide” and “Army Marching” playing the bass lyrics. “Marker In the Sand,” but the best sound. While “Gone” and “Inside Job” are feisty cybernetic number ballads with full-band hopeless renditions lead by Dave Giovannoli of 3 Records.

New ‘Stone’ not welcomed in family jewels for holidays

Paule Garcia

Sgt. Pepper

The holidays are stressful enough, but imagine meeting your significant other’s family at the same time. If you have ever been in this situation then you should definitely see “The Family Stone.”

This movie involves an uptight career woman who marries her boyfriend’s eccentric family for the first time who is less than inviting to her. Even before meeting her, the Stone family already does not like her.

“You have a beautiful home,” Meredith (Sarah Jessica Parker) tells Mrs. Stone (Sharon Gless) good that you haven’t. “We’re 마련 to answer you,” replies the sociable woman. However, it is Pearl Jam who provides most of the entertainment by singing outright, especially with her nervous threatening lick.

Meredith, often mows well, but talks too much and says things at the wrong time. In attempts to be respectful to the family, Meredith does not even want to sleep in the same room as Everett (Dermot Mulroney), who was to get the family to take it easy on his girlfriend, but the Stones do not hate.

Everett asks his mother for her goddaughter’s wedding ring that she had promised to give him once he found the woman of his dreams, but she refuses to give it to him. Even from his dad, dad brother tells him not to ask her to marry him.

The main enemy that Meredith has in the family is Amy (Rachel McAdams), Everett’s youngest sister, who is very bitter about life. Only his laid back brother Ben (Luke Williams) seems to be understanding. Luke Wilson’s performance with Parker and McAdams make-up the all-star cast of “The Family Stone.”

Pride and Parker arrive at the family residence. The main enemy that fails to make its point about such a situation is Amy serious situation.

The main enemy that fails to make its point about such a situation is Amy serious situation. The main enemy that fails to make its point about such a situation is Amy serious situation. The main enemy that fails to make its point about such a situation is Amy serious situation.

However, you will be convinced that the family is truly dysfunctional. Luke Wilson’s performance was good and believable. While doing a good job in a very difficult role, Sarah Jessica Parker comes across as annoying and unlikeable.

“The Family Stone” does not compare to other holiday family classics, yet it does a decent job and is worth watching with your family.

“The Family Stone” reminds us about tolerating our many differences and most importantly, loving one another.
As Wong grew up, he said that he was the "guy who kids never saw." Wong claimed that he could play dress up and was fascinated with television. He claimed that he had so many great teachers that fostered his curiosity and fascination with the arts.

"I was the little Asian boy with the big smile, bowl hair cut and glasses in the lines and center of every performance," said Wong. "I finally looked like Ermie from My Three Sons!" As he approached his college years, Wong said that getting work became a tough reality. "I didn't get any work...they were using Asian traditions. They didn't cast colorblind," said Wong. "So, I moved to New York! Then LA! And I found work!"

Although he found work, Wong and his family were not exactly satisfied with the work he was getting. "It was either the grumpy waiter, the china town gang member, the brother of the china town gang member or, I can't believe I even did this, the wacky foreign exchange student," said Wong.

Wong continued to act and played these characters until he was offered a leading role in the play "M. Butterfly," written by David Henry Hwang. "It was okay to have this face," said Wong. "I was this guy because I had the face...this was the beginning of my peace, my job.

By being able to embrace differences, Wong claims that we will be able to move forward in the world.

"By having a conversation on diversity, we can be more, said Wong. "Diversity isn't going away. We have to make it work...we have to create a dialogue.

The Diversity Committee sponsor of the lecture, works to foster diversity and understanding at CSUSB. They have given $50,000 to fund events by campus groups and have given $35,000 towards faculty research programs to put diversity in CSUSB's curriculum.

Wong has spoken to college campuses across the nation for approximately 12 years. He has earned the Outer Critics Circle Award, Theatre World Award, Drama Desk Award, Clarence Derwent Award and a Tony Award. Wong has also written a memoir, "Following Foo," which was set at the lecture.

Ridley will speak on her experiences as a Taliban hostage.

Taliban hostage survivor & writer to speak at CSUSB
Jesse PalmerStaff Writer

Former Taliban hostage and British reporter Yvonne Ridley remembers her experience in the hands of The Taliban.

Ridley came to prominence after 9/11 when she was covering the war in Afghanistan. She was a "tale of many, many层rty, to speak on her experiences as a Taliban hostage.

Stay on track SUMMER at Cal State San Bernardino

Priority registration starts today!
Summer 2006 Quarter
Session I..............June 21 - July 27
Session II............Aug. 2 - Sept. 6
Session III..........June 21 - Aug. 31

For more information on Summer Quarter 2006, please call (909) 537-5200.
The second annual "Juneteenth College Expo and Festival is coming up every year in June.

The oldest known celebration is held in its second year at CSUSB. It is an event that started many years ago to celebrate the last days of slavery in America. It originated in 1865 and has spread from Texas across the U.S. Juneteenth is sponsored by CSUSB, the Admissions and Student Recruitment and will take place on Sat., June 22.

If you would like to be in the Student Affairs Student Union's Events Center from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and various locations on campus from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tracey Thomas, Antonio Johnson and other community members have worked extremely hard to put this event together.

"The difference between this college expo and other expos is that we take an educational approach," said Thomas.

"What we are doing is helping connect the African American students (in the U.S.) to Africa," she said. "Legacy of pride and prosperity through the eyes of African Kings and Queens."

Antonio Johnson and other community members have worked extremely hard to put this event together.

"There will be games, maps, music, vendors, and much more. We will have the first half of the expo will be the educational part. Children from elementary schools, middle schools and people from high schools and community colleges will have the opportunity to be involved in numerous activities. Each group will have a table with different activities."

"We will learn about the geography, and get of the African American farmers and plant a community garden. This activity is expected to continue for many years to come."

The expo will introduce two special guest speakers. Dr. Adora Kwesi, a historian and lecturer of ancient African history and religion, and Merita Kwesi, a lecturer on African culture and music. The event will take place in the lower commons and in University Hall.

Former NFL player, Anthony Price, will also be giving advice to "aspiring athletes" or to anyone who has a question.

The biggest part of this event is a special forum of historically black colleges and universities. After the education section of the expo, there will be a festival. Various bands, Coyote Radio and musical groups will perform at various times during the event.

"Although this event is about Africa and African Americans, we are making this event as diverse as possible," Johnson said.

"Rice Vice Elementary School will be performing on the main stage. The students have a special surprise for the audience during their performance."

"Later in the day, the expo will finally feature African American made elements of CSUSB.

There will be a reception held for honor former students, such as Dan Tillman and Lawrence Daniels. Immediately after, there will be jazz performances.

CSUSB's college expo is a huge event and many are expected to attend.

This year's event will be the last days of slavery.

Matilda Riley
Staff Writer

The second annual "Juneteenth College Expo and Festival is coming up every year in June.

The oldest known celebration is held in its second year at CSUSB. It is an event that started many years ago to celebrate the last days of slavery in America. It originated in 1865 and has spread from Texas across the U.S. Juneteenth is sponsored by CSUSB, the Admissions and Student Recruitment and will take place on Sat., June 22.

If you would like to be in the Student Affairs Student Union's Events Center from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and various locations on campus from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tracey Thomas, Antonio Johnson and other community members have worked extremely hard to put this event together.

"The difference between this college expo and other expos is that we take an educational approach," said Thomas.

"What we are doing is helping connect the African American students (in the U.S.) to Africa," she said. "Legacy of pride and prosperity through the eyes of African Kings and Queens."

Antonio Johnson and other community members have worked extremely hard to put this event together.

"There will be games, maps, music, vendors, and much more. We will have the first half of the expo will be the educational part. Children from elementary schools, middle schools and people from high schools and community colleges will have the opportunity to be involved in numerous activities. Each group will have a table with different activities."

"We will learn about the geography, and get of the African American farmers and plant a community garden. This activity is expected to continue for many years to come."

The expo will introduce two special guest speakers. Dr. Adora Kwesi, a historian and lecturer of ancient African history and religion, and Merita Kwesi, a lecturer on African culture and music. The event will take place in the lower commons and in University Hall.

Former NFL player, Anthony Price, will also be giving advice to "aspiring athletes" or to anyone who has a question.

The biggest part of this event is a special forum of historically black colleges and universities. After the education section of the expo, there will be a festival. Various bands, Coyote Radio and musical groups will perform at various times during the event.

"Although this event is about Africa and African Americans, we are making this event as diverse as possible," Johnson said.

"Rice Vice Elementary School will be performing on the main stage. The students have a special surprise for the audience during their performance."

"Later in the day, the expo will finally feature African American made elements of CSUSB.

There will be a reception held for honor former students, such as Dan Tillman and Lawrence Daniels. Immediately after, there will be jazz performances.

CSUSB's college expo is a huge event and many are expected to attend.

This year's event will be the last days of slavery.

Matilda Riley
Staff Writer

The second annual "Juneteenth College Expo and Festival is coming up every year in June.

The oldest known celebration is held in its second year at CSUSB. It is an event that started many years ago to celebrate the last days of slavery in America. It originated in 1865 and has spread from Texas across the U.S. Juneteenth is sponsored by CSUSB, the Admissions and Student Recruitment and will take place on Sat., June 22.

If you would like to be in the Student Affairs Student Union's Events Center from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and various locations on campus from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tracey Thomas, Antonio Johnson and other community members have worked extremely hard to put this event together.

"The difference between this college expo and other expos is that we take an educational approach," said Thomas.

"What we are doing is helping connect the African American students (in the U.S.) to Africa," she said. "Legacy of pride and prosperity through the eyes of African Kings and Queens."

Antonio Johnson and other community members have worked extremely hard to put this event together.

"There will be games, maps, music, vendors, and much more. We will have the first half of the expo will be the educational part. Children from elementary schools, middle schools and people from high schools and community colleges will have the opportunity to be involved in numerous activities. Each group will have a table with different activities."

"We will learn about the geography, and get of the African American farmers and plant a community garden. This activity is expected to continue for many years to come."

The expo will introduce two special guest speakers. Dr. Adora Kwesi, a historian and lecturer of ancient African history and religion, and Merita Kwesi, a lecturer on African culture and music. The event will take place in the lower commons and in University Hall.

Former NFL player, Anthony Price, will also be giving advice to "aspiring athletes" or to anyone who has a question.

The biggest part of this event is a special forum of historically black colleges and universities. After the education section of the expo, there will be a festival. Various bands, Coyote Radio and musical groups will perform at various times during the event.

"Although this event is about Africa and African Americans, we are making this event as diverse as possible," Johnson said.

"Rice Vice Elementary School will be performing on the main stage. The students have a special surprise for the audience during their performance."

"Later in the day, the expo will finally feature African American made elements of CSUSB.

There will be a reception held for honor former students, such as Dan Tillman and Lawrence Daniels. Immediately after, there will be jazz performances.

CSUSB's college expo is a huge event and many are expected to attend.

This year's event will be the last days of slavery.

Matilda Riley
Staff Writer

The second annual "Juneteenth College Expo and Festival is coming up every year in June.

The oldest known celebration is held in its second year at CSUSB. It is an event that started many years ago to celebrate the last days of slavery in America. It originated in 1865 and has spread from Texas across the U.S. Juneteenth is sponsored by CSUSB, the Admissions and Student Recruitment and will take place on Sat., June 22.

If you would like to be in the Student Affairs Student Union's Events Center from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and various locations on campus from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tracey Thomas, Antonio Johnson and other community members have worked extremely hard to put this event together.

"The difference between this college expo and other expos is that we take an educational approach," said Thomas.

"What we are doing is helping connect the African American students (in the U.S.) to Africa," she said. "Legacy of pride and prosperity through the eyes of African Kings and Queens."

Antonio Johnson and other community members have worked extremely hard to put this event together.

"There will be games, maps, music, vendors, and much more. We will have the first half of the expo will be the educational part. Children from elementary schools, middle schools and people from high schools and community colleges will have the opportunity to be involved in numerous activities. Each group will have a table with different activities."

"We will learn about the geography, and get of the African American farmers and plant a community garden. This activity is expected to continue for many years to come."

The expo will introduce two special guest speakers. Dr. Adora Kwesi, a historian and lecturer of ancient African history and religion, and Merita Kwesi, a lecturer on African culture and music. The event will take place in the lower commons and in University Hall.

Former NFL player, Anthony Price, will also be giving advice to "aspiring athletes" or to anyone who has a question.

The biggest part of this event is a special forum of historically black colleges and universities. After the education section of the expo, there will be a festival. Various bands, Coyote Radio and musical groups will perform at various times during the event.

"Although this event is about Africa and African Americans, we are making this event as diverse as possible," Johnson said.

"Rice Vice Elementary School will be performing on the main stage. The students have a special surprise for the audience during their performance."

"Later in the day, the expo will finally feature African American made elements of CSUSB.

There will be a reception held for honor former students, such as Dan Tillman and Lawrence Daniels. Immediately after, there will be jazz performances.

CSUSB's college expo is a huge event and many are expected to attend.

This year's event will be the last days of slavery.
Opinions & Editorials

May 22, 2006

"CBU believes in me."

Ted Murcay.

"CBU believes in me."

Ted Murcay.

"CBU believes in me."

Ted Murcay.

"CBU believes in me."

Ted Murcay.

"CBU believes in me."

Ted Murcay.

"CBU believes in me."

Ted Murcay.

"CBU believes in me."

Ted Murcay.

"CBU believes in me."

Ted Murcay.

"CBU believes in me."

Ted Murcay.

"CBU believes in me."

Ted Murcay.

"CBU believes in me."

Ted Murcay.

"CBU believes in me."

Ted Murcay.

"CBU believes in me."

Ted Murcay.

"CBU believes in me."

Ted Murcay.

"CBU believes in me."

Ted Murcay.
Justin Blexon
Staff Writer

The Los Angeles Clippers, long known as "little brother," or the "JV" team to the Lakers, are starting to get a little well earned respect.

"We were not ready to go home, not yet," guard Corey Maggotts said. "The Suns were down in the series 3-2. The Clippers pride themselves in hustling for 48 minutes. We never bear it, we hate to lose, but we do hate to lose. We just the NBA, but hate to lose. So, I know we put everything we had into the game, and left it all out on the court," Sam Cassell said after the Clippers' game five loss.

The Clipper franchise has long been the laughing stock of Los Angeles, and their first playoff appearance ever in Los Angeles, and their first playoff drought in the league. "There's no question in our mind that we have the ability to win Monday (game seven)," Coach Mike Dunleavy said after Thursday night's game. During the must win game, the Clippers got a little bit of help from everybody, having five plays in double digits.

One of those players, forward Quinton Ross, who is known as a defensive player, scored 16 points in the first half, including a buzzer beater to give the Clippers a 12 point lead going into halftime. In the second half, the Suns made a run, but could get no closer than eight points down. Whenever the Suns would make a run, the Clippers went to their best player, forward Elton Brand, who despite the constant double teams, did his thing. "I hate to lose, but I can bear it a whole lot better if I know we put everything we had into the game, and left it all out on the court," Sam Cassell said after the Clippers' game five loss. This mentality helped propel the Clippers to their best record ever in Los Angeles, and their first playoff appearance since 1997, which was the second longest playoff drought in the league.

Although the Clipper made these acquisitions, pre-season, they picked them to finish last in their division and second to last in the Western Conference. What all the experts couldn't predict is the heart of this team. The Clippers pride themselves in hustling for 48 minutes. "I hate to lose," Cassell said, "but I hate to lose." Cassell said after the Clippers' game five loss.

The Suns, forcing a game seven in Phoenix Monday night. Although the Clippers have never been in a game seven before, Coach Mike Dunleavy is very optimistic about his team's chances. "There's no question in my mind that we have the ability to win Monday (game seven)," Coach Mike Dunleavy said after Thursday night's game.

During this must win game, the Clippers got a little bit of help from everybody, having five plays in double digits. One of those players, forward Quinton Ross, who is known as a defensive player, scored 16 points in the first half, including a buzzer beater to give the Clipps a 12 point lead going into halftime. In the second half, the Suns made a run, but could get no closer than eight points down. Whenever the Suns would make a run, the Clippers went to their best player, forward Elton Brand, who despite the constant double teams, did his thing. "I hate to lose, but I can bear it a whole lot better if I know we put everything we had into the game, and left it all out on the court," Sam Cassell said after the Clippers' game five loss. This mentality helped propel the Clippers to their best record ever in Los Angeles, and their first playoff appearance since 1997, which was the second longest playoff drought in the league.

Coach Mike Dunleavy is very optimistic about his team's chances. "There's no question in my mind that we have the ability to win Monday (game seven)," Coach Mike Dunleavy said after Thursday night's game.

During this must win game, the Clippers got a little bit of help from everybody, having five plays in double digits. One of those players, forward Quinton Ross, who is known as a defensive player, scored 16 points in the first half, including a buzzer beater to give the Clipps a 12 point lead going into halftime. In the second half, the Suns made a run, but could get no closer than eight points down.

Whenever the Suns would make a run, the Clippers went to their best player, forward Elton Brand, who despite the constant double teams, did his thing. Although the Clipper made these acquisitions, pre-season, they picked them to finish last in their division and second to last in the Western Conference. What all the experts couldn't predict is the heart of this team. The Clippers pride themselves in hustling for 48 minutes. "I hate to lose," Cassell said, "but I hate to lose." Cassell said after the Clippers' game five loss.

The Lakers, as well known as Mr. Laker, Jack Nicholson, was spotted during the Clipper game in Phoenix on Tuesday.

The Clippers clutched up with the Lakers, are starting to get a little well earned respect. "We were not ready to go home, not yet," guard Corey Maggotts said. "The Suns were down in the series 3-2. The Clippers pride themselves in hustling for 48 minutes. We never bear it, we hate to lose, but we do hate to lose. So, I know we put everything we had into the game, and left it all out on the court," Sam Cassell said after the Clippers' game five loss. This mentality helped propel the Clippers to their best record ever in Los Angeles, and their first playoff appearance since 1997, which was the second longest playoff drought in the league.

Although the Clipper made these acquisitions, pre-season, they picked them to finish last in their division and second to last in the Western Conference. What all the experts couldn't predict is the heart of this team. The Clippers pride themselves in hustling for 48 minutes. "I hate to lose," Cassell said, "but I hate to lose." Cassell said after the Clippers' game five loss.

Coach Mike Dunleavy is very optimistic about his team's chances. "There's no question in my mind that we have the ability to win Monday (game seven)," Coach Mike Dunleavy said after Thursday night's game. During this must win game, the Clippers got a little bit of help from everybody, having five plays in double digits. One of those players, forward Quinton Ross, who is known as a defensive player, scored 16 points in the first half, including a buzzer beater to give the Clipps a 12 point lead going into halftime.

In the second half, the Suns made a run, but could get no closer than eight points down.

Whenever the Suns would make a run, the Clippers went to their best player, forward Elton Brand, who despite the constant double teams, did his thing. Although the Clipper made these acquisitions, pre-season, they picked them to finish last in their division and second to last in the Western Conference. What all the experts couldn't predict is the heart of this team. The Clippers pride themselves in hustling for 48 minutes. "I hate to lose," Cassell said, "but I hate to lose." Cassell said after the Clippers' game five loss. This mentality helped propel the Clippers to their best record ever in Los Angeles, and their first playoff appearance since 1997, which was the second longest playoff drought in the league.

Coach Mike Dunleavy is very optimistic about his team's chances. "There's no question in my mind that we have the ability to win Monday (game seven)," Coach Mike Dunleavy said after Thursday night's game. During this must win game, the Clippers got a little bit of help from everybody, having five plays in double digits. One of those players, forward Quinton Ross, who is known as a defensive player, scored 16 points in the first half, including a buzzer beater to give the Clipps a 12 point lead going into halftime.

In the second half, the Suns made a run, but could get no closer than eight points down.

Whenever the Suns would make a run, the Clippers went to their best player, forward Elton Brand, who despite the constant double teams, did his thing. Although the Clipper made these acquisitions, pre-season, they picked them to finish last in their division and second to last in the Western Conference. What all the experts couldn't predict is the heart of this team. The Clippers pride themselves in hustling for 48 minutes. "I hate to lose," Cassell said, "but I hate to lose." Cassell said after the Clippers' game five loss. This mentality helped propel the Clippers to their best record ever in Los Angeles, and their first playoff appearance since 1997, which was the second longest playoff drought in the league.
The Coyotes are losing many key players, but they are not left with a few key nowhere. Michael Race, junior right-handed pitcher from Palm Desert, was named first-team Academic All-American by the Collegiate Atlantic Association. Brad Croxton, junior infielder from Rancho, was named second-team ACAA honors.

"I don't want to focus on it because we're not going to be able to fill it," said Coach Dan Pearson of the key area we're going to be concentrating on to strengthen for next year.

Joining the Coyotes next year will be Kyle Walker, a transfer from Saddleback College. The former Major League Baseball player is expected to fill an offensive void for the Coyotes.

"From a leadership standpoint, the team is recharging their minds, said Pearson. "The players are aware of who will be leaving this year and said that they kept them on the team's radar, looking for replacements. He said, "I'm excited to see how we do." Pearson added that he was excited to see how the team would perform under his leadership.

"This is a serious offensive threat that we can play first base. He will certainly fill an offensive void for the team," said Pearson.

With field position an extremely important aspect of any game, the Bears have two players in Manning and Hester who are capable of scoring every time their team touches the ball.

"We are looking forward to watching Evans continue to develop into an asset for the team," said Pearson.

According to the volleyball team, the Bears should make a surprise to many teams with their next three picks. The Bears will be targeting offensive players to fill their needs.

"We are trying to find a few key returnees. Michael Kooiman believes that Evan's arrival will certainly fill an offensive void," said Pearson.

With their next three picks, the Bears selected Oklahoma defensive tackle Dandy Dornbos, Arizona State linebacker Jesse Williams and Alabama defensive end Mark Anderson in that order. The Bears completely ignored the offensive side of the ball until they selected Oklahoma fullback J.D. Runnels, and Penn State guard Tyre Brown with the 15th and 19th overall picks in the sixth round.

The possibility for great football field positions on every great team greatly enhances an offensive line's chances for success.

"If the Bears can get off the press box, and the defense can return in its elite form of 2005, the Bears will be a very dangerous team to be content with in 2006," said Pearson.

Up next, the Bears will look to add a few key returnees. Michael Williams and Alabama defensive end Mark Anderson in that order. The Bears completely ignored the offensive side of the ball until they selected Oklahoma fullback J.D. Runnels, and Penn State guard Tyre Brown with the 15th and 19th overall picks in the sixth round.

The possibility for great football field positions on every great team greatly enhances an offensive line's chances for success.

"If the Bears can get off the press box, and the defense can return in its elite form of 2005, the Bears will be a very dangerous team to be content with in 2006," said Pearson.

Up next, the Bears will look to add a few key returnees. Michael Williams and Alabama defensive end Mark Anderson in that order. The Bears completely ignored the offensive side of the ball until they selected Oklahoma fullback J.D. Runnels, and Penn State guard Tyre Brown with the 15th and 19th overall picks in the sixth round.

The possibility for great football field positions on every great team greatly enhances an offensive line's chances for success.

"If the Bears can get off the press box, and the defense can return in its elite form of 2005, the Bears will be a very dangerous team to be content with in 2006," said Pearson.