WINTER ENROLLMENT UP
Over Same Term In 1983

As of the winter quarter census date, 5,144 students were enrolled which is a 5.37 percent increase over the same term a year earlier. The winter count, although down 306 from last fall, is the second highest enrollment in the college history. It is exceeded only by fall 1983 when a new high of 5,450 students was chalked up. Traditionally student enrollment drops off during the year from the fall quarter highs.

The full-time equivalent (FTE) for winter quarter stands at 3,919.9 students. The FTE is important for budgetary reasons, as the institution's allocation each year is based upon its FTE figures. The winter FTE count is 5.88 percent higher than winter 1983, although it is 4.94 percent below the all-time high of 4,123.7 set in the fall 1983 term.

The Department of Health Science and Human Ecology's area of advisement "Health Administration and Planning" is now listed in the Health Services Administration Education 1983-85, published by the Association of University Programs in Health Administration.

The college's program is a member program. Baccalaureate-level programs must meet stringent academic requirements to become a member of the AUPHA and to be listed in this publication. Only two of the CSU health administration programs are listed, San Bernardino and Northridge. Historically, listing in this publication has assisted programs with student development and recruitment of faculty.

The health administration/planning curriculum here was established as a competency-based program funded by a grant ($351,213) from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and requiring four years of extensive planning, development and implementation. Dr. Amer El-Ahrafi directed the project which produced a national curriculum model now implemented in two other CSU campuses, Northridge and Chico. The Department of Health Science and Human Ecology received over 50 requests from colleges and universities around the country requesting information about the curriculum.
