ACCREDITATION VISIT
To Be April 16-19

A 10-member team of faculty and administrators representing the Western Assn. of Schools and Colleges (WASC) will be on campus April 16-19 to conduct a full, fifth-year accreditation visit.

"The team will attempt to validate a self-study written and reviewed by many individuals throughout the campus and edited by Dr. Catherine Gannon and Dr. Robert Blackey," said President Anthony H. Evans.

The team members are expected to visit classes and talk with a large number of campus community members. The schedule for their days on campus will be announced shortly before their arrival. It will include an open time period for members of the campus community to talk with team members.

The chair of the evaluation team is Dr. Sherry H. Penney, vice chancellor for academic programs at the State University of New York. Other out-of-state visitors are Dr. Thaddeus H. Spratlen, professor of business management, University of Washington; and Dr. Donald L. Garrity, president of Central Washington University. California members of the team include: Dr. Edward E. Birch, vice chancellor, student and community affairs, UC Santa Barbara; Dr. David E. Schramm, vice president, academic affairs, California Lutheran College; Sister Cecilia Louise Moore, associate superintendent of the Department of Education for the Archdiocese of Los Angeles; Dr. Uno Kodres, professor of computer science, Naval Postgraduate School; Dr. Tyrus G. Harmsen, librarian, Occidental College; Dr. Vernon Boussard, associate dean, program development and operations, USC; and Dr. John Wietting, dean of student services, Northrup University.
