Dr. Clark Named Interim Dean Of Humanities School

Dr. Stella F. Clark has been appointed interim dean of the School of Humanities by President Anthony H. Evans. The appointment is effective for the next school year.

Dr. Clark has served as acting dean since last December and accepted the post for a full school term while a search committee begins the selection process to name a permanent dean.

A professor of Spanish, Dr. Clark joined the Cal State faculty in 1971 after completing her Ph.D. at the University of Kansas. The following year she served as associate dean of academic administration. She has been on the College Evaluation Committee (formerly the RPT Committee), serving as chair in 1983; was acting chair of the Foreign Languages Department in 1980; and for six years, scheduling coordinator for the School of Humanities.

Born in Mexico, Dr. Clark received her bachelor's degree from the University of Mississippi and her M.A. from the University of Kansas. She taught there while completing her doctorate and was instructor in Spanish at a summer music and arts camp for high school students. She and her husband, Jose, a librarian, live in Highland.

In announcing her appointment, Dr. Ward McAfee, acting vice president for academic affairs stated "We are very fortunate that Dean Clark will remain as dean of the Humanities School. It will give her an opportunity to serve for a full academic year and provide needed continuity and experience to that important position."

She succeeded Dr. Irvin Buchen, who left the university last November to become vice chancellor of academic affairs at the University of Wisconsin, Stevens Point. A search committee, made up of representatives elected by the Humanities School with additional members appointed by President Evans, will begin this fall seeking a permanent dean. The committee will report to the new academic vice president, Dr. Robert C. Detweiler.

Details Given For Faculty Computer Retraining Program

Dr. James Crum, dean of the School of Natural Sciences, has provided further details on the computer retraining program available to faculty volunteers from other schools at the university. The purpose of the program announced in the June 21 Bulletin, is to train faculty to assist in teaching fundamental computer literacy courses such as the new Computer Science 100. It is hoped that faculty from the Humanities, Social and Behavioral Sciences, and the Business and Public Administration schools will provide input to the students who will be learning to apply computers to their fields of study.

A $37,000 grant has been funded by the CSU Chancellor's Office to retrain three faculty members during the next school year. They will enroll in the basic 101-102 courses and choose a third course depending upon the computer language they want to learn. They will not teach the same courses but assist with other fundamental classes where they can combine their new computer knowledge with their respective areas of expertise.
Independence Holiday
Celebrated July 4-5

The college community will celebrate the 4th of July over a four-day weekend this year. Friday, July 5 is also a holiday and all facilities will be closed that day. Weekend hours will resume according to the schedule published in the June 19 Bulletin. In addition, there will be no Bulletin as this publication will begin its bi-weekly summer schedule.

EPT/ELM Tests Start June 29

English Placement Tests (EPT) and the Entry Level Math (ELM) tests will be given throughout the summer to students needing them prior to registration at the university. The first will be tomorrow, June 29 at 8:30 a.m. for the EPT, and the ELM at 1:30 p.m. in PS 10. Others will be July 20, July 27, Aug. 10, Aug. 17 and Sept. 18, all at the same location. Further information is available at the Counseling Office, Ext. 7437.

Two photography students will have their work displayed for the next two weeks at the Visual Arts Building Gallery II. "Architecture" and "Nudes" are the titles of exhibits on display beginning today, June 28 until July 12. Kelli Parks' photos include variations of parts of different buildings around the Southern California area taken at day and night. Abstractions of parts of the nude female figure were taken by Ron Kreske. The photos depict form and pattern and were taken under studio lighting.

Grad Student Accepted For Ph.D.

Psychology graduate student Rosalie McMaster will attend the University of Kansas this fall to begin work on a Ph.D. in counseling psychology. She will earn an M.A. in psychology this summer. Dr. Robert Cramer of the Psychology Department is her thesis advisor.

Parking Decals Distributed

Parking decals for 1985-86 for part-time and full-time regular employees and for faculty teaching this summer will be distributed in today's paycheck envelopes. The current decals expire June 30. Campus police urge employees to display the new decals as soon as possible. Employees who did not receive a decal should contact the Bursar's Office, Ext. 7501, AD 111.

In Sympathy

The university community extends deepest sympathy to the family of Kenneth L. Miller, a graduate computer science student, who died June 11. Services were pending at the time of notification.
