New Plant Operations Director Assumes Duties

David DeMauro of Alta Loma, director of maintenance and operations for the Alvord School District in Riverside, will become director of plant operations at Cal State, San Bernardino April 15.

He will succeed James H. Urata, who is retiring from the university later this spring.

"We are pleased with the breadth of Mr. DeMauro's experience," said Business Manager Leonard Farwell in announcing the appointment. "He will bring varied and useful skills to our campus."

The director is responsible for building maintenance, heating and air conditioning, grounds maintenance, custodial services and the motor pool. Administrative responsibilities also include direction of a staff of approximately 75 employees, budgeting and compliance with federal, state and local regulations.

DeMauro, who has been with the Alvord District for more than two years, holds a state contractor’s license and previously was self-employed as a general contractor. For nearly 10 years, he was a branch office manager for a pest control service in Upland.

A 30-year resident of the Alta Loma area, DeMauro attended Chaffey College before transferring to Cal State, Fullerton to complete a degree in industrial psychology. He has taken graduate work at Cal Poly, Pomona and presently is enrolled in the M.B.A. program at Cal State, San Bernardino.

Power Off

All buildings on campus will be without electrical power from 3 a.m. until about 8 a.m., Sunday, according to Dennis Stover (Plant Operations). Campus electricians need to secure information from the switches in the transformers across North Park Blvd. from campus. Opening the switch panels will automatically cut the power, which must be restored gradually, he said.

First Courses Scheduled For Staff Training/Development

Seven workshops are being offered for staff members over the next few weeks as part of the initial efforts of the campus committee charged with strengthening staff training and skills development programs at the university, said Stephen Menzel, campus training/development officer.

The workshops include: "Interpersonal Communication Skills," Dr. Dorothy Mettee (Communication), 10 a.m.–noon, Monday, April 14, SUMP; "Written Communication Fundamentals (Basic Skills)," Milton Clark (English), Thursday, April 17, 9 a.m.–noon, Student Union A&B; "Written Communication Fundamentals (Editing Skills)," Milton Clark (English), 9 a.m.–noon, Thursday, April 24, Student Union A&B; "Written Communication Fundamentals (Advanced Writing Skills)," Milton Clark, 9 a.m.–noon, Thursday and Friday, May 8–9, SS 171; "Introduction to Computers," Grace Goodrich, 2:30–6:30 p.m., Monday and Wednesday, May 12 and 14, PL 8; "Word Processing—WordStar," Grace Goodrich, 2:30–5 p.m., May 16, 17, 19, 21, 23, 28 and 30, PL 8; and "Data Base—SuperCalc 3," Grace Goodrich, 2:30–5 p.m., June 9, 11, 13, 16, 18 and 20, PL 8.

Brochures with workshop information were distributed campuswide Wednesday, said Menzel. "This is the first of many programs to come. We will attempt to spread out the participants so that they are representative of the campus. These same courses may not be offered in the next brochure, but since they ranked highly among the recommendations of the committee, they will be offered again in the future."
The week of April 20-28 holds several events in store, which have been sponsored by the university's Intellectual Life Committee. All presentations are free and open to the public.

Emmy Award-winning, veteran Los Angeles broadcaster Kelly Lange will appear at 3 p.m., Sunday, April 20 in the Upper Commons. A public reception will precede her talk about 15 years of experience with KNBC-TV in "The TV Connection." She also will address communication students at 2:30 p.m. in the Alder Room, prior to her public appearance. The presentation is cosponsored by Special Events.

A Round Table discussion of environmental education will be held at 4 p.m., Tuesday, April 22 in the Panorama Room of the Lower Commons. Moderated by Dr. Amer El-Ahraf (Health Science), the panel will feature faculty members Dr. Darleen Stoner (Education) and Dr. Theodore McDowell (Geography, Environmental Studies). Other participants will include Rhonda Reed, a marine biologist with the State Department of Fish and Game; Don Hanson, an environmental education consultant; and Lola Hanson, an academic advisor to International College in Los Angeles.

The saga of the joint discovery of the Titanic by U.S. and French scientists will be revealed in a slide presentation by U.S. Navy Lt. Rafael Rey at 8 p.m., Wednesday, April 23 in the Officer's Club at George Air Force Base. He will discuss the research and development uses of naval deep submergence vehicles, including photographs of the underwater exploration which led to the discovery of the Titanic. His presentation will be preceded by a discussion of the national security role of the U.S. submarine force by Capt. Jerry Sullivan, chief-of-staff, Submarine Group Five in San Diego. The program was arranged for students in the National Security Studies Program, but it is open to the public, said Dr. Richard Ackley (Political Science, National Security Studies). The evening also features a reception at 6 p.m., followed by a dinner at a cost of $10 per person. Reservations for the dinner/seminar should be made by Friday, April 18 at the National Security Studies Office, Ext. 7632. Information regarding entry to George Air Force Base also is available at that number.

The philosophy of literature and morality will be the focus of a talk by Professor D.Z. Phillips, University of Swansea-Wales, at 3 p.m., Thursday, April 24 in Room 241 of the Library. A visiting professor of philosophy at Claremont Graduate Schools during spring quarter, he will present his paper, "Thou Shalt'—'What if I Don't?' (Pirandello’s "The Rules of the Game" and Beckett’s "Waiting for Godot")."

"Courses of Depression—Nature or Nurture? Modern Endocrinology in Psychiatric Disorders" will be discussed by Cal State alumnus Jagat Nath Glassman, M.D., at 6 p.m., Monday, April 28 in the Eucalyptus Room of the Lower Commons. Dr. Glassman is associated with the University of California, San Diego and the Veterans Administration Medical Center there. A reception will be held at 5 p.m. prior to the lecture.

Faculty and staff are invited to bring family and friends for an afternoon of wholesome entertainment as the Theatre Festival for Young Audiences stages a variety of performances from noon to 6 p.m., tomorrow, and noon to 5 p.m., Sunday.

Scheduled weekend performers include The South Coast Repertory Theatre, Cal State Fullerton's Kaleidoscope Players, San Diego State University, Arizona State University and Cal State's Imagination Players. Admission is $3 per person; $8 family ticket and a group rate of $2 per person.
Charity Walkathon Centered At Commons

The Lower Commons will be the start and finish point for San Bernardino citizens participating in WalkAmerica, Sunday, April 27, to benefit the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation. More than 1500 area residents are expected to participate in the walkathon which will be concurrent with similar events in 1100 communities nationwide. Participants will stroll a 32 kilometer course which should take individuals five to seven hours to complete.

Cal State will assemble a group of individuals in the TeamWalk segment of the charity drive, said John Sharp (Activities). This will be the second year that clubs, employee groups and organizations have gathered with family and friends to form a team, he said. Last year, 14 participants raised $931 in pledges.

Registration will begin at 7 a.m. and the walkathon will commence at 8 a.m. KMEN Radio will broadcast live from the Commons during the event and other entertainment will be furnished by the jazz band "Full Moon" and a rhythm and blues group "Fresh Start." Sponsor sheets are available from Sharp in SS 106, Ext. 7407 and at the Student Union desk.

Cal State Site Of Health Fair Expo

Cal State will be among several Inland Empire locations for Health Fair Expo '86, which offers free health screening and information during the week of April 12-19. The service will be available here from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday, April 19 in the gymnasium.

Free services and screening include health histories for weight, height, blood pressure, anemia, vision and preventive counseling. For a $12 fee, individuals may take a blood test which provides a complete count and the results of 24 chemistries. Analysis will be conducted by a professional central diagnostic laboratory.

Sponsored by the American Red Cross, the Hospital Council of Southern California, Chevron U.S.A. and KNBC-TV, the Health Fair is part of wider Southland event involving more than 107 sites in San Bernardino, Riverside, Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura counties. Dr. Cynthia Paxton (Health Science) is the campus site advisor.

1986 Robot Olympics Gears Up April 25

Nearly 2000 students are expected to gather up their gizmos and compete in the third annual Robot Olympics between 10 a.m. and 3:30 p.m., Friday, April 25 in the gymnasium. The public is invited to attend this free event.

Designed for elementary through high school students from Riverside and San Bernardino counties, the contests will involve events such as robot figure tracing, robot dash, robot slalom and a robot biathlon. The goal of the competition is to foster robot awareness through education and develop robot literacy by providing students, educators and parents with exciting educational experiences utilizing the latest technology, said David Neighbours (Computer Center).

The increased awareness has led several schools to develop robot literacy programs, including Rialto Junior High, Phelan Elementary, Zimmerman Elementary in Bloomington and Clement Junior High in Redlands. "Robot literacy is still a new field, but educators are becoming more aware of its importance in the classroom," Neighbours said. "Educators do not want to neglect the technology of the future."

Enrollment for spring quarter continues to reflect growth at the university. At the end of the second day of registration, 6,046 students had enrolled, which is an increase of 11.14 percent compared with the same day in spring 1985, reports Registrar Jo Ann Von Wald. A final tally on the student body will be determined after the last day to drop classes, which is Friday, April 18, she said.

Early Registration Available To Employees Studying Here

Employees planning to take courses at Cal State next fall under the Employee Fee Waiver program may take advantage of the new Computer-Assisted Registration (CAR) procedure this month, said Carlos Marquez (Personnel).

Those who want to participate in the earliest phase of the advanced registration procedure from April 30-May 9 will need to have their fee waivers approved by that latter date, he said. In addition, employees must pay a $20 deposit with their registration materials. Upon completion of the CAR procedure, $17 will be refunded. However, if registration is not completed, the deposit will be forfeited, he advised.

Women’s Commission Formed On Campus

Thirteen women have been elected to represent faculty, staff, management, students and alumni on the new campus Commission on the Status of Women.

Members of the commission include: Karla Hallum (Education), Roberta Stathia-Ochoa (Administrative Fellow, Academic Programs) and Mary Williams (Social and Behavioral Sciences) representing staff; Dr. Martha Kazlo (Counseling Center), Dr. Loralee MacPike (English) and Dr. Lynda Warren (Psychology) representing faculty; Dr. Stella Clark (Humanities) and Jean Peacock (SAIL Program) representing management; Sandra Boyd Flannigan, Penni Overstreet and Betsy Snedaker, students; and alumni Lee Ann Overstreet and Sandy Weiser (Special Events).

The commission will sponsor programs of interest to women, monitor affirmative action efforts, recommend ways to broaden the participation of women in all facets of academic life, provide a forum for open discussion of issues relating to women and help create a campus atmosphere of equity for all students and employees. Meetings of the commission will be open to all members of the campus community.

Teaching Careers Focus Of April 22 Workshop

"So You Think You Want to Be a Teacher?" is the title of a student workshop which will be held from 3 to 5 p.m., Tuesday, April 22 in the Student Union Senate Chambers for people interested in teaching grades K-12.

Sponsored by the Career Planning and Placement Center, the workshop will feature a credentials analyst, elementary and secondary teachers, a career counselor and an educational placement advisor.
