Dr. Gannon Named CV Center Director

Dr. Catherine Gannon, who has seven years of experience in university-wide academic administration here, will be the first director of the Coachella Valley Center.

Her appointment to head the university's off-campus center, located at College of the Desert, will be effective July 15. Approximately 140 applications were received in the national search for the post.

Dr. Gannon, professor of English, came to Cal State in 1976 as associate dean of academic planning. As such, she supervised academic advisement of students by faculty, supervised the Evening Program, implemented academic regulations, authored reports and proposals, coordinated WASC accreditation reports and assisted in the development of the undergraduate curriculum. She returned to full-time teaching in 1983.

In the new position, she will be responsible for administration of the center, including scheduling of classes, contacts with the university campus and the College of the Desert, overseeing student services and academic support for students enrolled in classes at the center. Externally, she will maintain contact with community leaders in the Coachella Valley while publicizing the center and assessing future needs it might meet.

Dr. Gannon received her initial training in university administration as a Carnegie Foundation Administrative Fellow at the Claremont Colleges. Her other awards have included a Purdue University Research Grant, a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship and a Distinguished Teaching Award from UCLA. After completing her B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. in English at UCLA, she taught for five years at Purdue University. Earlier she taught in the Los Angeles City Schools and at UCLA.

A temporary administrative building is expected to be located on the College of the Desert campus by Sept. 1 to serve as the Cal State headquarters. Three more permanent-appearing, relocatable buildings will become the university's center about the first of winter quarter. The Office of the State Architect is now reviewing the request for the classroom space and calling for bids for the structures. The Sacramento office will approve the working drawings of the lowest bidder and issue a contract to proceed. In the interim, fall quarter classes will be offered in the new Palm Desert High School, located about five blocks from the COD campus.

Hinton Folk Concert Is Next Wednesday

A free summer concert featuring folksinger and humorist Sam Hinton will be presented at 7 p.m., Wednesday, July 16 on the Commons Plaza.

Hinton has performed at major American and Canadian folk festivals, and in Mexico, drawing upon his repertoire of more than 1000 tunes and utilizing a variety of instruments including guitar, banjo, harmonica, jews' harp and pennywhistle. He has more than 20 recordings to his credit. A former university professor, Hinton taught folklore, music, guitar, art, geography and biology throughout southern California from 1948 until his retirement in 1980. He still teaches in addition to his music.

Dr. Stathis-Ochoa
To Call Poly Position

Dr. Roberta Stathis-Ochoa, who has been a CSU administrative Fellow at Cal Poly, Pomona during the past year, has accepted a permanent position on that campus as a planner/analyst in the Office of Planning and Analytical Studies.

She will begin the new job Monday, July 14. During her fellowship, which concluded June 30, she had worked with the director of business operations and the university president. The experience gave her new opportunities in areas which she had not worked during her 10 years on the San Bernardino campus. Before the fellowship, she had been special programs coordinator in the Office of Academic Programs. Earlier she was an activities advisor and developed the High School-University Program. She earned her B.A. and M.A. here before going to the Claremont Graduate School for her Ph.D.
