CSU Official To Speak At Graduation

Dr. Herbert L. Carter, CSU executive vice chancellor, will be the speaker for the university's 22nd annual commencement Saturday, June 18.

Dr. Carter serves as the principal deputy to Chancellor W. Ann Reynolds in the governance of the 19-campus system. He is a member of the chancellor's Cabinet and serves as the focal point for guiding, coordinating and integrating policy formulation and program planning for the CSU.

He came to the Chancellor's Office in 1974 as affirmative action officer, after six years as executive director of the Los Angeles County Commission on Human Rights. His many honors include a distinguished service award from the City of Los Angeles.

Dr. Carter earned his B.A. in sociology from the University of Arkansas, did graduate work in sociology and education at Cal State, Los Angeles and earned his doctor of public administration degree from USC.

The graduation ceremony for the Class of 1988 will begin at 5:30 p.m. on the lawn between Pfau Library and the Physical Education Building. Approximately a thousand graduates are expected to take part in the ceremony, while nearly 12,000 family and friends watch.

Reception For Winter Graduates March 25

Seniors and graduate students who will complete their work at Cal State at the end of the winter quarter will be honored at a reception Friday, March 25.

Faculty, staff plus family and friends of the graduates are invited to the reception, which will be from 5 to 7 p.m. in the Student Union, said Joanna Roche (Alumni Affairs), coordinator of the event.

"Some of the winter graduates may not be able to return to campus for the June commencement exercises, so this becomes the time for their professors and friends to join in celebrating their accomplishments," she explained. Receptions for all graduates are hosted by the five schools prior to the June 18 graduation exercises.

The Alumni Office, Ext. 7811, requests replies by Wednesday, March 23 from people planning to attend.

Team Invited To National Workshop

Four faculty members from the School of Humanities have been selected to participate in the Lilly Endowment Workshop on the

Parking Changes Explained

Recent changes in campus parking regulations are causing confusion for employees and visitors, reports Harry Larsen (Parking Services).

In order to resolve some problems, he has prepared the following information:

Q. Who may park in 30-minute spaces?
A. They are open to all, but the time is closely monitored.

Q. Where do visitors park?
A. Visitors may park in the 30-minute spaces for that length of time or they may display a parking permit and park in any staff/student parking space in the lots across the front of the campus.

Q. Do visitors have to pay to park?

Liberal Arts June 18-July 2 at Colorado College.

The purpose of the workshop is to provide each team with an opportunity to explore a problem. The Cal State team selected student retention and plans to develop a school-based program to focus on the problem, explained Dr. Beverly Hendricks, school dean.

The team will include Dr. Belle Edson (Communication), Dr. Jacques Benzaikin (French), Dr. Harry Hellenbrand (English) and Dr. Hendricks.

Twenty-five institutions, including two other CSU and three UC campuses, have been invited to the workshop.
A. Yes, except for people on official, state-sponsored business, who may park for free. The California Administrative Code requires everyone else to pay. Daily parking permits are available at dispensers at the main entrance and at the Physical Education parking lot.

Q. Where do I get a permit for my sponsored guest?
A. From Parking Services, Ext. 7993.

Q. Can I get a permit for a vendor visiting my office?
A. Yes, departments hosting vendors (sales, repairs) may secure permits from Nadine Horenburg (Property Office), Ext. 7595.

"If you have a question, take a minute to call us at Ext. 7993," encourages Larsen. "Recent changes in state legislation on parking citations make it increasingly difficult to get a dismissal without a trip to court."

Visitor Here From Hong Kong

Grace Wo from Hong Kong, a government training officer, is on campus and in the area under a United Nations grant to study agencies and schools serving the handicapped.

During her five-day visit, which ends March 18, she visited the Glendale City Employment Training Program, employment training sites supported by the San Bernardino Association for Retired Citizens, the San Bernardino Unified School District early intervention and job training programs and the employment adjustment program in Hesperia.

Friday (today) she goes with Dr. Louise Burton (Education) to the conference of the California Association of Severely Handicapped Persons in Oakland.

Dr. Burton coordinated the southern California segment of her visit, with the assistance of Dr. Patricia Tefft Cousins, Dr. Joanne Eichinger and Tom Wojciechowski (all Education).

Volunteer Program Seeks Alumni Help

Ask not what your university can do for you, but instead, ask what you can do for your university, to paraphrase a well-known president.

If you happen to be an alumnus, Cal State has a volunteer program just for you.

Dr. Judith M. Rymer (University Relations) explained the goal of the program is to build a group of volunteers who will support the university in whatever capacity they can. "We want to bring as many alumni as we can into being actively involved with the university," Dr. Rymer explained. "We want to meet their needs as well as the university's."

One of those alumni is Rosemary Binney, who has been a volunteer in the Executive Dean's Office for almost two years. Dean Rymer describes Mrs. Binney's volunteer work as invaluable.

"We're fortunate to have someone like Rosemary in our office because she can do almost anything, and she will do almost anything," said Dr. Rymer.

Mrs. Binney has been involved with Cal State since she started as a student in 1967. "I guess I found it hard to leave," she said.

After receiving her B.A. in history in 1969 and an M.A. in education in 1975, Mrs. Binney worked as a tutor coordinator and reading specialist at Cal State until deciding to retire in 1986.

"I really wanted to continue working, but I also wanted to choose my hours," Mrs. Binney explained. When the opportunity for volunteer work arose, she said yes.

"It's really been fun. I've gone from teaching and tutoring to doing things I've never done before.

"There is a new challenge every day," she adds. "I'm learning all the time and I love it."

Mrs. Binney feels she's able to give a little back to the university that has been her home away from home for the past 21 years. "I've been here so long; it's hard to let go."

Women Invited To Conference

The Women's Council of the State University will hold its fifth conference and training institute April 21-23 at Cal Poly, Pomona.

"Crossing Boundaries: Working Together for Change in the CSU" is the topic for the conference. Workshops and sessions will discuss the interrelationship of the issues of race and ethnicity, class, status categories and academic hierarchies, boundaries between units and functions and legal and legislative barriers.

Speakers will include Dr. Jewell Plummer Cobb, president of Cal State, Fullerton; Dr. Lee Kirshner, CSU vice chancellor for academic affairs; Teresa Hughes, state assemblywoman; and faculty, administrators and students from various campuses.

The keynote address will be given by Riane Eisler, author of The Chalice and the Blade, on the topic "Leadership: the Partnership Future in the CSU." She will speak at the 5 p.m. opening dinner, April 21.

The Friday, April 22 program begins with registration at 7:30 a.m. and concludes with a concert, Women in Music, from 6 to 8 p.m.

The closing day includes a staff training institute running concurrently with the workshop.
Pre-registration deadline is April 12. Child care is available, but only with pre-registration. It is possible to register for one day or only for the keynote dinner or the staff training.

Further information on the workshop is available from Dr. Loralee MacPike (English).

Spring Break Follows Finals

An abbreviated spring break awaits faculty and staff following the end of winter quarter final exams.

Weekday classes end today (March 18), with finals given next Monday through Thursday.

The Library will switch to 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. hours Monday through Friday, with no weekend service, from March 25 through April 1. The Library will be open Saturday, April 2, because of Saturday classes, but will close Sunday, April 3.

The Commons will close after dinner on Thursday, March 24 and will reopen with breakfast on March 31. For employees remaining on campus during the break, the snack bar in the Student Union will be open from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., weekdays, March 25 through April 1. The Student Union will close at 4:30 p.m., March 28 through April 1.

2 Schools Move Into New Sites

After a six-months delay, the school offices for Education and Social and Behavioral Sciences have joined their colleagues in the Faculty Office Building.

Both school offices are situated in the single-story wing of the new building. Telephone numbers remain the same for Dean Emest Garcia and Dean Aubrey Bonnett.

The School of Education moved from the fifth floor of the Library and the Social and Behavioral Sciences office from the Administration Building.

The spaces they vacated are being filled with the relocation of other academic-administrative offices. The associate vice president for academic programs, Dr. Jerrold Pritchard, and the associate dean of graduate programs, Dr. Julius Kaplan, are moving into the quarters formerly occupied by the School of Social and Behavioral Sciences. Their phones will be connected next Monday or Tuesday.

The office for the Department of Information and Decision Sciences will move into AD 198, Dr. Pritchard's former office, with the phone connected by March 25.

The bulk of the space formerly used by the School of Education dean will revert to the Library and will be used for stacks. Some remodeling is underway to allow access to the Credentials Office and the Education Advising Center, which are remaining on the fifth floor of the Library but moving to different sites.

Retirement Interviews Set

University employees planning to retire should make appointments to meet with representatives of the Public Employees Retirement System, reminds Marjorie Callaghan (Personnel).

PERS interviews will be conducted May 5-6 at the Montclair City Hall; however, appointments must be received by April 7.

Priority for interviews is given to employees who plan to retire in the near future.

The campus Personnel Office has details on the information which employees should have available when they request an appointment.

Community Service

Dr. David Bellis (Public Administration) presented a research paper, "Are Heroin-Addicted Female Street Prostitutes Afraid of AIDS? Personal Interviews with 36 Subjects," at the annual conference of the Western Governmental Research Association in San Francisco. He also led a seminar for 100 minority student leaders on "Ways for Students to Impact the Governmental Legislative Process" at a conference sponsored by the Western Association of Educational Opportunity Personnel Feb. 18 in Anaheim. Dr. Bellis' article, "Inter-City Competition Over Auto Mall Development (Or, How to Steal Auto Dealers from Your Neighbors)," was published in the Journal of the San Francisco State University School of Business.

Pamela Dortch (Children's Center) participated in the in-service training for the Alvord School District March 8, discussing "Children in Crisis: Victims of Abuse."

A coaching clinic for youth soccer coaches was presented Feb. 27 by Dr. Jerry Freischlag, Dr. Cliff Singh, Laura Held and Carlos Juarez (all Physical Education). In the four-hour program, coaches learned about injury prevention, soccer skill development, practice organization and the psychology of coaching.

Dr. Catherine Gannon (Coachella Valley Center) spoke at breakfast meetings of two area groups. March 1 she talked to the Palms to Pines Rotary Club in Palm Desert about "Community College and University: an Educational Partnership." For the March 8 meeting of the La Quinta Soroptomists, she discussed "Women Helping Women through Education."

Inquiring minds asked. The answer is yes, Dr. Michael Grant (Education) landed a small role in the blockbuster film "Fatal Attraction." He currently is putting the finishing touches to a couple of songs aimed for a female vocalist.

Dr. Charles Hoffman (Psychology) spoke on "Awareness and Personal Growth" at the in-service program for the Alvord School District March 8.

Dr. Carolyn Neff (Music) has been guest clinician for three school bands: Yucaipa High School March 22, Nogales High School March 22 and Cope Junior High School in Redlands March 10. She was guest conductor-clinician at the Rialto Band Festival March 3.

Dr. J. C. Robinson (Academic Personnel) discussed "U.S.-Latin American Relations" at the March 14 dinner meeting of the Rialto Lions Club.

David Neighbours (Computer Center) spoke about "Computer Technology at CSUSB" at the Feb. 18 meeting of the Rotary Club of San Bernardino North.

Dr. Cynthia Paxton (Health Science and Human Ecology) spoke to 11th and 12th grade psychology students at Redlands High School March 16 on "AIDS: Facts and Fiction."

Dr. Nancy Rose (Economics) discussed "Why Women Earn Less than Men" at the March 12 luncheon meeting of the San Gorgonio Branch of the American Association of University Women.

Dr. Robert Senour (Audiovisual Services) gave a presentation on "Social Development and How Technology is Expanding It" for 11th and 12th grade psychology students at Redlands High School March 8. He also trained campus ROTC cadets to video tape the Odyssey of the Mind regional competition sponsored by the San Bernardino City Schools. Thirty-three teams participated in the regional competition.

Linda Stockham (Anthropology, Geography and Paralegal Studies) was one of two individuals selected from the university's student research competition to participate in the CSU Student Research Competition and conference at San Jose State University May 6-7. Linda’s presentation was based on her master’s thesis, "The Power of Death in Selected Societies: A Sociocultural Approach to the Interpretation of Humankind's Symbolic Coping with Mortality."

Dr. Mayo Toruno (Economics) discussed broad economic issues as the featured guest on an hour-long radio talk show broadcast by KCIN, Victorville March 15.

Dr. Jan-Hendrik A. Vroom (Marketing) spoke to the San Bernardino Business and Professional Women's Club March 15 on "International Customs and Habits of Countries."

Professor George A. Weiny (Physical Education) served as the meet coordinator for the NCAA Division II men's and women's swimming and diving national championships in Buffalo, NY March 9-12.
