Cal State Launches Partnership With Mexican University

A new international academic partnership between Cal State, San Bernardino and the National Autonomous University of Mexico (UNAM), signed here Oct. 26, will provide increased opportunities for faculty research and exchange.

Representing UNAM at the signing ceremony and in meetings with faculty and administrators were Associate Vice Rector Ignacio Sosa, Dean Ignacio Diaz Ruiz and Professor Eugenia Revueltas. The guests also visited classes during their three-day visit.

UNAM is the largest university in Mexico. Its library, with its multi-story mosaic wall, is one of the frequently photographed scenes in Mexico City.

Designed to strengthen scientific and cultural relations between the United States and Mexico, the formal agreement will facilitate faculty interaction, shared library and laboratory resources, and external grant funding, said Dr. Amer El-Ahraf (Academic Resources).

“We believe this academic cooperation will enhance the educational mission of both universities,” said Dr. El-Ahraf, who has been negotiating the agreement with UNAM for more than a year. “Since Cal State serves a region with a considerably larger population of Mexican heritage, this partnership will strengthen our educational service to the region.”

As part of the agreement, the universities will encourage their faculty to teach and to take sabbatical leaves for conducting research at the partner campuses and to apply for joint research grants.

Cal State becomes the first CSU campus to enter an agreement with UNAM, which has similar arrangements with the University of Chicago and UC Berkeley, Dr. El-Ahraf added. However, the partnership will facilitate UNAM’s interaction with other campuses in the CSU system, he said.

Cal State has had an academic partnership with Zagazig University in Egypt since 1984 and the university is negotiating with other Pacific Rim schools, such as Queensland University in Australia.

The international cooperation is encouraged by the California State University system and organizations such as the U.S. Agency for International Development, Dr. El-Ahraf explained.

“Universities are like companies—when they attract people from other countries, they are recognized as maturing institutions,” he said. •

Trustee Heine to Visit Here Nov. 17

The faculty trustee for the California State University, Dr. Lyman Heine, will make his first visit to the San Bernardino campus Thursday, Nov. 17.

Dr. Heine, who was appointed to a two-year term on the CSU Board of Trustees by Gov. Deukmejian in 1987, is professor of political science at Cal State, Fresno.

Faculty are invited to meet with the trustee from 2 to 3 p.m. in the Panorama Room, said Dr. John Craig, chair of the Faculty Senate. “This is an excellent opportunity for the campus community to learn more about broad issues of concern to the CSU. It is also Trustee Heine’s first visit here and a time for us to let him know of our special strengths and needs.” •
15 Receive Sabbaticals

Fifteen faculty members will receive sabbatical leaves for all or part of the 1989-90 academic year, Vice President Robert Detweiler announced.

One difference-in-pay leave was awarded. Faculty receiving sabbaticals and the work they propose to do are:

- Dr. Elliott R. Barkan (History), for full year, to do a book on citizenship and America's immigrants;
- Dr. Jill Buroker (Philosophy), winter and spring quarters, to continue work in Paris on the translation of "Port Royal Logic";
- Dr. Louise Burton (Education), fall quarter, to collect data in Japan on the relationship between the school curricula and the postschool success of disabled adults who had participated in special education programs as students;
- Dr. K. Michael Clarke (Public Administration), winter and spring quarters, to study public employee-management relations in California;
- Dr. Margaret Doane (English), winter quarter, to explore the effect of art on Robert Browning's and Willa Cather's characters;
- Dr. Richard Fehn (Biology), academic year, to continue research and advanced training in molecular biology;
- Dr. Catherine Gannon (English, Coachella Valley Center), spring quarter, to do further study in linguistics and teaching English as a second language;
- Dr. Marsha B. Liss (Psychology), winter and spring quarters, to work on two projects involving mediation, the resolving of disputes outside of the courtroom, in family law issues;
- Dr. Theodore McDowell (Geography), fall quarter, to photograph environmental conditions in Nepal as part of his ongoing research in water resources and Himalayan deforestation;
- Dr. Larry McFarter (Music), spring quarter, to write a composition for performance ensembles on campus;
- Dr. James Mulvihill (Geography), winter quarter, to study growth management policy-making in California;
- Dr. William Slout (Theatre Arts), spring quarter, to work on a manuscript, already in progress, "A Biographical Dictionary of the Early American Circus";
- Dr. Mayo C. Toruno (Economics), fall quarter, to complete his book, "Firms, Markets and the State";
- Dr. Paul Vicknair (Mathematics), fall and winter quarters, for research in pure mathematics; and
- Dr. Peter Williams (Mathematics), fall and winter quarters, to continue work on mathematical research begun at St. Andrew's University in 1987.

A difference-in-pay leave for the year has been approved for Dr. Stuart M. Persell (History), who will complete a book-length manuscript tentatively titled "Biology, Church, and State: Jean de Lanessan and the Formulation of a Republican Ideology in France, 1880-1914."

Limited Phone Service Starts For Modulairs

Temporary telephone service should begin today (Friday) for the 20 full-time faculty quartered in the new modular office building behind Pfau Library, reports Joyce Alta (Telecommunications).

Access to these offices will be through a central number located in the Telecommunications Office. There is no direct dial to these faculty in the temporary service. The number to be used is 887-1777 and all seven digits must be dialed, even from on-campus phones.

"Stressed Mrs. Alta.
The faculty will be able to call out on their phones."

The latest word from Don McKenzie (Budget Administration) indicates the cut-over date for the new telephone service, for the entire campus, is now Feb. 4.

Two Shows in Campus Galleries

A comprehensive exhibit of 96 pen-and-ink drawings by the late Howard Warshaw will open in the Art Gallery Thursday, Nov. 10.

At the same time, graphic designs by six alumni of the university will go on display in Gallery II, also in the Visual Arts Building. The entire campus community is invited to the reception opening both shows from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m., Nov. 10.

John Nava, professor of art on leave this year, will return to discuss the work of Warshaw, one of his former teachers. His talk will begin at 5 p.m. in the Gallery.

Alumni represented in the show in Gallery II are David Everett, Grace Fermier, Paul Gonzales, Craig Grinde, Jana Kuhn and Ann Van Der Linden.

Warshaw, hailed for his technical skills as a draftsman, illustrated a range of topics including sports and politics, humor and fantasy. Few of the drawings in the collection were intended for public display, Nava explained.

The traveling exhibit comes here from Sonoma State University. It will be up through Dec. 9. The show in Gallery II will close Nov. 23.
Laraine Turk Returns

When Laraine Turk received her assignment to the San Bernardino campus, as a CSU administrative fellow, it was like coming home. Ms. Turk’s first job following graduate school, in 1974, had been as the residence director in Serrano Village. As the first full-time residence director, she saw the housing complex grow from six houses occupied to having enough students to fill all eight buildings. After three years here, she moved on to increasingly responsible positions in student services at Cal State, Bakersfield and Cal Poly, Pomona. Now, 11 years later, she has returned as an “administrator in training,” as she describes the CSU fellowship program.

The systemwide program was created to give a year of training under senior-level mentors to individuals, especially women and minorities, who have some experience or demonstrated potential for leadership. Both administrators and faculty are eligible to apply for the highly competitive positions. Only 12 are funded each year in the system.

Ms. Turk, now director of college and school relations at Cal Poly, Pomona, was selected and assigned to the San Bernardino campus. Her primary mentor is Vice President Robert Detweiler.

Because her background and training thus far is in student services, Ms. Turk was eager for a fellowship in the academic side of a university.

Her career goal, she explained, is to be part of a movement toward professionals who can bring together the student affairs and academic affairs sides of a university.

Student retention and advising are the primary focus areas for this joint effort. One of Ms. Turk’s projects here will be to work with Dr. Beverly Hendricks, dean of the School of Humanities, and Dr. Craig Henderson, director of student services in that school, on their school-based outreach program. She also will work with Dr. Sidney Ribeau, dean of undergraduate studies, and Joel Nossoff, his assistant, on retention strategies.

Going from the intense, deadline-pressure environment of directing a college-school relations program to a more research, study-oriented fellowship has presented the biggest challenge for Ms. Turk.

“Go back to my job with a really helpful perspective of the total university,” she said. “At least in one area, perhaps, I may be able to create a program or contribute a kernel of thought for a productive endeavor.”

In addition to her hectic work responsibilities at Cal Poly—which include administering Project Assist, the Transfer Center and the National Student Exchange, in addition to the traditional outreach to high school students—Ms Turk is working on her Ph.D. in higher education administration at UCLA. She has completed course work and is at the dissertation stage.

A native Ohioan, Ms. Turk earned her B.A. in English from Heidelberg College in Tiffin, Ohio, and her M.Ed. in counseling from the University of Arizona. She admits to being an avid sports fan and her favorites, naturally, are the Cleveland Browns and the Cleveland Indians.

Her license plate—BS BAL FN (baseball fan) reflects her number one favorite sport.

Ms. Turk is the fourth administrative fellow assigned to this campus. Her predecessors were Barbara Cully from San Diego State in 1978-79, Dr. Herman Ellis from Chico, 1980-81 and Dr. Loralee MacPike, assigned to her home campus in 1983-84.

Four from the San Bernardino campus, two administrators and two faculty, have been chosen to participate in the program. Quentin Moses (Student Services), Dr. Roberta Stathis-Ochoa (formerly Academic Programs) and Dr. Sherrie Bartell (formerly Education) all were assigned to the neighboring Cal Poly campus. Dr. MacPike (English) remained on her home campus.
Fantasticks Produced by Theatre, Music

The longest running musical in theatre history, "The Fantasticks," will be presented by the Theatre Arts and Music Departments, with the opening Thursday, Nov. 10.

Two Sunday matinees (2 p.m., Nov. 13 and 20) join the traditional seven performances for this show. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. for Thursday-Saturday, Nov. 10-12 and Wednesday-Saturday, Nov. 16-19.

Tickets for all shows are on sale at the Theatre Arts Department office, Ext. 7452.

Dr. Amanda Sue Rudisill (Theatre Arts) directs the production, with Dr. Loren Filbeck (Music) serving as musical director.

The play follows the romance of Matt and Luisa, two young actors with a touring theatre group. Dr. Rudisill played the role of Luisa 25 years ago.

The lead roles in the campus production are filled by two music majors, Bev Brule of San Bernardino and Michael Fenn of Colton.

The Theatre Arts Department is entering its version of "The Fantasticks" in the American College Theatre Festival. More than 60 schools in the Southern California-Nevada region participate. Judges not only provide the cast with a critique of their work but also select a few entries for the regional festival, this year to be in Las Vegas. The winners chosen there perform at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C.

KSSB Resumes Broadcasting

The university's student-operated radio station, KSSB, resumed broadcasting Nov. 1 after a four-month hiatus.

The FM station, which broadcasts from 9 a.m. to midnight daily, is carried on Chambers Cable (Channel 12 and 107.5 FM) and Comcast Cablevision (Channel 3 and 106.3 FM). The two cable companies give the station a potential audience of more than 65,000 subscribers.

Now beginning its third year of operation, KSSB was assigned to the cable band because of the difficulty of obtaining a new, open radio frequency in Southern California, said Jon Peterson, faculty advisor from the Communication Department.

In addition to its current music programming, the station is planning a 20-minute news block and play-by-play coverage of the Coyote basketball games during the winter quarter.

Peterson hopes the station will be able to begin open-air broadcasting in the next three years.

Smoke-Free Day Planned, Adopt a Smoker

The Great American Smokeout, the American Cancer Society's annual plea for a smoke-free day, will be observed nationwide on Thursday, Nov. 17.

During that day smokers are encouraged to give up their cigarettes for just 24 hours.

The activity on campus is sponsored by the Student Health Advisory Committee, chaired by Dr. Sandra Cross (Health Science and Human Ecology).

"The Great American Smokeout is not designed to be a confrontation between smokers and nonsmokers. Instead, nonsmokers are encouraged to 'adopt' their friends who smoke and offer a day's worth of support and understanding," said Dr. Cross.

Pins, brochures and adoption papers are available from the Health Center or the Personnel Office. Further information is available from Dr. Cross, Ext. 7864; Dorinda Thurman (Health Center), Ext. 7641; or Marjorie Callaghan (Personnel), Ext. 7205.

News Briefs

Professor Reuben Hersh from the University of New Mexico will discuss "New Directions in the Philosophy of Mathematics," at 12:30 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 10 in the Sycamore Room of the Commons. Hersh is the co-author of The Mathematical Experience and Descartes' Dream, two widely acclaimed and popular books on the evolution of modern mathematics, said Dr. John Sarli (Mathematics).

The lecture is co-sponsored by the Math Department and the Intellectual Life and Visiting Scholars Committee and will appeal to a wide audience, he said.

Clarification to Oct. 7 item on $225,000 grant received to aid teachers of the disabled: Drs. Joanne Eichinger and Pat Tefft-Cousin (Education), associate directors of the project, will be involved in teacher training in the high desert, development of the in-service components, setting up the field work sites and dissemination of information relative to grant activities.
Faculty from the English Department and graduate students who tutor in the Writing Center presented a panel discussion at the fourth annual Pacific Coast Writing Centers Association conference Oct. 8 at Cal State, Long Beach.

Discussing "Tutors and Faculty: Collaborators in Tutoring" were faculty Diane Acevedo, Carol Haviland, Kellie Rayburn and Richard Sisk along with Gregory Gilbert, Ann Mahoney and Lori Weiny, graduate students who tutor in the Writing Center.

The University Faculty Duplicate Bridge Group is meeting again this year and invites interested faculty to join them, said Dr. Don C. Marshall and Dr. Eldon Lewis (Accounting and Finance), co-directors.

The group plays duplicate bridge, meets one Saturday night a month in the Commons and is not a "serious" group, they explained. The next sessions will be Nov. 5 and Dec. 3. Information is available from Dr. Marshall, Ext. 7826, or Dr. Lewis, Ext. 7840.

More than 400 high schools students and 100 judges and coaches, representing 32 high schools, participated in the fifth annual Coyote High School Speech and Debate Tournament Oct. 15-16 on campus. Sweepstakes winner this year was Bonanza High School from Las Vegas. The tournament was sponsored by the Communication Department, the university and the Coyote forensic team, coached by Dr. Belle Edson (Communication).

Warning! Do not park in front of trash dumpsters; violators will be cited without warning.

That's the message from Harry Larsen (Parking Services), who reports a growing problem of drivers blocking trash dumpsters. "This is a violation of campus parking regulations and cannot be tolerated," he said.

When trash collectors are unable to reach the dumpsters, they don't empty them until the next scheduled pickup. A full dumpster means custodians cannot empty the daily trash, Larsen said. "Full dumpsters also can cause litter, especially on windy days."

Warehall-Designed Award Given to Givenchy

Bill Warehall (Art) has designed a new award to be given annually to major figures in international art and design. He was selected for the honor by a jury of his peers on the CSU art faculties.

His creation, a glass pyramid using the pate de verre method, was given for the first time to Hubert de Givenchy, the French fashion designer.

The presentation was made Oct. 28 at the gala for the California Life Achievement Award for the Arts, held at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel as a benefit for the Foundation for the Los Angeles County High School for the Arts.

Community Service

Dr. Richard T. Ackley (National Security Studies) was appointed to Vice President Bush's 10-member "Defense Jobs Task Force" to assess the impact of defense procurement changes on aerospace jobs in California.

Dr. David Bellis (Public Administration) has been appointed to the San Bernardino County Public Health Department's AIDS Advisory Committee, which advises public health officials on AIDS prevention and treatment measures.

Dr. David Bellis (Public Administration) spoke to the California Association of Public Information Officials annual conference in Palm Springs about ethical and moral issues faced by government public information officers.

Dr. Craig Blurton (Education) received the Golden Disc Award for outstanding contributions to educational technology last month in San Jose. The award came from Computer Users in Education, a statewide organization.

Dr. Chuck Christie (Public Administration) served as a group facilitator on student drop-outs for the Danforth program for school board members, "Children at Risk," Oct. 13 in Ontario. He also described Cajon High School's Eye on Graduation Program for school board members Oct. 13 in San Bernardino.

Dr. Margaret Cooney (Education) spoke about "Issues and Trends in Career Development" for the San Bernardino Rotary Club Oct. 3. She also discussed ways to select an institution of higher learning for three "SCORE for College" classes Oct. 19.

Dr. Sandra Cross (Health Science and Human Ecology) presented an in-service, "Stress Management: A Step Toward Wellness," for the health services staff of the Chaffey Joint Union High School District Oct. 19 in Alta Loma.

Beverly Dyer (Foundation) has been appointed to the West San Bernardino County Water District Board by the Board of Supervisors. The district serves Rialto, Lytle Creek and Bloomington.

Dr. Belle Edson (Communication) presented a listening workshop to the St. Bernardine's Hospice organization Oct. 10. She discussed how to listen and respond to a terminally ill patient. Dr. Edson also presented a talk, "What's in a Name? Married Women and Their Name Choices," to the Zonta Club of Redlands Oct. 26. The talk is an outgrowth of her research on the same subject.

Dr. David Porter (Business and Public Administration) spoke to the Fontana Kiwanis Club Nov. 1 on “Business Developments in the Region.” He also spoke to General Dynamics employees Oct. 11 on “Smoke-Free Family”; was the featured speaker at the San Bernardino Community College District’s Oct. 1 meeting in Ontario, when he discussed “Growth in the Inland Empire”; spoke to the San Bernardino Real Estate Board Sept. 23 on “Cal State’s Role in the Area”; and served on a panel at the marketing conference Sept. 16 in San Bernardino. Dr. Porter discussed “Minnowbrook II: The State of Public Administration 20 Years Later” at the Oct. 20 meeting of the American Society for Public Administration, Inland Chapter. He gave the opening lecture in the Faculty Research Series Oct. 24 with a speech on “An Holistic Analysis of Multi-Institutional Implementation.”

Dr. Reg Price (Intercollegiate Athletics) spoke to 11th- and 12th-grade psychology classes at Redlands High School Oct. 27 on “Fat Ain’t Funny.”

Dr. Jerrold Pritchard (Academic Resources, Music) and Elizabeth Kirkpatrick performed for the Music Department’s recital hour at San Antonio College Oct. 20. Dr. Pritchard, on flute, was accompanied by Ms. Kirkpatrick, staff accompanist and part-time instructor here.

Johnnie Ann Ralph (Library) presented a workshop on “Researching San Bernardino at Cal State, the San Bernardino Historical Society and the Huntington Library” at the annual meeting of the San Bernardino County branch libraries Oct. 26.

Dr. Tom M. Rivera (Educational Support Services) chaired the committee that sponsored the “Alzheimer’s Disease Information Workshop for Hispanics” Oct. 29 at the Colton Civic Center. He was interviewed by KCAL and KDIF Oct. 24 to promote the workshop. Dr. Rivera also was selected as the “outstanding Kiwanian for 1987-88” by the Kiwanis Club of Greater San Bernardino at its annual installation banquet Sept. 29 at Norton AFB. Dr. Rivera also was honored by the Inland Empire National Hispanic Democrats for his contributions to the Latino community Oct. 21 at the recognition banquet in San Bernardino.

Dr. James D. Thomas (Political Science) spoke to the San Bernardino High 12 Club Sept. 30 on “America’s Three Constitutions.”

Congratulations to Barbara Munson (Physical Plant) and her husband, Mark, on the birth of their son, Michael Joseph, Oct. 20. The 7-pound 15-ounce baby has a sister, Michelle, 8.
